Marin Warmly Greets De Gaulle

By CHAPIN A. DAY

Two Marin County Brownies extended the friendship of Marin County to the president of France yesterday afternoon.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle accepted a bouquet of blue iris, white cineraria and red geraniums from the girls just before he stepped aboard the Coast Guard cutter Taney at the Army Corps of Engineers Dock in Sausalito.

Dara Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woods of Sausalito, made the presentation, assisted by Susan Haas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haas Jr. of Sausalito.

Both girls are members of Brownie Troop 158. They, their troop leader, Mrs. Richard Cruickshank, and scores of other children and adults had waited for more than an hour along the route de Gaulle would take to the dock.

Only the two girls got a closeup look at the French president, as his caravan of big black sedans whizzed down the Waldo Grade along Bridgeway to the Marinship entrance by the Engineers' dock, and out onto the dock itself.

For de Gaulle, the visit to Marin was part of a whirlwind schedule which started at noon yesterday at San Francisco Airport and ended at the same place early this afternoon, after a morning spent in a leisurely motor trip down the San Francisco Peninsula.

The Marin portion of de Gaulle's Bay Area visit yesterday officially began when a sheriff's car carrying Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and police chiefs of several cities swung into line ahead of the caravan as it sped through the toll gates of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Traffic across the bridge was stopped as the caravan sped across, circled the Vista Point area and went on down the Waldo Grade toward the waiting cutter.

After de Gaulle had been piped aboard the Taney, she swung out into Richardson Bay, followed by two Coast Guard

Union Men Find Marin Living Costs Too High

Nearly one-third of the labor union members employed in Marin County live outside the county; well over half of those living elsewhere spend very little or none of their money here, and nearly half of them have no intention of ever moving here.

They live, and spend their money, elsewhere because they believe costs are too high in Marin.

These facts were disclosed in a survey just completed by the Marin County Labor Council, results of which were announced today by Hugh Cassidy, the council's secretary-treasurer.

"For some years," said a Labor Council statement accompanying the tabulation of results, "organized labor in Marin County has been increasingly concerned that an ever-larger proportion of its membership resides outside the county and commutes into Marin County every day to work.

"As this is a problem which concerns not only the worker and his union, but other segments of the Marin County economy such as the merchant, the builder, the professions, to name a few, the Marin County Labor Council undertook to make a study of the subject."

What the council found tends to bear out an often-heard observation that "the executives live in Marin and commute to San Francisco; the workers live elsewhere and commute to Marin."

Members of seven unions were polled in making the survey. The three with the least out-of-county residents were Retail Clerks 1119, Laborers 291 and Bartenders and Culinary Workers 126, each with 20 per cent non-resident membership. Highest non-resident membership was 46 per cent in Plasterers and Cement Masons Local 355, followed by 41 per cent in Hospital and Institutional Workers 250. Carpenters Union Local 35 had 29.3 per cent non-resident members, and Machinists Lodge 238 had 29 per cent.

The average time that all these had worked in Marin while living elsewhere was five years, eight months.

Fifty-three per cent of them "would like to move or will move to Marin." Forty-one per cent said they definitely would

Novato Man Badly Hurt In Car Crash

A Radio Corp. of America executive was seriously injured today when his car went off a rural Marin road and crashed into a ravine.

Frank Geisel, 58, of 54 Grove lane, Novato, manager of the radio marine division of RCA at Inverness, was injured as he drove to work along Pt. Reyes Station-Petaluma road.

Geisel lay in the wreckage for more than an hour before an unidentified passing motorist summoned help.

California Highway Patrolman Richard Topham said the accident happened about 7:30 a.m., a mile south of Nicasio. Topham said the front seat of Geisel's two-door sedan had to be ripped away before the man could be moved to an ambulance.

Geisel's car left the road at a curve, crashed through a fence and stopped at the bottom of a 15-foot deep ravine, 150 feet from the road.

Mme. De Gaulle Visits Muir Woods Monument

Mme. Charles de Gaulle visited Muir Woods National Monument at 11 a.m. today in a party arranged by the State Department.

Lawson H. Brainerd, supervising ranger, said Mme. de Gaulle walked up as far as Cathedral Grove and was particularly interested in damage to trees by fire which had taken place many years ago.

Turkish Students Riot, Fight Police

Military Law Put In Effect

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — Student-led riots against the government broke out today in the major cities of Turkey and the government imposed martial law.

The riots began in Istanbul and spread swiftly to Ankara, the capital; to Izmir, the Aegean seaport city which is NATO area headquarters, and to Erzurum, in eastern Turkey, site of Ataturk University.

THREE KILLED

Three students were reported killed in Istanbul and scores wounded when police fired into their midst after tear gas, warning rifle volleys and charges by mounted policemen failed to break up the demonstrations.

The crowds retaliated by stoning police and several were reported injured, three seriously.

The rioting quickly spread to Ankara, and there were demands that Premier Adnan Menderes resign. He canceled a trip to the CENTO conference in Tehran because of the crisis.

FIGHTING SPREADS

The fighting in Istanbul started at Istanbul University and spread to Beyazit Square, where mounted police moved in on the students only to be met by cunning and more violence.

Many youths surged forward and poked lighted cigarettes into the horses' flanks, causing many animals to plunge and rear. Some horses bolted, throwing their police riders to the ground.

One of the mounted officers who fell after being hit by a stone was trampled by the mob and injured seriously.

WITHHOLD FIRE

The police were armed with pistols and tommyguns but eyewitnesses said they held their fire until the students began stoning and trampling them.

The demonstration started as a protest against new government laws giving unprecedented powers to parliamentary comittees. These laws give pro-government committees powers to investigate and arrest members of the opposition.

Many of the committees' powers were thought by the students to usurp the judiciary and the military.

BUS FIRE DIDN'T UNNERVE THEM — Edna Maguire School eighth graders emerged smiling after the engine of their school bus caught fire in the middle of the Golden Gate Bridge today. School Bus Fire Ends Students' Field Trip

A field trip ended abruptly for 57 eighth grade pupils of Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley today when the school bus in which they were riding caught fire in the middle of the Golden Gate Bridge.

When clouds of smoke started to curl up around the rear of the bus, driver Harold Kordik of 11 Meadow drive, Mill Valley, stopped the bus and "let the youngsters out as fast as they could go."

Kordik then raced back with a fire extinguisher to the end of the bus, opened the door to find flames reaching up from the engine, and doused the fire.

From that point on, the children's field trip, with their teacher Mrs. Barnette Robinson and six mothers, was a walk across the bridge to Vista Point. The bus was given a push by the Golden Gate Bridge crew truck.

A witness to the fire was Mme. Charles de Gaulle, wife of the president of France, who was heading north across the bridge to visit Muir Woods National Monument when the bus began to smoke.

The only injury, if it could be called that, was a "hot seat" for Thomas Carter of 6 Alvarado avenue, who had been sitting at the rear of the bus.

The two classes, according to Mrs. Robinson, were on their way to San Francisco, having left school at 9:30 a.m. to visit the history room of Wells Fargo Bank, the stock market and the Federal Reserve Bank.

Kordik said he was having trouble with the big yellow bus. At the bridge toll plaza, he decided to return to Mill Valley. The fire broke out about 10:25 a.m.

Supt. G. Robert McConnell sent another bus to the Vista Point area to take the students back.

The mothers on the trip were Mrs. Irvin Sutley Jr., Mrs. E. C. Reynolds, Mrs. J. E. Rutledge, Mrs. A. R. Carter, Mrs. Howard Aunapu and Mrs. Philip Heynan of Mill Valley.

The Sausalito Fire Department sent a truck to the scene but the fire had been put out when it arrived.

House Vote Passes Demo Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today passed a billion-dollar Democratic housing bill after defeating a Republican attempt to scuttle it with a civil rights amendment. The vote was 214 to 163.

The measure, which was sent to the Senate, is almost certain to be vetoed if it reaches the President because it would pump one billion dollars in mortgage money out of the Treasury to stimulate home building.

On the crucial test, northern and Southern democrats stood firm to defeat on a 235 to 139 roll call vote an 11th hour attempt by Republicans to attach a civil rights amendment. The amendment previously had been rejected earlier by a non-record 126 to 83 teller vote.

The rejected amendment would have barred racial discrimination among buyers of the estimated 70,000 new houses the bill would finance. Its adoption would have alienated Southern Democratic supporters, enabling Republican foes to defeat the bill on final passage.

The housing measure was assailed by conservatives as "fiscally irresponsible." Backers said the billion-dollar shot-in-the-arm for the housing industry was necessary to protect the economy against the possibility of an economic recession.

The vote was the third consecutive defeat for Republican foes of the measure.

Lawyers For Chessman To Visit Brown

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown agreed to see two of Caryl Chessman's attorneys today.

A. L. Wirin of the American Civil Liberties Union and Rosalie Asher, Sacramento attorney, were given an appointment to plead for the prisoner who is due to die in the gas chamber Monday.

Wirin told reporters he intends to ask Brown to seek clemency for Chessman through the state Supreme Court.

Brown said at his news conference this week that he believes to ask the court to reconsider its 4-3 decision against Chessman "would be an unwarranted executive attempt to exercise influence on the judiciary."

Brown said the meeting would be private and probably would be about 2 p.m., although no definite time had been fixed.

Beverly's Mother Must Stand Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mrs. Florence Aadland was ordered today to stand trial on five counts of contributing to the delinquency of her 17-year-old daughter, Beverly.

The 53-year-old platinum-haired divorcee must appear May 12 in superior court for arraignment on the charge. The misdemeanor counts each are punishable by up to a year in county jail. She is free on $1,050 bail.

FORECAST FOR NORTH STATE: FAIR, WARMER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fair and warmer is the outlook throughout tomorrow, at least, in Northern and Central California.

The skies should clear tonight, forecaster W. J. Denny said today, but there may be widely scattered snow fluries in the mountains tomorrow with some cloudiness on the north coast.

The trend, Denny said, is for lightly higher daytime temperature.

For Better Education

Foes Of Unification Organize For Fight

(This is the fourth of a series of articles on Marin County's school district setup and possibilities for revamping it.)

By DONALD G. DAVIS

"In view of the extreme unlikelihood of any possibility of tax savings, there is only one proper basis on which unification proposals should be considered: On the basis of whether they would improve, or hurt, the educational program."

These are the words of James Dorais of Greenbrae, formerly a member of the Lagunitas School District board and the county school district organization committee.

And he echoes the well-intentioned and well thoughtout views of many school-minded persons.

He calls the "monolithic nature of the (educational) system" the "one thing responsible" for the weaknesses of public schools.

Recently a nonprofit organization was formed to fight unification. It calls itself the California Small School Districts Assn., and is headed by Carlyle T. Benson of Angwin.

The organization claims that the law requiring master plans for unification by 1963 will destroy dozens of small school districts, and thus destroy a parent's control over the education of his children.

CSSDA claims the law makes it mandatory for a county "to study your school district and make proposals which will abolish it." The organization further asserts that another school district's voters can vote yours out of existence.

If no district among a number proposed for unification has a majority of the voters in the total area, then a simple majority of the vote for the area as a whole is all that is necessary to unify. However, if any district has more than half the total vote, unification must carry both in that district and in the rest of the area as a whole. It need not, however, carry in every one of the smaller districts. Thus, the smaller districts individ-

Votes In 2 States Give Nixon, Kennedy Boosts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's political stock climbed today on the strength of some Republican voting dividends in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

But a Democratic attack in Congress threatened to cancel out some of his rise in prestige as a result of being named as President Eisenhower's possible alternate at the approaching summit conference.

Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) moved up several notches on the Democratic presidential nomination board. Kennedy demonstrated by a write-in count of more than 175,000 votes that he is the favorite of rank and file party members who took the trouble to vote in Tuesday's Pennsylvania primary. Kennedy's total was nearly three-fourths of the write-ins for all Democratic candidates.

This showing could have a deep effect on the state's 81-vote convention delegation, headed by Gov. David L. Lawrence. Lawrence has been one of the holdouts in Kennedy's attempt to get his bandwagon rolling.

Unopposed on the GOP presidential preference ballot, Nixon rolled up a tremendous 944,000 vote count, which could surpass the 951,932 given President Eisenhower in 1956 when the count is completed.

Nixon went about as far as he could go toward making it certain that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York will not be the beneficiary of a draft movement at the convention. Rockefeller, who says he isn't an entry, got less than 11,000 write-in votes in second place, with returns still incomplete.

Where both were write-in beneficiaries in the Massachusetts balloting, Nixon was a 12 to 1 choice over Rockefeller.

Kennedy collected 95,914 write-ins, but the apathy registered when only about 6½ per cent of his home state's voters turned out was not lost on the politicians. In both states Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the party's choice, trailed far behind Kennedy.

For Nixon the news was not all as pleasant as that from Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

Fifty-five House Democrats and two of their Senate colleagues assailed as transparently political Eisenhower's designation of him as a possible stand-in if the President has to leave to take care of "domestic requirements" before the summit conference ends.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he might have to come home to direct personally studies on whether he should veto or approve important legislation passed by the Democratic Congress.

He said he had told the other heads of state he might have to ask Nixon to sit in for him for a few days, "but that doesn't mean I expect him to be there."

The House Democrats said in a statement that Eisenhower should explain "why during this election year he has suddenly decided to relinquish his job as President to the candidate he has endorsed as his successor."

"By this obvious and transparent partisan move, the Republican administration has subordinated the hopes of Americans and free men everywhere for peace in the political ambitions of Vice President Nixon," the House members said.

Solons Feel Clark Tied To Payola

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three House members said today they have little or no doubt that Dick Clark is involved in payola.

Clark, a network TV disc jockey, says he has not taken undercover payments or favors for promoting records.

A witness testified yesterday that Clark had received $31,575 for advising a record firm on what tunes would sell well. He also said Clark was allowed to buy a one-fourth interest in a Philadelphia record firm for $125—an interest he said Clark sold last year for about $15,000.

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Fla.), a member of the House subcommittee which is looking into broadcasting practices, said today "it appears Clark took a very profitable form of payola."

Clark, a favorite of many teen-agers is due to appear tomorrow before the House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee. But his name has come up often during two days of reopened hearings on undercover influences that may control the kind of music heard on the nation's airwaves.

T-Men Raid Bookie Joints In 50 Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — With stopwatch precision, U. S. Treasury agents invaded backroom bookie joints and numbers rooms in nearly 50 cities across the country yesterday.

Mopping up today, they counted at least 65 arrests. The figure may swell to 100.

The T-Men, after weeks and months of careful investigation, sprang their traps at more than 80 separate locations—backrooms of candy stores, taverns, private suburban homes, hotel rooms. In a few cases their quarry temporarily escaped the net.

The basis for the raids was this: Under federal law any gambler must purchase a $50 tax stamp from the government, even if gambling is illegal in his state. If he doesn't have the stamp, he faces a maximum five-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine.

Though they found some evidence of connections between widely separated gambling operations, officials said, there was no immediate proof that any were tied together in a nationwide crime syndicate.

Liberties Unit Holds Membership Drive

The first membership drive of the Marin chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union of Northern California was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Werthimer, Kentfield.

TEHRAN TALKS OPEN

U.S. Support Pledged To Middle East Allies

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter told members of the Central Treaty Organization today the United States will continue to give strong support to their alliance against Communism.

The United States sponsored the organization when it was was formed several years ago, but did not become a full member. It has separate alliances with several CENTO members, and Herter said America's indirect CENTO ties will continue in the interests of world peace.

He said President Eisenhower is going to next month's summit meeting in Paris as part of his "unswerving quest for peace."

The shah of Iran welcomed the ministers and declared that CENTO's three Moslem members—Iran, Pakistan and Turkey—stand solidly behind their Western allies.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain gave the CENTO members an outline of three Western objectives for the summit meeting.

"Firstly, a genuine and concrete beginning along the road to comprehensive disarmament under effective international control.

"Secondly, an agreement to suspend nuclear tests, also under international control.

"Thirdly, evidence by deed as well as word that the great powers are not going to interfere in the internal affairs of other countries by threats or pressures of any sort."

The three-day discussions with allies strung across the gap between West European NATO and the Far Eastern SEATO alliance were regarded as an important step for the United States and Britain before confronting Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Paris.

Although not a formal member of CENTO, the United States is aligned both militarily and economically with the alliance made up of Iran, Turkey, Pakistan and Britain. CENTO is an offshoot of the Baghdad Pact. The name was changed after Iraq withdrew.

The 24-member U. S. delegation is the largest here for the eighth session of the alliance's ministerial council. After the public opening, the talks through Saturday will be behind closed doors.

Bid Beats Estimate On Greenbrae Wye

The state Division of Highways today opened bids on the estimated million-dollar completion of the Greenbrae traffic interchange on Highway 101.

Announced in Sacramento as the low bidder was Peter Kiewit Sons Co. of San Francisco at $964,351. The construction will involve about seven tenths of a mile of highway interchange in the area where Corte Madera and Larkspur meet near the Greenbrae intersection.

Included in the project is removal of the old four-lane highway bridge over Corte Madera Creek, construction of new bridges over the creek which will serve as northbound off-ramp connections to Sir Francis Drake boulevard, and construction of other ramp and frontage road connections.

Also included is resurfacing of a short section of the freeway and completion of the reconstruction of Sir Francis Drake boulevard through the interchange area. Seven bids were received. Amounts of other bids were not announced.

Commented Marvin W. Brigham, Marin County public works director, "That's a good bid. It is lower than the estimate."

At the same time the California Highway Commission approved a $64,000 expenditure for a two-lane bridge and approaches at Miller Creek on Lucas Valley road.

The project is one of eight just approved on federal aid secondary county roads throughout the state.

Brigham said this is part of a realignment project of the road near the county farm and hospital. In reworking the road to the north, it crosses county property. He said plans for the bridge were drawn up by his department, and were approved last week by the state. He said the state would call for bids on the project.

Brigham added that federal funds also will be used to complete the realignment project. Federal funds are available, he said, because Lucas Valley road, which connects Highway 101 with San Geronimo-Nicasio road, is considered a farm-to-market road.

SPECIALISTS SEE DANGER IN SIMPLIFICATION

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some education specialists are afraid proposed simplification of teacher credentials will threaten their security.

School nurses, industrial education teachers and speech and hearing specialists testified before the Senate Committee on Education headed by Sen. Donald Grunsky (R-Watsonville).

The legislators are getting opinions from teachers and educators on a proposal to cut the types of teacher credentials from 39 to five.

Thomas B. Merson, chairman of the California Junior College Assn. Committee on Credential Revision, said reducing the number of credenial types might lead to over-simplification in teacher training.

Meeting Postponed

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission meeting scheduled last night was postponed to tonight at 7:30 because of lack of a quorum. It is to be held at the town hall.

Hearing Slated On Plan To Close Hamilton Flats

The San Francisco district of the Army Corps of Engineers today scheduled a meeting to hear both sides in the controversy over closing of a section of San Pablo Bay because it is near a small arms range at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The meeting was set for 1:30 p.m. May 12 in the wing conference room of the 78th Fighter Wing Headquarters, Building 433, at Hamilton.

In making the announcement, Lt. Col. V. K. Sanders, acting district engineer, said: "Local groups of sportsmen have expressed strong opposition to the proposal. To explore the possibility of effecting an equitable arrangement for joint use of the area, it is proposed to hold an informal meeting with representatives of the principal groups whose interest might be affected by this action."

Approximately 500 postcards and other written protests were received by the district. Among those protesting were the state Department of Fish and Game, state Division of Small Craft Harbors, state Land Commission, Marin Rod and Gun Club and Wildlife, Inc.

Earlier this month a compromise was attempted at a meeting between members of the rod and gun club and the Air Force, but no agreement was reached.

Marin Mayors Hear Talk On Bay Assn. Plan

Formation of a nine-county, 83-city association of Bay Area governments, the air defense of the North American Continent and charcoal broiled steaks were the highlights of last night's meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Novato, the county's youngest city, was host for the monthly meeting at which all of the county's 10 cities except Corte Madera and Belvedere were represented.

BERKELEY SESSION

Speaking on the formation of a proposed federation of the counties and cities in the Bay Area was San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis. He urged attendance of all the cities' representatives at a meeting in the Hotel Claremont in Berkeley next Thursday for further discussion of the federation.

The proposed government association, according to McInnis, would be a "clearing house" for solution of problems common to all Bay Area government bodies. Cost of the organization would be borne by all members on a percentage basis. The body would have no power other than being "a forum for initiation and investigation of new projects" affecting all the local governments, McInnis said.

DEFENSE TALK

Lt. Col. L. D. Horner of the Western Air Defense Force at Hamilton gave a talk, illustrated with slides, on North American air defense, showing the role of Hamilton Air Force Base in the national pattern.

Mayor Arthur W. Kanzee of Ross announced a meeting of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board selection committee had been set for May 9 at 10 a.m. in the chambers of the Marin County Board of Supervisors. Kanzee has represented the Marin cities on the board since November, 1955.

Sheriff To Talk At Bolinas Dinner Meet

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos will speak on "Vandalism in West Marin" at a potluck dinner meeting of the Bolinas Beach Improvement Club at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Mesa Clubhouse.

Frank A. Fuller, improvement club president, today reminded members that a "paint party" is scheduled May 7 at 1 p.m. and May 8 at 10 a.m. to paint the clubhouse.

Treasurer's Budget Passed By Board

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon delved into the lengthy Department of Public Works budget, then set it aside to give approval to the tax collector-treasurer budget.

It was a relatively quiet afternoon, with Supervisor William D. Fusselman sticking to a promise made in the morning that he would not vote on any increment of the proposed budget. His vow was taken after a squabble with Supervisor Vera Schultz.

The board will meet again at 9 a.m. tomorrow and continue budget deliberations Monday. The board may finish most of its preliminary skirmish with the budget sometime next week.

The document will then be revised into the final budget, and public hearings on it will be set. Final adoption will not come until late in the summer, after the assessment rolls have been equalized.

The proposed tax collector-treasurer budget of $109,928 was approved. This is an increase over the current fiscal year estimated expenditure of $102,002, and compares with $93,424 spent during the 1958-59 fiscal year.

M. F. (Frank) Donohue, tax collector-treasurer, asked in addition that at least one of his leading assistants be given salary range increase, but the supervisors sidestepped the request until they learn whether there are similar requests in other department budgets.

Most of the smaller segments of the Department of Public Works budget were approved, but consideration of the large road budget was postponed, probably until tomorrow.

Approved was a $115,821 budget for engineering services, an increase of approximately $1,000 above the current year's expenditures. Included is $15,000 for the Richardson Bay survey. Deleted was $267 for a camera and projector which had been budgeted but not recommended by County Administrator Donald A. Jensen. Jensen said the camera probably would have been used to make records of traffic. He said a projector could be borrowed from another department, and supervisors' chairman Walter R. Castro said a camera could be rented.

Marvin W. Brigham, director of the department, made no defense of the item.

Brigham said many requests come from various other departments during the year for engineering services, maintenance and other services performed by his department. He said he asked that they be placed in the budget so that they can be decided by the board, not by him.

Set up for the first time, and approved, was a county garage budget that pertains to all vehicles except those of the county fire department and some at the county hospital and farm.

This formerly was a revolving fund not requiring a budget except for capital outlay for new equipment. Jensen said the change is being adopted by all counties with county garages, and will allow comparisons among counties.

A proposed $282,014 budget was reduced to $280,214, reflecting the deletion of an automobile for the agricultural commissioner's office. But the supervisors indicated the item may be put back in later. Among new equipment will be a chipper, a machine that grinds up brush cleared from roadsides.

Also approved was a building maintenance division budget of $165,185, reduced from a proposed $181,865. Deleted was some money believed necessary for leasing activities, a $900 item for the removal of a plate glass window at the county garage and approximately $6,000 in changes and repairs at juvenile hall.

A building inspection division budget of $64,119, and a flood control division budget of $2,840 were approved.

Still to be considered in the works budget are those segments concerning parks and recreation, garbage disposal and roads.

The parks budget probably will not be considered until after the board has made an on-the-spot inspection of park projects with the county recreation commission. This trip tentatively has been set for the afternoon of May 9.

Man Denies Baby Was In His Care

Johnnie O. Howe, 29, of 922 B street, San Rafael, wanted to make it known today that he did not agree to care for a neighbor's infant baby boy, who has since been taken from his parents and placed in a receiving home.

Howe explained that the infant's mother, Mrs. Diana N. Fields, asked him to look after her eight-month-old son Monday morning, but he did not agree to do so.

Police later learned that the mother was gone all day, leaving the ill and bruised child on a makeshift bed consisting of an armchair pushed up against the wall. The infant was taken to a hospital for care, and later placed in a receiving home by the Marin County Welfare Department.

JUST GIVE 'EM A BANDWAGON TO JUMP ON

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Trampoline bouncing is not for big folks, members of the city council say.

"One good jump practically shook my teeth loose when I came down," Councilman Karl Rundberg said yesterday.

Council president John S. Gibson Jr. said the bouncing is "a shattering experience and not for a person my age."

Councilman James C. Corman: "I tried one and had a hard time even standing up."

San Rafael Planners Slate Special Meeting

Should a new subdivision of 20 homes be permitted to go up in the Dominican area of San Rafael?

This question will be taken up at a special public meeting of the San Rafael Planning Commission, set for 4:30 p.m. tomorrow at the planning office in the city hall annex. The planning office is located on Fifth avenue near B street, across the street from the Elks Club.

Merz Brothers wants to put in the 20 homes along Glen Park avenue between Myrtle avenue and Hacienda court. The area is zoned for single family dwellings.

The matter was on the agenda for the regular meeting Tuesday night but was withdrawn and placed on the agenda for tomorrow's special meeting.

Four other small subdivisions are also on the agenda for the special meeting.

John Mountz wants a two-lot subdivision on Lillian lane.

Mabel Murphy seeks three lots on West Crescent drive.

John Land wants to put in two homes on Sirard lane.

SHORELINE PLAYGROUND, 100 MILES LONG, SEEN

Park Chief Pictures Recreation Area Running Length Of Marin

The chief of the state Division of Beaches and Parks today pictured a "100-mile shoreline playland" which would reach the length of Marin County from the Golden Gate to the Sonoma coast.

Charles D. DeTurk foresaw such a development in a speech prepared for presentation to the American Shore and Beach Preservation today in Santa Monica.

He suggested that the state and federal government cooperate in the establishment of a 56,000 acre Pt. Reyes park and urged the government not to sell any of the military establishments flanking the Golden Gate to private operators for residential development.

In a series of proposal for "saving California's shrinking shoreline," DeTurk also said he:

1. Hopes to lease the 17½-mile-long beach at Camp Pendleton Marine Base near Oceanside for a public park.

2. Intends to fight Division of Highway plans to relocate Highway 101 along the beach at Pacific Palisades.

DeTurk said the California's seashore is "shrinking in beauty, in public access, in actual size. We hope we can reverse this trend in the near future."

Praising the scenic, recreational, historic and biological excellence of the Pt. Reyes area, DeTurk said he is "especially hopeful" it will become a national seashore area or reserve.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, he noted, has called for joint federal-state financing of the Pt. Reyes area on a 50-50 basis "with the area to be managed as a part of the state park system."

"We shall move ahead with this project as best we can within the financial limitations regretfully placed upon us," DeTurk assured his audience. "I say regretfully because time is not with us in the saving of these lands. We must buy within the decade ahead or lose them forever."

If both the Pt. Reyes project and the Golden Gate park project proceed and the holdings "can be combined with present holdings in that particular area, there would be no other park in the United States which could rival the area for beauty and true magnificence.

"From the Golden Gate, all the way around the hook to the Sonoma Coast, about 100 miles of shoreline will be a playland."

"We are hopeful, in this regard, that the federal government will pursue its intentions of assisting the coastal states in acquiring shoreline properties," DeTurk declared.

On the Golden Gate, he noted progress in state efforts to secure surplus federal lands for park purposes. But he said the federal government recently decided "that part of the Golden Gate property is too valuable for park land, and should be sold to the highest bidder."

"To me," he said, "it is inconceivable that in a state where the population is expanding at the tremendous 500,000 persons per year that a few feet of property, whose beauty and historic value is unmatched in the romantic history of California, should be considered too valuable for public use for a park."

Leasing the Camp Pendleton beach, he said, would provide a "popular and most enchanting park."

"It is an obvious and well-known fact that the Marines and Navy do not use very much of the coast line," he said. However, he said he couldn't assess the possibilities of a lease, since the idea is only "in the discussion stage."

His argument with the highway division over U.S. 101 is based on its plans to relocate the road around the palisades slide area. DeTurk says it should be on the bluff instead of closer to the beach.

The highway division says the beach route would be cheaper but DeTurk argued that "nothing is more valuable than our shoreline."

Hearing Slated On Synagogue Plans For Santa Venetia

The Marin County Planning Commission Monday will hold a public hearing on an application for a use permit by Congregation Rodef Sholom to build a synagogue at Santa Venetia.

The application also is for a social hall, office and Sunday school.

The synagogue would be located opposite the Santa Venetia Elementary School. Rabbi Morton Hoffman of San Rafael said architects for the building are just beginning to draw plans for construction on the three-acre site.

Youth Recreation Program Finishes

The youth physical fitness program, sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation and Park Department, has been completed for the year. The 26-week Saturday morning program was attended by an average of 200 grammar school age children each Saturday.

The program, designed to introduce children to a variety of sports, games and social activities, will be held again beginning in September.

The girls swimming and diving class scheduled for Saturday will not be held since the swimming pool will be used for a high school student body activity.

Dixie District Charts Program For Gifted

A broad program designed to "get out of teaching for the average" in the Dixie School District was laid down by the district trustees last night.

This program, recommended by Supt. Dennie B. Willis, represents what the trustees want to do with a total of $82,558 to be realized if the voters concur June 7 on raising the tax rate from $1.83 to $2.45 per $100 assessed valuation.

It presumes a continuation of the present level of valuation, which works out at $5,300 per child in the district.

Three categories contain the main proposed outlays as charted by the trustees: Teachers' salaries would rise by $28,500 primarily to provide for five more teachers of specialized function rather than to dilute the present setup of about 30 pupils per teacher, principals and supervision expenditures would rise by $9,540 primarily to provide a new curriculum supervisor; and the library would be strengthened by $14,053 spent for books and equipment.

Willis said today that the curriculum director and the extra teachers would provide new service in two fields, giving special advanced work for the more gifted pupils, and helping to increase achievement among those with ability but presently inadequate performance.

The trustees will meet with five groups of citizens at 8 p.m. next Monday at the Bernard Hoffman School to explain the program in detail.

Salaries of both Willis and his assistant were raised by the trustees, 10 resignations were received, tenure was granted to six, contract continuations were given to 51, and contracts were offered to six.

Willis' pay went up $1,000 to $12,500 a year and Joseph Goff, assistant superintendent, was raised $500 to $10,500.

Resignations due to departure from Marin or to family needs were accepted from Mrs. Ruth Giovanniello, school nurse, and the following teachers: Mrs. Shirley Waddell and Mrs. Dorothy Eastman, both with seventh and eighth grades at Vallecito School; Mrs. Virginia Mundt, second and third grade and Mrs. Frances Hughes, first grade, at Lucas Valley School; Mrs. Christine Fennie, second grade at Santa Margarita School; Mrs. Claire Auslen, fourth grade, Mrs. Constance Kelley, second grade, and Mrs. Barbara Comer, kindergarten, at Mary E. Silveira School; Mrs. Miriam Tardy, first grade at Bernard Hoffman School.

Tenure was granted to Donald Thieler, principal, Mrs. Gladys Black, fifth and sixth grades, and Mrs. Helen Dutt, kindergarten teacher, at Silveira School; Mrs. Marjorie Beyer, fourth grade at Santa Margarita School; Mrs. Alma Covey, fourth grade at the Hoffman School; and Mrs. Meredith Hartzell, eighth grade at the Vallecito School.

Contracts were offered to the following: Mrs. Suzanne Ernst, Peter Nelson and Elroy Munson, all to Vallecito School; Mrs. Celeste Fulton, and Harold Milam, to Santa Margarita School, and Elizabeth Schnizler, Silveira School.

Novato Area Growth To Be Discussed

Novato's growth problems will be reviewed by representatives of the area's five major districts at a Novato Chamber of Commerce membership dinner meeting tonight at the Novato High School cafeteria.

Chamber president Alfred W. Bowman will introduce the five speakers, who will report on expectations of growth for the next 20 years and a review of plans to meet the population increase.

The speakers will be Wayne Womack, the new city's first mayor; William J. J. Smith, Novato Unified School District superintendent; R. C. Briggs, Novato fire district commissioner; Al Tresch, manager of Novato Sanitary District, and Jerome B. Gilbert, manager and chief engineer of North Marin Water District.

Tickets for the 7 p.m. dinner have been mailed to all chamber members. The meeting is open to the public.

Nicaragua has had nine constitutions since 1838. The present constitution, in force since 1950, set up a system similar to the United States with legislative, executive and judicial branches. The legislature, unlike most in Central America, has an upper and lower house.

PRISONER UNDER THE INFLUENCE; WAS STUFF BOTTLED IN BONDS?

Guards found he was drunk, with a distinct smell of alcohol on his breath. This morning, prison officials still had not found the source of the convict's illegal glow.

Wall was taken to a detention cell, where he later slashed his wrists with a razor blade. He was reported in good condition today in the prison infirmary, although his wounds required 25 stitches.

Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff said the slashing probably resulted from "depression" after Wall was found "inebriated." He had been scheduled to go before the Adult Authority Monday as a first move to possible freedom. The appointment was canceled.

Wall entered the prison in 1955, having been sentenced in Orange County for writing fictitious checks. He was paroled in 1957 and re-entered the prison in May of last year as a parole violator after again writing worthless checks.

Brown Asks Study Of Space Use In State Buildings

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown, indicating the state may be wasting space, has called for a study of the use of space in all state buildings.

"It is evident that a more effective job can be done in space utilization in our state buildings," he said.

The governor asked John E. Carr, state finance director, to make a complete study and give him a progress report by July 1.

"I am much more interested in devoting our state financial resources to programs to benefit the people than I am in spending money on imposing edifices," Brown said.

He asked Carr to include both present and future buildings.

Saving-Loan Assn. Has New Owner

Lawrence Weissberg has purchased the Sausalito Savings and Loan Assn. at 675 Bridgeway from the former stockholders.

Weissberg, who lives in San Francisco, is president of the Lodi Savings and Loan Assn. The offer to buy was made about one month ago and the deal was completed Tuesday.

Walter J. Swenson, executive vice president and manager of the association, said Weissberg has informed him that he intends to keep the present staff as well as some of the former directors.

CRUCIAL CHURCH TEST

Racial Issue May Split Methodists

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A racially partitioned church structure, which enabled Northern and Southern Methodists to unite 20 years ago, today loomed as a possible wedge that could drive them apart again.

This was the crucial issue faced by the nation's largest Protestant denomination, as the quadriennial Methodist General Conference went into its first session on the matter.

On the eve of the test, bishops of the Church said last night that the outcome will have a greater effect than any other conference decision on the present and future strength of Methodism "in America and beyond."

Up for consideration was a complex, explosive report on racial policy, drawn up by a 70-member commission in a four-year, $200,000 study that involved public hearings in 24 cities across the country.

It recommends continuance of a separate administrative jurisdiction for Negroes, arguing that this gives them the strongest voice in top echelons of the church. But the system is keenly opposed by some Northerners as a "symbol of segregation."

On the other hand, the report also proposed linking jurisdictional affairs, both white and Negro, more closely with the over-all church government. This feature is strongly protested by some Southerners as an invasion of regional autonomy.

Mill Valley School Board Meet Slated

The Mill Valley School District board will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the district office to discuss an analysis of a 1959 public opinion poll by Donald Kase.

The poll was made by the Mill Valley Advisory Educational Council.

Supt. G. Robert McConnell said, time permitting, the board will also discuss a report on community relations prepared by the Mill Valley Council of Parent-Teacher Assn.

Marked Marin Scenic Route Is Proposed

Members of the Marin Visitors Bureau, meeting in San Rafael last night, devoted their attention to three proposals:

1. A "Dollars for Drake" fund drive to raise $15,000 to $20,000 for a bronze statue of the explorer, commemorating his visit to Marin nearly 400 years ago;

2. A $12,000 per year publicity and advertising campaign suggested by Walter J. Brown, San Francisco publicist who lives in Ross, and,

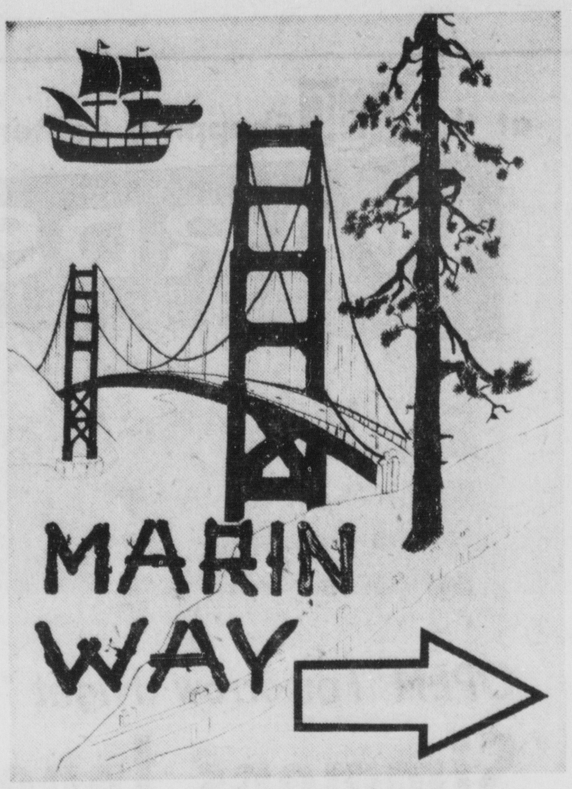
3. A plea by Col. Ross F. Black, 6th Army intelligence officer who resides in Terra Linda, for establishing a "Marin way" scenic drive touring points of interest to visitors in the county, with signs designating the route and each of the points of interest.

Colonel Black is serving on the arrangements committee for the Reserve Officers Assn. state convention scheduled to start tomorrow at Bermuda Palms. He pointed out that Marin County has an abundance of scenic and historic points of interest but that they need to be designated with appropriate markers, and that a marked auto route needs to be established for visitors to find the things they want to see here.

Brown addressed the group at length to explain his proposal for conducting a year-around publicity and advertising campaign aimed at attracting more visitors to Marin.

Mrs. Esther Dearth, chairman of the Visitors Bureau, and Pat Dailey, representing Marin County Labor Council, both read letters each had received from Rep. Clement W. Miller, voicing his support for the Drake statue proposal, but expressing doubts that federal financial aid would be forthcoming.

Bureau members will meet again May 25 to decide definitely on a time table for the "Dollars for Drake" fund drive and to reach a decision on the proposals



MARIN SCENIC DRIVE—Members of the Marin Visitors Bureau were urged last night to develop a scenic drive over the county to take visiting tourists to points of interest. Col. Ross F. Black, 6th Army intelligence officer who lives in Terra Linda, suggested the project and brought with him this sketch of a proposed sign for the route. He said points of scenic and historic interest should also be designated with descriptive signs.

KTIM Marks 13th Year, To Move Tower

Marin's radio station KTIM observed its 13th birthday today. And manager Hugh Turner flaunted superstition as he announced that the station's transmitter will be moved on Friday, May 13th.

A telegram from the Federal Communications Commission in Washington confirmed approval of the move of the tower from College of Marin property in Kentfield to the Smith Ranch.

Turner said the move had been requested in an effort to follow the center of population in Marin. He noted that the new locatior. will improve the entire coverage pattern

'Sounding Board' Panel Swamped By Questions

A flood of questions on the proposed fluoridation of Marin Municipal Water District water forced Kitty Oppenheimer, moderator of radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" panel discussion, to close the questions" at the start of the program today.

But after preliminary statements pro and con; the four panelists managed to deal with 15 questions during their remaining half-hour. These ranged from the nature of sodium fluoride to its effect on rats and people.

Marin County's water is naturally fluoridated "but not enough to do the job" of protecting youngsters' teeth," said Mrs. Merril Hanson of the Children's Health Dental Committee in leading off for the two proponents.

She said "the right amount" of fluoridation can decrease tooth decay by two-thirds, a finding she declared to be supported by specialists. Water is a natural medium for fluoride, Mrs. Hanson said, and fluoridation is done most easily through this means.

Explaining that he appeared as an individual doctor rather than as county medical officer, Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy Jr. said "the fluoride to be used is a product which is impure" and "has been known to cause demineralization of the bones in the older age group, with resultant brittleness."

Dr. Dufficy said sodium fluorides are listed as poison, that there is evidence they interfere with enzyme balance and body metbolism, and that embroys have been destroyed by fluorides in experimental animals.

He expressed opposition to being "stampeded into a mass medication program."

Dr. Helen E. MacDonald, former head of the science department of William Woods College, a junior college in Fulton, Mo., declared that "fluoridation violates the fundamental human right to determine what should be done to one's body."

Promoters of fluoridation have imposed "a fluoride curtain" between citizens and the truth," she said, charging "attempts to mislead the public which are not accidental."

Dr. MacDonald declared, "With unfailing certainty, fluoridated water will produce a crop of permanently mottled teeth in every new generation," but said substantiation of benefit claims is lacking.

Forty million people are now drinking fluoridated water with "no evidence of health impairment," said Dr. Michael Franzblau of Terra Linda, and such authorities as the dental and medical societies of Marin County have endorsed its dental benefits.

The local proposal, he said, is simply to increase an already existing percentage of fluoride in Marin water from one-tenth part per million to "the level recommended by the U.S. Public Health Servcice of one part per million."

On the point of personal liberty, Dr. Franzblau said that the U.S. Supreme Court has repeatedly ruled that fluoridation of water supply does not comprise an infringement.

To a questioner who had asked whether sodium fluorides were a "nutrient," Dr. Dufficy responded that they represent "a contaminent, not a neutrient," and Mrs. Hanson said there is no difference between natural and artificial fluoridation.

On cost of fluoridation, Dr. Franzblau quoted Marin Municipal Water District figures estimating 18 cents per individual per year.

Dr. MacDonald suggested the effort is "to get control of the water supply for possible other medication in future."

A tape recorded rebroadcast will be made at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Chamber Gets New Manager In Mill Valley

Granville L. Beedle has been appointed secretary-manager of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce to succeed John E. McSweeney. The appointment will become effective Sunday.

Beedle was named to the position by Don Chapman, president of the chamber, at yesterday's meeting.

McSweeney, Mill Valley postmaster, asked to be relieved of his duties in May and said he will remain as a director. He was secretary to the board for seven years.

Beedle will put in regular office hours on the job, McSweeney said, something of an expansion in the chamber's activities. The chamber plans to try to obtain an office in a part of the Greyhound bus station building, he said.

Beedle, who lives at 25 Renz road, has been active in chamber work in Mill Valley and has had experience in chambers in Sacramento and Los Angeles before coming to Marin.

He is semi-retired, he said. He came to Mill Valley the first time in 1922 and stayed two years. He returned in 1940 and has lived here since that time.

He worked on two weekly newspapers in Mill Valley. During World War II he worked in government offices in San Francisco. While living in Sacramento he was office manager for an automobile company, then wholesale representative, and finally an automobile salesman for several years.

Meeting Canceled

San Rafael Recreation and Park Commission did not meet last night because of a quorum lack. Three out of five commission members could not be present.

Drunk Drivers Get Fines, Probation

Three drunken drivers were fined $150 each and put on six months probation by Judge Leonard A. Thomas in Marin Municipal Court on Tuesday.

James P. Bussey, 54, San Francisco postal worker, was caught on Highway 101 near the Waldo tunnel Monday.

Richard Weir Gledhill, 53, salesman living at 63 Meadow road, Mill Valley, was arrested on Bridgeway in Sausalito on April 17.

Harold Ray Scott, 38, of Thornton, San Joaquin County, was caught in San Rafael at Fourth and B streets last Oct. 23. Scott formerly lived in Sausalito.

Alumni Of Academy Plan Organization

Alumni of San Rafael Military Academy will gather on Sunday at 11 a.m. at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera to form an alumni association.

A "brunch" with the wives and families of the alumni will precede the organizational meeting. Selection of officers and adoption of bylaws will be the principal business of the meeting. Alumni dating to the class of 1906 are expected. Reservations may still be made by calling the academy.

First pulpwood for a newspaper mill in Catawba, S.C., was bought from nearby Neely's Creek Presbyterian Church. Members of the church harvested the pulpwood in order to enlarge their cemetery.

Delinquency Termed Society's Scapegoat

One of the reasons we have delinquency is that society needs a scapegoat—a group of persons that by comparison helps us maintain a sense of purity.

This was the view expressed last night in a talk before the Marin County Committee on the Prevention of Crime and Delinquency by Dr. Ely M. Bowen of the state Department of Education, Sacramento.

Dr. Bowen, who coordinated a recent department research project in the sphere of early detection of emotionally disturbed children, cautioned his listeners that the views expressed were only his own. He said he hoped that if they were considered controversial, at least they would be stimulating.

According to William Berzman, psychologist for the Kentfield and San Anselmo school districts, who was chairman of the meeting, more than 30 members of the committee were present.

Berzman said Dr. Bowen told a story of a sanity test in a Scandinavian city in which a person is led into a room where water is pouring from a tap into a bucket. The person is given a ladle and instructed to empty the bucket with it. A sane person, Dr. Bowen said, would turn off the faucet first.

He likened this to society's treatment of the delinquency problem. He said, "We are bailing out the bucket without turning off the faucet."

Among reasons for this, he said, is our "unconscious attitude toward the problem." He said people need something with which to compare themselves favorably.

Along this same line of reasoning, he said, it is his feeling that newspaper stories appealing to the greatest number are those that point out failure and defeat.

Dr. Bowen said that children of low academic achievement are the "ones we are always talking of helping, but we never get around to it." This again, he said, gives people satisfaction in that they have something to compare themselves with favorably.

He talked of preventing delinquency at three levels. While it is difficult to define delinquency because it differs only from the accepted standard of behavior, there are steps that can be taken to detect and curb it, he said.

In the first stage, something must be done to shut off the tap, perhaps in slum clearance and bettering the life of the lower socio-economic group. He likened this to the prevention of polio through immunization.

At a second level, psychiatrists could be used to help teachers who have problem children in their classes.

At a third level, organizations such as welfare and family service agencies could be used to help iron out problems.

Some Still Undecided On Question Of Unification

Actually, the districts are not voted out of existence. There are simply unified. And if the state Legislature wanted to, it could do the same thing, by simply passing a law and never taking the issue to the people.

In order to preserve more local, and therefore more democratic control, the CSSDA says, "Everyone's effort is urgently needed for the basic job improving education in the community." This will take money, time and concern, the CSSDA warns, and adds, "The welfare of our children demands that we keep these responsibilities in our own hands."

The organization calls for cooperative planning "which includes the community, "not master planning with "ignores the community."

It promises to make the concern of its members known to the state Legislature and ask for legislation "to restore the local control abolished by" the law requiring a master plan. Also the organization says it will provide for its development in various counties, and cooperate with other organizations and agencies "to the extent that they also are interested in helping your local community to help itself."

Dorais says, "The CSSDA against the state Department of Education is awfully short on weight, but who knows—David made it against Goliath."

Not everyone questioned in an Independent-Journal survey is ready to say "yes" or "no" on unification. Here are some comments:

Erwin Farley, Reed district trustee: "If suitable areas are unified, improved educational programs could be provided at no increase in taxes. Increased articulation between educational levels would probably result, too . . . We should not rush into unification and then wind up with too large an ultimate unified district to be practical or necessary."

Anthony Matulich, Tomales High School superintendent and principal: "Unification in general provides the possibilities of advantages to the youngsters . . . (but) without a study of a specific area or district" there could be no decision.

J. R. Cunningham, president of the Larkspur School District board: "As brought out by the county committee on unification last year, this subject is very complex in a widely diversified area such as Marin. I have come to no definite decision."

Many representatives of small school districts favor unification, and have called for studies. One is now under way again for West Marin. Others are against unification, and Mrs. Lois Parks, clerk of the Tomales Elementary School Board, speaks for them, saying, "I feel it is much better for the rural areas to have their own governing boards who understand local problems."

CHAT WITH ROYALTY — Caryl Chessman, scheduled to die in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber Monday, shakes hands with Princess Marie of Greece after she visited with him at the prison yesterday. She is the 78-year-old widow of Prince George of Greece, and the aunt of Philip, prince consort to Queen Elizabeth of England.

Celebrities See Selves Make History

NEW YORK (AP)—"There is more of who's who here tonight than has ever been put together in one place."

The comment came from veteran newsman H. V. Kaltenborn as he surveyed a glittering array of the nation's great, gathered at the Waldorf-Astoria last night for a unique dinner program. They saw the history they themselves made re-created on closed circuit television.

From Dust Bowl to mushroom atomic cloud, from Ethiopia to Korea, the events of the past 25 years were dramatized on a 20-by-15-foot television screen, with accompanying narrative, sound effects and music.

Cabinet members, labor leaders, industrialists, scientists, New Deal officials, Republicans, Democrats were all among the 50 honored guests.

Each received a "Living History of America" award from the Research Institute of America, the sponsoring organization. The institute, a private, industry-supported business advisory organization, is celebrating its own 25th anniversary.

Some 1,500 other guests applauded the celebrities as the television screen and narration showed how each had made history. The photographs were selected from among hundreds of pictures in the files of Life Magazine and the Associated Press.

HER HABIT IS A LITTLE HARD ON BABY BROTHER

SEATTLE (UPI) — Two and one-half year-old Vicky Sullivan has had a habit of throwing things out the window of her parent's second story apartment. Yesterday she pushed her 18-month-old brother out.

The little boy, Richard Hudson, was saved from possible death or serious injury by two passersby, Richard Taylor and David Fitzgerald, Seattle public schools administrative employees.

The men were walking along the street by the apartment building when they heard Richard crying. Looking across the street they saw him about to fall from the second-story window ledge. They rushed across just in time to catch him in mid-air.

Mrs. Ervin Sullivan, 20, the mother, said she wasn't aware what actually had happened until two nervous men appeared at her door with Richard in one of the men's arms.

Vicky had informed her mother, who was in another room at the time, that she had "pushed Ricky out the window."

Klansman Burn Crosses, Demonstrate In Georgia

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Ku Klux Klansmen burned crosses and staged demonstrations in Georgia last night, and a Mississippi Negro leader said he had received "innumerable threats" by mail and telephone.

A group of 15 klansmen burned a 12-foot cross on a vacant lot near the Negro section of Waynesboro, Ga. About 50 klansmen marched in a residential area of Macon, Ga., to protest rental of an apartment building to Negroes.

At Biloxi, Miss., where an effort last Sunday by 100 Negroes to use the segregated public beach touched off two days of scattered fighting, the Negro doctor who led the attempt said his life has been threatened.

Dr. Gilbert Mason said the threats "reinforced" his intent to continue efforts to integrate the beach area.

Rumors that Negroes may attempt again to swim at the beach this coming weekend led the state legislature yesterday to pass a stiff anti-riot bill.

Bank Contest Won By Kentfield Girl

'Save Chessman' Pleas Pouring In To Brown

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Nearly 200 letters and telegrams concerning Caryl Chessman were received today by Gov. Edmund G. Brown—although the California governor says he is powerless to act again on behalf of the condemned convict-author.

Chessman, 38, is scheduled to die Monday morning in the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison. It is his ninth date with death since he was convicted as the Los Angeles "red light bandit" in 1948.

The governor granted Chessman his eighth reprieve on Feb. 19, just hours before the convicted robber-kidnaper was scheduled to go to his death.

Since then, however, the state Legislature has defeated a move by Brown to have capital punishment abolished in California. Brown says the state Constitution makes it impossible for him to take further action in the Chessman case.

But the letters and telegrams continue to pour into the governor's Sacramento office, where they are handled by Clemency Secretary Cecil Poole.

The overwhelming majority of letters favored clemency for the convict-author who wrote four books in 12 years behind bars.

However, the number of letters has not reached the volume achieved in February. Upward of 1,000 letters and telegrams a day were received then during the final week before Chessman's scheduled execution date in February.

During the past two days, Poole's office counted 438 communications favoring clemency and only 17 against clemency. Of the total, 154 were from foreign nations.

A wire from Uruguay said simply that "the Chamber of Deputies of the East Republic repeat a hope that the death penalty will not be applied."

From New Zealand came a telegram stating that the nation's Labor Party is opposed to capital punishment and would consider the death of Chessman "inhuman."

A Luxembourg woman assured Brown that if he let Chessman live "you will be happy"—but that if Chessman died "you will be sorry one day."

A warning of the adverse effect of Chessman's execution on world relations also was sounded by the Brazil Medical Assn. which said "his death would be a new torpedoing of international relations already so injured . . ."

Hundreds of printed forms came from Mexico. On those the person was to cross out four of five alternatives from the gas chamber to complete liberty for Chessman.

Royal Visitor Impressed By Chessman

Caryl Chessman, under sentence to die Monday, had a visit yesterday with a member of a royal house of Europe.

She is Princess Marie, 78, widow of Prince George of Greece and aunt of Philip, prince consort to Queen Elizabeth of England.

"He is natural, clever, calm—even in Death Row—and he is courageous," Princess Marie told reporters. "I always like courageous people."

Chessman, 38, has been on San Quentin Prison's condemned row almost 12 years, under death sentence for kidnapping with bodily harm and forcing women into unnatural sex acts.

"I told Mr. Chessman for a man to be on Death Row for 12 years, that was enough," Princess Marie said. "If he is executed May 2, there will be an outcry in the whole world—in Europe, in South America—everywhere.

"He was very calm," said the princess, a practicing psychoanalyst and a writer. "I asked him about his dreams. He said he had very little time to dream. He sleeps only five hours, and he sleeps very well.

"He is not the same man who was condemned in 1948. He has changed very much to the good. He is polite, intelligent, and he is not arrogant."

One pair of house mice has about 60 young per year.

Brown Signs Education Master Plan Into Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has signed into law the master plan for higher education, which was drawn up to handle mushrooming enrollments in the next 10 years.

The governor said the master plan was "the most significant step California has ever taken in planning for the education of our youth."

HAFB Helicopters On Alert To Aid Search

Three Hamilton Air Force Base helicopters were standing by today, ready to join an air and sea search for an Air Force radar operator who parachuted from his F101 Voodoo jet into the Pacific Ocean last night.

The plane, on a training mission out of Kingsley Air Force Base at Klamath, Del Norte County, was 50 miles from the coast at an altitude of 35,000 feet when it apparently lost its canopy, a Fourth Air Force spokesman said. The radar observer, whose name was not divulged, left the plane with the canopy.

No reason was given for the loss of the canopy, nor was it determined whether the passenger in the two-seater jet parachuted deliberately or was automatically ejected, the spokesman said.

The pilot, Capt. Coleman J. Baker of the 322nd Fighter Inteceptor Sqdn., returned the plane to his Kingsley base. He was under treatment for shock at the base hospital and was unable to give an account of the incident.

Searching the area for the missing man are two SA16 rescue planes from Portland, Ore.; two SA16's from Long Beach, two F101 jets and two F104 jets from Kingsley AFB and vessels from the 12th Naval district.

Latest reports from the searchers indicated visibility of nine miles, but with waves at least eight feet high.

UNIONS

not move to Marin, they told their union officers. Six per per cent gave no indication.

Questionnaires were mailed to all the non-resident members of the seven unions. Seventeen per cent filled out and returned the questionnaires.

These spend an average of $32.35 per month commuting to work in Marin. But 41 per cent of them would rather keep on paying this commute cost than move here. Forty-four per cent of them own or are buying homes elsewhere, but only 19 per cent gave "permanent home elsewhere" as the reason for not moving to where they work.

They won't move to Marin, they said, because:

Rents, home prices and taxes are too high (50 per cent); food and other costs of living are too high (7½ per cent); schools are not near enough or are inadequate (3 per cent).

Six per cent live in mobile homes and reported inadequate facilities for such homes in Marin. Only one and one-half per cent were minority race members reporting they were refused homes here by real estate agents.

An identical percentage gave high interest cost of new home financing as a reason for staying put, difficulty of transportation to and from work within Marin, no low-cost housing for semi-retired workers, and "better weather elsewhere."

"These figures," commented Cassidy for the Labor Council, "seem to bear out a feeling that has been growing for some years, that it is increasingly difficult for the union member to obtain suitable housing in Marin County. . . . What low-cost housing is available in Marin County is often in what the planners refer to as 'blighted areas.' . . . Many said they could obtain better housing for the same or lower costs in adjoining counties, and often it was Sonoma County that was mentioned."

Twelve per cent of them reported they do no shopping in Marin. A whopping 53 per cent reported they do "practically none." Twelve per cent thought they might do half their shopping here. Only 10 per cent reported they do "practically all" in the county where they work.

Commented the Labor Council:

"Taking a very conservative figure of 2,000 union members living outside Marin County with average takehome pay of $90 per week, it will be seen that close to $200,000 weekly is paid them. If, as the questionnaires indicate, very little of this is spent in Marin County, it will be seen that over $100,000 weekly in wages is going outside the county.

"In view of the efforts being made to persuade suitable industry to locate in Marin and bring additional payrolls here, it is a paradox that five million dollars a year in wages seems to be going outside the county."

Often-heard complaints of builders against Marin's restrictive ordinances got partial concurrence from the Labor Council as contributing to the high cost of homes here.

"The findings seem to pose a question as to whether master planning in Marin County, both on the county and the city level, is making proper provision for moderately priced homes and rental units," said the council's statement.

"Builders tell us that they cannot produce homes and apartments in Marin County for moderate income families because of excessively high land utilization and other planning requirements.

"Organized labor is basically in accord with the objectives of planning. Our members favor reasonable controls to preserve the natural beauty of 'Marvelous Marin' and prevent future slums; but they feel, also, that provision can be made for moderate-cost housing within the precepts of sound community planning."

Larkspur Man Faces Hit-Run, Drunk Counts

Hershal La Dare Smith Jr., 36, of 27 Midway road, Larkspur, was booked at the county jail on charges of drunken and hit-run driving after a spurt of backward driving yesterday in Mill Valley.

Police Officer William Walsh said Smith backed up Lower Alcatraz place yesterday morning, ran over a child's wagon, and stalled his car at the intersection of Bayview avenue. The car blocked Bay View avenue completely, Walsh said.

Walsh found Smith in a Greyhound bus preparing to leave for San Francisco. In his car, the officer found two wine bottles, one with wine in it, and four beer cans.

DE GAULLE

craft which carried press representatives.

A dozen or so small cruisers bounced along near the Taney as it headed for open water. A woman and a boy in an eight-foot boat with an outboard motor attempted to keep up. The black-hulled sloop Shanty II beat almost directly into the wind to come close alongside.

As the Taney reached the rolling water outside of the Bay, however, the small craft deserted the parade and the three white vessels sped across to San Francisco with Capt. Frank V. Helmer of Strawberry, the Taney's commanding officer, in charge.

The de Gaulle visit was an impressive one. With the exception of the 40 pickets at the airport, who were protesting his Algerian policy, the friendship he found in Marin was evident everywhere he went. The people of the Bay Area lined the streets to cheer him. They crowded into the Palace of the Legion of Honor to receive him. Nearly 4,000 turned out for a dinner to honor him last night. (See story on page 12.)

What they saw was a tall, severe looking man who apparently was aloof from much of what was going on around him. But those who watched closely saw changes in him. One of the major of these was when he put on his glasses.

Apparently the general does not like to be seen with his glasses on. Without them he has a peculiar squint. The president's eyesight was seriously impaired by cataracts which required surgery.

This was evident in the official reception for him in the rotunda of San Francisco's City Hall. Once, he reached into his pocket and put on his glasses. The faraway look on his face vanished immediately as he was able to see the four stories of people rising up around him, the blue-and-white clad children ranged up the stairway behind him, and men women and children in multi-colored costumes who flanked him on either side.

He was deeply touched, apparently, by the reception there. When it was over he mounted the stairs to congratulate the nun who led the singers and to shake hands with some of the boys and girls.

In all of his speeches, he spoke without prepared text (to the dismay of the press, many of whom couldn't understand French). At each of them, he exhibited a friendliness which belied many stories told about his austerness.

Charges Against Airmen Reduced

Two Hamilton Air Force Base airmen, accused of threatening employees of a San Francisco restaurant with a meat cleaver last month, face charges of battery instead of felonious assault.

A/1c Lawrence L. Dow and A/2c Eugene W. Bell are scheduled to appear in San Francisco Municipal Court at 10 a.m. next Wednesday on the misdemeanor battery charge. The original charge of felony assault was reduced yesterday to battery.

The airmen, members of the 78th Fighter Group, were arrested on March 31 after an altercation at Universal Restaurant on Grant avenue in San Francisco. The proprietor told police the airmen threatened his employees with a meat cleaver.

De Gaulle Says France U.S. United In Goals

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — France and the United States stand together in wanting all people to determine their own destiny, Gen. Charles de Gaulle declared last night.

This goal of the common ideals of the two nations amounts to political realism in the modern world, said the visiting president of France in his address to a glittering banquet audience of 4,000 in civic auditorium.

The dinner capped a day started with a parade and welcome called the greatest San Francisco ever has given a foreign chief of state.

De Gaulle, tall and austere leader of France in crisis, showed frank emotion. He stood two hours in the parade's slow progress through crowds that surged closely around his open car in the Montgomery street financial district.

Police Chief Tom Cahill estimated the sidewalk throngs along the route at 250,000. He said it was the greatest crowd he had seen in San Francisco in his 30-year career.

The emotional peak of the day came at a reception by San Francisco's French colony at the Palace of the Legion of Honor.

At the civic dinner he rose to speak after Mayor George Christopher had likened him to America's Abraham Lincoln—"tall not only in stature, but tall in intellect, tall in performance and tall in dedication to his country's ideals."

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, in a tribute to de Gaulle, said:

"The strong and durable democracies are distinguishable because at the moment of supreme trial they produce great men to lead them.

"Twice France has needed and found you."

Tamalpais Valley Fire Board Elects

The commissioners began discussions of the 1960-61 budget. They also received information from Fire Chief Herbert (Bud) Owen that the new radio network is operating in the trucks from the base station at the firehouse.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Pitchers, Not Hitters, Win Flags And Giants Will See Best Of 'Em

(John Connolly is on vacation. His sports associate, Ed Randol, is conducting The Bullpen during his absence)

CONNOLLY

"Them as has, gits!" So goes the old saying. In baseball, them as has gits the best pitchers thrown at 'em.

This fact, more than any other, explains why such clubs as the San Francisco Giants, Los Angeles Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves do not make a runaway of the National League pennant race.

Whenever possible, teams like the St. Louis Cards and Philadelphia Phillies will throw their ace flingers at the top trio and then muddle along with what is left when playing the "middle" clubs. As a result the cellar dwellers often turn out to be spoilers for the pennant aspirations of a couple of the top contenders.

By the same token, the power clubs tend to kill each other off, and the result is a chase that usually goes right down to the wire. This is good for baseball, for the fans, and for the pocketbooks of the owners, so everybody gains and nobody loses, and what's so wrong about that?

THIS HAS been the pattern in the National League for many, many years. Over in that other league, the New York Yankees so dominated the scene for so many years that it was almost a shock last year when the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians battled right down to the wire.

This all points up the general truism that "pitchers, not hitters, win pennants." Sure enough the sluggers get the cheers and the big salaries and the defensive stars who get the fielding raves. But day in and day out, the team with the best pitching staff is the one that is going to be there or thereabouts when October rolls around.

LAST YEAR the Giants had it until Jack Sanford was hit on the hand and sidelined for a month. The rest of the staff tried to take up the slack, but they just didn't have it and wore themselves so thin that our stalwarts faded to third place.

Milwaukee also took a run at the flag and ended with a tie for first with the Dodgers. With a glaring weakness at second base and the failure of Wes Covington to come through in the outfield, the burden of winning fell upon Warren Spahn and Lew-lew Burdette. Pressure told the story, and the Braves lost two straight in the playoff.

Those Dodgers played it like a race horse that is given a perfect ride., They laid off the pace and let everyone take their shots at the Giants and Braves and then swept it all with a great come-through performance of guys like Don Drysdale, Roger Craig and Larry Sherry.

HISTORY is repeating itself already this season. The best shots are being taken at the aforementioned trio, and while this is going on the Pittsburgh Pirates have reared their ugly heads into first place. Through the side door, as it were.

But things could be different this year for the Giants. Barring injury, they have the pitchers to match the rest of the league man for man and still have men left over for the late innings. Things would be a lot more comfortable if Johnny Antonelli were back on the firing line. It is hard to lose a 19-game winner and not be badly hurt, but the Giants have done very well so far, and may do better when all elements of the team are functioning well at one time.

Facing the Dodgers in the L. A. Coliseum tonight will be a tough assignment, as the "Bums" are red hot and the Giants are a little shook up. Should the Giants manage to pull out two of the three games, Sunday's rest should give them an all out shot at the Braves when Candlestick reopens next week.

Strong Arm Of The Law Has Reformed Pirates; 6 In Row!

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Go no further than Vern Law's 1.00 earned run average and Bob Skinner's .390 batting average if you're looking for reasons why the Pittsburgh Pirates look like the "Comeback Kids" of 1960.

One of the biggest disappointments of 1959, the Pirates lead the National League by one game today and their six-game winning streak equals the best they put together all last season. In fact, it is only one game short of the longest streak any N.L. team achieved last season.

And there's no doubt that Law, a 30-year old 200-pound right-hander, and Skinner, a gangling 190-pound outfielder, have been the key reasons for the turnabout.

Law turned in his third straight complete-game victory of the season and Skinner drove in two runs with a 2-for-2 performance last night when the Pirates shaded the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, to go one full game ahead of the idle San Francisco Giants.

In 27 innings this season, Law has yielded only 21 hits and three walks while striking out 11 batters. He posted an 18-9 record last season and looks this year like he could be a 20-game winner. Skinner, meanwhile, has collected 16 hits in 41 tries and knocked in 15 runs to establish himself as one of the league's most dangerous hitters.

The Milwaukee Braves swept a two-game series from their favorite cousins when they whipped the Cincinnati Reds, 8-5, and the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Chicago Cubs, 9-4, in the other N.L. games. In the American League, the Kansas City Athletics dealt the Detroit Tigers a second straight loss, 3-1, the Washington Senators defeated the New York Yankees, 5-4, and the Baltimore Orioles scored an 8-3 win over the Boston Red Sox.

Hank Aaron drove in two runs with a homer and three singles and also contributed a spectacular rally-killing catch in the outfield to pace the Braves' triumph. Carlton Willey received credit for the win, but not before Lew Burdette made his third relief appearance of the season. Burdette allowed only one hit over the last three innings. Joe Adcock and Lee Maye shared in the Braves' attack with two hits each and Vada Pinson had three for the Reds.

Tennis Court Site To Be Ross Topic

Ross Town Council will meet tonight to discuss a possible site for two tennis courts.

Suggested as a site is the Ross Common park, east of the elementary school. The courts would be constructed with funds raised by a citizen committee headed by Sanford Paganucci.

He told the council at a previous meeting that the group could raise the approximately $10,000 needed for construction. The only cost to the city would be for maintenance of the two courts.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the town hall.

Tiburon League To Open May 7

Tiburon Peninsula Little League's opening game will be Saturday, May 7 at 10 a.m. on Judge Field in Tiburon, League President William J. Carroll said.

Last year's winning team, the Falcons, managed by James Murphy, will play the Seals, managed by Elmer Rieger. Informal opening day ceremonies are planned.

One hundred and seventy-five boys have signed up and two new minor league teams have been added to the roster.

SHOWDOWN IN LOS ANGELES

Bums To Hurl Series Hero Sherry Vs. Giants Tonight

LOS ANGELES — It'll be either Jack Sanford or Billy O'Dell hurling for the San Francisco Giants against Los Angeles Dodger World Series hero Larry Sherry tonight as the two pennant contenders open a three-game stand in spacious Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Sanford, who broke even with the world champions last season, is fresh after a five-hit, 18-2, win over the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field last Saturday. He's 1-0 for the season. O'Dell's 1960 record is 0-2.

Sherry so far has one win against two defeats.

The Giants are in second place, one game behind Pittsburgh, which tangles with Philadelphia tonight, and one game ahead of the Dodgers.

San Francisco comes to town with three wins and two losses on its current road trip after splitting with St. Louis and gaining the best of Chicago by one game.

The Dodgers yesterday turned back the Cubs, 9-4, at Chicago.

Regular Giant third baseman Jim Davenport, who suffered a severe contusion of the right shoulder when hit by a pitched ball at St. Louis Tuesday, will be replaced by utility infielder Joe Amalfitano. Joe banged out a double and single after substituting for the injured Davenport in Tuesday's game.

Willie Mays carried a 12-game hitting streak and a .458 average into the contest.

And Willie McCovey, although batting only .200, suddenly appears to have erupted from his spring-long slump and now has three doubles, four home runs and 13 rbi's to his credit.

First string catcher Hobie Landrith, injured during spring training, is given an outside chance of appearing in his first regular game of the season during the southland visit. But it's doubtful southpaw Johnny Antonelli will see service. His pitching arm still is tight from muscle spasms suffered at the start of the season.

Los Angeles made it two straight over the Cubs yesterday as Roger Craig pitched a four-hitter. He eased up in the ninth and the Cubs pushed over three runs. Craig now has six straight wins. He won his last five games in 1959. He fanned six and walked three yesterday.

Craig was bypassed by Manager Walt Alston during the first two weeks, although he was one of the clutch performers in the Dodgers' final drive to the pennant last season.

The Dodgers got 10 hits off Dick Drott and Don Elston. Wally Moon had three of them, including a triple, and Gil Hodges drove in three runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly.

FOUR YEAR PROBATION

Indiana Shocked By NCAA Penalty

ATLANTA (AP)—Members of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Council headed home today after slapping Indiana University with one of the stiffest penalties on record—four years probation for six recruiting violations.

"It's a terrible blow," said University President Herman B. Wells at Bloomington, Ind.

Phil Dickens, Indiana football coach call it "a dad-burned shame. We thought we had done everything possible to avert anything like this."

The punishment means Indiana is ineligible for NCAA championship competition, cannot make post-season appearances such as bowl games and cannot appear on televised sports program of the NCAA.

The Council, NCAA policy-making body, charged that an $800 bonus and monthly payments of $50 to $75 were offered a Virginia football player by an Indiana alumnus working with an assistant coach.

Another athlete was recruited by a telephone caller using a fictitious name who offered up to $100 as a bonus and free transportation, it was charged.

NCAA rules permit a maximum of $15 a month for incidental expenses plus tuition, room, board and books to be offered a prospective athlete.

Free vacations, clothing and cash were offered in other cases, all involving football players, the council said, and an assistant coach was charged with using an alias in at least two recruiting efforts. He was later dismissed, the Council said.

The Indiana case was the only one acted on by the Council. The members voted against looking into complaints of dirty play in the Cotton Bowl game between Texas University and Syracuse.

There was no move to lift any previous probations.

Elise Dillon To Instruct Swimming At Golf Club

Marin Golf Club has announced appointment of Elise Dillon of San Rafael as swim director for the 1960 season.

She will assume full-time duties May 10, instructing in all phases of swimming, from beginners through advanced.

Mrs. Dillon has been teaching swimming in Marin County for the past two summers. Prior to that she was swim director for three years at the Bahama Shores Beach Club in St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Marin Golf Club's new instructor was a feature performer in Billy Rose's Aquacade and understudied the star, Eleanor Holm, former Olympic Games champion.

She said her program at Marin will include competitive meets, water ballet and synchronized swimming. Last Sunday her water ballet team of Kathy Shelley, Sally Boss and Sally McCallum performed for the membership.

Mrs. Apostoli Defeated In State Tourney

Mrs. Alleen Weissmuller of Hollywood was scheduled to meet San Francisco school teacher Sheila Moss in the other semi-final match. The 36-hole championship round will be played tomorrow.

Mrs. Williams rallied yesterday to score a 1-up victory over Mrs. Irvin Knight of Glendora in the quarter-finals. It was a see-saw match until the 16th hole on the soggy California Country Club course when Mrs. Williams went ahead to stay with a par.

Mrs. Patch trounced Mrs. Fred Apostoli of Fairfax, 5-4, and Miss Moss sank a 15-foot putt on the final hole to turn back Joan Weeks of Modesto, 1-up.

Mrs. Weissmuller, the only southern California golfer to make the semi-finals, scored a 1-up victory over Mrs. Henry Miller of Los Angeles—one of the tournament favorites.

Track Meet Cancelled

SAN JOSE (AP)—Rain canceled the Fresno State-San Jose State track meet here yesterday. It will not be rescheduled.

Cal's Crow Joins Raiders

Quarterback Wayne Crow, forsaking his college letter for cold lucre, joined the Oakland Raiders professional football team today although he had been eligible to play one more season at California.

The 22-year-old kid brother of the New York Giants' Lindon Crow indicated after he signed yesterday that playing college football was getting just too expensive.

"My decision to play professional football was not an easy one to make," Crow said. "Only because of growing family responsibilities do I find it necessary to take advantage of a professional opportunity."

Crow, married and the father of a seven-months-old boy, was the number eight draft selection of the Chicago Cardinals in 1959. He also had been California Coach Marv Levy's choice to operate as a halfback this coming season. But both the Oakland football team and Levy stressed that there had been nothing underhanded in the way Crow, who stands six feet and weighs 198, had joined the Raiders.

"The management of the Oakland team has acted in a most ethical manner in this situation," Levy declared in one of several prepared statements which followed the announcement. "They have made every effort to counsel Wayne to finish his education. Furthermore, we appreciate the wonderful manner in which the Oakland Raiders have co-operated with the university in this matter."

A club spokesman said that Crow could not have been approached unless his original class were graduating this spring. He entered California in 1956 as a member of the Class of '60, but stayed out one year because of low grades. He is a speech major and Oakland General Manager Y. Charles (Chet) Soda said that he hopes Crow will finish up his education at California.

"I have it in our contract with Crow that part payment of his monies to be realized will go directly toward furtherance of his education at the university," Soda declared.

Last season, which saw the Bears lose nine of 11 games, Crow completed 26 out of 67 passes for 379 yards gained scored three times and passed for two touchdowns in a 20-17 upset of Stanford.

Ex-Baylor Stars Sign With Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two ex-teammates at Baylor University have signed contracts with the Los Angeles Rams for the 1960 pro football season.

They are tackle Paul Dickson and quarterback Buddy Humphrey. Dickson signed for 1960; Humphrey for 1960 and 1961. The Rams have two other Baylor alumni, end Del Shofner and tackle Charlie Bradshaw.

Kayoed Fighter Greatly Improved

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Leroy Sayles, the Berkeley middleweight who was knocked into a coma Monday, was reported greatly improved today by Dr. Don Lastretto, State Athletic Commission physician.

"Sayles was fully conscious and able to talk clearly to me," the doctor said. "He probably will be released from St. Luke's Hospital in a week."

Sayles suffered a concussion in the second round of a preliminary fight at the Cow Palace Monday before the Henry Hank-Rory Calhoun main event.

Lakers Hope To Strike It Rich In Cal

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Minneapolis Lakers, who couldn't draw flies to their games in recent years, hope to strike it rich again in California.

The board of governors of the National Basketball Association yesterday approved by a unanimous vote the transfer of the Lakers' franchise to Los Angeles "if a satisfactory schedule can be drawn" for the 1960-61 season.

The owners will meet again in New York May 9 and May 16 to wrestle with a new coast-to-coast schedule. Following those two meetings, the league is expected to officially approve the Los Angeles franchise.

Both Robert Short, president of the Lakers, and NBA prexy Maurice Podoloff are confident that a suitable schedule will be worked out and approved at next month's meetings.

HOME COURT

Short flew to Los Angeles earlier this week and sewed up the new Memorial Sports Arena as the next home base for his team. He also was given some dates for games in the Los Angeles State College gymnasium.

The Lakers' president then caught an overnight flight to New York and made a personal plea to the owners yesterday, presenting them with more than 70 dates from which 36 Los Angeles home games can be selected for next season.

One of the biggest problems facing other NBA teams in this western movement is the transportation cost. However, Short has offered to pay part of these expenses, which he estimates will cost approximately $78,000 a season.

HEE, HAW! CRAZY BASKETBALL

Crazy action, like above, will take place "in the flesh" tomorrow night when donkey basketball programs will be presented at Sir Francis Drake and Redwood high schools. Players actually ride donkeys up and down the court and their efforts to stay on the animals sometimes lead to riotous flops. At Drake High at 7 o'clock Drake High students will oppose Redwood High students and at 8 o'clock it will be the San Anselmo Lions Club vs. San Anselmo Rotary. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. At Redwood, starting at 7:30, the game will be between the school's faculty and lettermen. General admission is 50 cents.

Strong Support For Venturi In Las Vegas Golf

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—While Arnold Palmer remains the gamblers' 5-1 choice to win the $42,400 Tournament of Champions, heavy play has backed Ken Venturi down to a 6-1 co-second choice with Gene Littler.

The event will be held May 5-8 at the Desert Inn Country Club.

Prep Baseballers On KTIM Tomorow

Radio KTIM will broadcast tomorrow's Redwood-Marin Catholic high school baseball game direct from Albert Field in San Rafael, Manager Hugh Turner announced today.

The Marin County Athletic League game will start at 4 p.m. with Sports Director Ted Mitchell handling the play-by-play.

Two other MCAL games are on tap tomorrow. Novato battles Drake in San Anselmo, 4 o'clock, and Tam meets San Rafael at Albert Field at 6 p.m.

New South Korea Regime Formed

Mass Suicide Pact By Rhee Aide's Family Stuns Nation

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)—Acting President Huh Chung formed a new caretaker government today to wipe out the fraud and corruption of the Rhee regime in a nation shocked by the mass suicide of Vice President-elect Lee Ki-Poong and his family.

Huh, known as a man of deep honesty, called on the new cabinet "to wipe out illegalities, irregularities, corruption and confusion deeply accumulated" by the administration of Syngman Rhee which ended in near disgrace after a wave of violence.

KANG SUK
He fired fatal shots

Huh spoke of the "evil practices and irregularities" of the past and called in six independents to help him forge a government that would bring democracy to South Korea, guard against Communism and end a system of police terror.

Appointment of the new cabinet has one major and immediate effect: It restores the flow of U.S. economic aid, halted temporarily because Korea had no reconstruction minister. U.S. military aid had not been interrupted.

Lee, who assumed "final responsibility" for the recent bloodshed and rioting in South Korea, died with his entire family at dawn in a mass suicide pact. The executioner was 2nd Lt. Kang Suk's, Lee's elder son whom Rhee adopted.

The family gathered in a secretary's apartment at the presidential mansion to die together. At 5:55 a.m. Kang opened fire. He killed his father, his mother, Maria, and his younger brother, Kang Wook, with one bullet each from his .45 caliber army automatic, then turned the pistol on himself. He fired one bullet into his abdomen and one into his brain.

Today's events meant the end of the Korea of Syngman Rhee, but his final ignominy was put off. The National Assembly which was to have met and accepted his resignation—probably unanimously—postponed the meeting until tomorrow because of the Lee tragedy.

Rhee left the presidential palace today for what may have been the last time and rode through wildly cheering crowds to his own house to begin life as a private citizen. Within an hour he and a group of soldiers were out pruning the shrubbery.

Huh today filled the posts of ministers of finance, education, reconstruction, commerce and industry, health and social affairs and transportation. He left unfilled the posts of agriculture, communications and minister of defense.

Huh promised "to reform all systems, circumstances and conditions of the state in close coordination with the legislature and the judiciary so that current explosive public sentiment will turn to the patriotic volition for construction."

Huh warned of Communist danger and asked the people to show "the great spirit of leniency" because the past "evil practices and irregularities are partly due to a faulty political system and its mismanagement."

"The cabinet reaffirms that our people are firmly determined to accept nothing less than a genuinely free and sound democratic system," he said.

The death of the Lees was expected to provide a tragic last act to South Korea's "student revolution" which forced Rhee to resign and terminated Lee's political career. The revolt grew from charges that Lee's election to the vice presidency last March 15 was rigged.

Peace was returning to the country under the acting presidency of Huh. Only scattered incidents of anti-government activity were reported today, none resulting in bloodshed.

The family sat together on a small couch to face the end. On Lee's lap lay copies of Tuesday's newspaper, reporting demands for Rhee's resignation and denouncing Lee himself.

It was Lee's disputed victory over John M. Chang, leader of the opposition Democratic Party, in the March 15 vice presidential election that set off the storm that has swept Korea for the past six weeks.

When police opened fire on demonstrators protesting the elections, they set off a wave of violence that brought death to at least 162 Koreans and wounded nearly 1,000.

The cabinet resigned, and numerous other officials including the South Korean ambassador to Washington followed suit.

3 Indicted In Teamster Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department announced today that three persons have been indicted on charges of obstructing a Senate rackets committee investigation of the Teamsters Union. One of those indicted was Sally T. Hucks, a former chief telephone operator at the plush Woodner Apartment Hotel where Teamster president James R. Hoffa maintains a suite.

The others were Joseph M. Williamson, an Urbana, Ill., attorney, and Moss Herman, a New York member of the Teamsters Union.

The three were charged with destroying records of telephone calls to and from Hoffa's suite which had been subpenaed by the Senate committee.

Solon Blocks Hearings On Diabetic Drug

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) blocked Senate investigators from continuing their controversial hearings today on the possible dangers of a new diabetric drug.

Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told a crowded hearing room that Dirksen formally objected to the Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly Subcommittee meeting while the Senate was in session. Kefauver recessed the hearings until Tuesday.

FOREIGN AID BILL

He said Dirksen, a subcommittee member, apparently made the move because President Eisenhower's foreign aid bill was coming up for debate on the Senate floor.

Under Senate rules, committees cannot meet while the Senate is in session without unanimous consent.

The Senate GOP leader previously had denounced the investigation as being "completely unfair and unobjective" to the drug companies.

SAYS IT'S SAFE

The drug involved in this week's hearings is "Diabinese" or chlorpromide which is made exclusively in the United States by the New York firm of Charles Pfizer and Co.

Pfizer spokesmen say it is entirely safe for diabetics if used properly.

However, Dr. Henry Dolger, chief of diabetes at Mount Sinai Hospital in New Yofk City, criticized the drug in testimony yesterday.

MONITORS ACCUSED

Lawyer Contends Hoffa 'Framed'

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa's lawyer today accused court-appointed monitors of trying to frame Hoffa to get him tossed out of the Teamsters' Union presidency and take over control of the union themselves.

"This is a big prize," attorney Jacob Kossman told U. S. Dist. Judge Joseph R. Jackson. "This union has assets of over 600 million dollars and 1,600,000 members. A fabulous fortune awaits anyone who can take over."

Kossman opened argument on a motion to block trial of a civil case aimed at Hoffa's ouster from the Teamsters' helm. The case is based on charges that Hoffa misused union funds for private business ventures.

One of the charges is based on the deposit of $400,000 of Detroit Teamsters' funds in an Orlando, Fla., bank with the subsequent loan of an equal sum to finance a Florida real estate development. Hoffa had an option on the land.

Kossman said the Teamsters Union is prepared to show that the monitors told the Florida bank it did not have to release the Teamsters funds when Hoffa later tried to get the money withdrawn. Hoffa has disposed of his option.

New Quake Strikes Ruined Iran City, Kills Five More

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A new heavy earthquake today struck the ruined city of Lar, adding five more deaths to the 360 persons known to have perished in Sunday's quakes, the Iranian Red Cross said.

Three of the victims were caught while searching the ruins of the southern city for bodies of missing relatives and for personal effects.

The Red Cross said two others were walking in the street when the earthquake sent shaky mudbrick walls crashing down on them.

Most of the area's 17,000 inhabitants are housed in tent cities or simply living out in the fields.

Rainbow Ladies, AOPi's Say 'Wing Your Way To Summer'

There's a swoosh to the bright new fashions that is distinctly jet-propelled.

And now's the time to buy them to be ready to "Wing Your Way to Summer."

Proving it on Tuesday as they co-piloted the popular Fashion Focus luncheon at Rickey's were the Rainbow Ladies of Ross Hospital and the Marin Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority who promenaded in a bevy of beautiful clothes gathered by Barbara McClure to fly high for months to come.

Flying high month for the Rainbow Ladies will be May when the new wing at Ross Hospital will be officially opened. On May 15, the Rainbow Ladies have planned a "hospital tour" to show the public the wonderful facilities in the new wing including surgery, laboratories and hospital rooms with interesting and informative demonstrations planned as a special highlight.

Tuesday's promenade was not only fashionable and fun but fruitful, pointing up the importance of the Endowed Bed Fund started a year ago by the Rainbow Ladies at Ross Hospital and adopted by the Alpha O's as one of their special endeavors. On behalf of the sorority, Mrs. Harold DePue, presented Dr. John Siemens of the Ross Hospital board of trustees with a check (the result of a recent Alpha O fund-raising bridge party) which will boost the Endowed Bed Fund.

JET-PROPELLED

"Mad Mornings," perfect for sleek striped Bermudas by Jack Winter, the olive, gold and beige green cotton shirt and Mrs. William Healy Jr. of the Rainbow Ladies to show it.

"Pool Partners," Mrs. Clyde Curley, an Alpha O, and Rose Marie Reid's "Chevron," hard to beat in white sparked with red and green, and a saucy beach bag repeating the swimsuit scheme.

"Debonair Denims," on deck blue and white stripped denim clam diggers by Fleishmann, and a cord tied hip-hugging pullover, easy on the eye and the upkeep, to be coordinated with matching shorts and skirt; Mrs. Robert Evans of the Rainbow Ladies to show it becomingly.

"Silk Success," an original Italian scarf print muted blues against champagne silk, the tapered sleeves, graceful skirt, and Mrs. Robert Rodden, a Rainbow Lady, receiving many compliments.

IN GOLD SILK

"Dinner Favorites," Mrs. George Herrero of the Alpha O's and Mr. Gee's pure spun gold silk classic; simple styling, matching tie belt and wide sleeves adding new notes for any dinner.

"Dance Delight," pretty gray and white cotton batiste feminine and flattering with a three tiered skirt and eyelet embroidery designed by Arkay; Mrs. W. C. Anderson of the Alpha O's the accent touch.

"Gentlemen's Choice," Mrs. David Cederquist in Dorothy O'Hara's pencil slim silk sheath splashed with blue and green roses on white.

Next Thursday, Fashion Focus writes "Memos to a Modern Mother" to honor the St. Raphael's Mothers Guild with spring-into-summer fashions by a San Rafael shop. Reservations for Fashion Focus are open to the public and may be made by Calling Rickey's.

Strawberry P-TA Pays Tribute To Mrs. Rose H. Verrall Of Tiburon

The Strawberry Point Parent-Teacher Assn. paid tribute Monday night to Mrs. Rose H. Verrall, the Tiburon peninsula's beloved "goat lady" by awarding her a life membership in the California Congress of Parent Teacher Associations.

Making the presentation was Dr. David Steinhardt, who with his wife has served as co-vice president of the group this year. Mrs. William Clark who has shared the office of president with her husband, presented Mrs. Verrall with the membership pin.

Dr. Steinhardt credited Mrs. Verrall with making it possible for the children to visit and observe wildlife on the property in Richardson Bay which she deeded to the Marin Conservation League in 1957. He recalled the period when a developer threatened to fill in the tidelands and construct homes. Sparked by Mrs. Verrall's generous donation of the land, money was forthcoming from many sources, such as the City of Belvedere, the Highway Department and the County. The sum of $15,000 was raised through individual donations. As a result most of the tidelands were purchased and are now designated as a wildlife sanctuary.

Dr. Steinhardt described how the Victorian mansion of Dr. Benjamin Lyford, early settler on Strawberry Point, was moved to the Verrall property where it has been restored and redecorated and is now headquarters for the Marin Conservation League and the Marin Audubon Society.

"As a result of her gift," he said, "the property remains physically undisturbed. We will always be in Mrs. Verrall's debt. I hope I will be able to do half as much to leave my mark on the sands of time."

At the business meeting officers for the next year were elected. Dr. Clark was reelected president. Serving with him will be Mrs. Steinhardt, reelected vice president; Miss Elizabeth Edson, second vice president; Mrs. Alfred Goldberg, secretary, and Ralph Cole, treasurer.

Rankin-Doll Wedding Held In Mill Valley

Determined to be married in her home town, Marilyn Ann Doll and her fiance, Lt. Col. John A. Rankin, arrived in Mill Valley from Germany on Saturday, April 16, were married at the Mill Valley Methodist Church on Tuesday and flew back to Germany last Thursday.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doll of Mill Valley, is a fifth grade teacher in the U. S. Army Dependents' School in Kirchgons near Frankfort. Before that she taught fifth grade from 1957 to 1959 at Reed School in Marin County.

She is a graduate of Tamalpais High School, attended the College of Marin, and was graduated from San Francisco State College. Her husband was graduated from Wilmington College in Ohio before entering service with the U. S. Army. His home was in Midland, Ohio.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar decorated with white flowers in an 8 o'clock candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. Edgar Nelson. About 35 relatives and intimate friends were present.

When she was given in marriage in the double ring rites by her father, Marilyn was wearing a street length white lace sheath having a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. A coronet of pearls held her shoulder length veil, and she carried an arrangement of two white orchids.

Her only sister, Susan Doll, a junior at San Jose State College, was her maid of honor. She wore a pink brocade sheath with keyhole neckline and short sleeves, and her headdress was a pink taffeta bandeau with circular veil. She carried a ballerina bouquet of pink carnations and roses.

Best man was Capt. Lowell Aitken, son of the Arden Aitkens of Mill Valley, who happened to be at home from Fulda, Germany, which is not far from where the newly married pair will live in Kirchgons. He served with the bridegroom as a paratrooper in Korea.

Mrs. Doll attended her daughter's wedding in a honey beige dress, brown hat and white accessories and wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The two tiered wedding cake was decorated on top with miniature bride and bridegroom. In charge of the guestbook was Mrs. Thomas Miller of San Rafael, the former Gloria Brown.

For her going away outfit the new Mrs. Rankin chose a medium blue tailored wool suit and completed her costume with white hat and gloves and black patent purse and shoes.

Attending the wedding from Alameda were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brown, who were married in a double wedding with the bride's parents.

Outgoing president Mrs. Hugo Odetto installed the new officers, who are Mesdames Earl E. Robertson of Mill Valley, president; George Ketron of Sleepy Hollow, vice president; Karl Wolff of San Anselmo, secretary, and Frank Sutliffe of Belveron Gardens, treasurer.

A group will attend the regional quarterly meeting in San Jose next weekend and meet the executive secretary of the organization, Miss Nancy Bergman. Following the meeting the annual regional singing contest will be held.

The luncheon table was decorated with a miniature bridal couple standing inside a large, white open-silhquette heart surrounded by white snapdragons. Miss Juda had a corsage of orchids.

Guests included the bridegroom-to-be's mother Mrs. Charles Pincus, Miss Marilyn Baum, Mrs. Harry Friedman and Mrs. Helene Waterman of San Rafael, also Mesdames James Kraus, Al Gilbert, Bernard Noodleman, Edith Barnett, Bertha Baum, Dora Juda and Edward Leitner of San Francisco.

Plan To Elect State School Board Gets A New Chance

It seems proper that during Public Schools Week we should discuss a matter which is basic to the whole school program throughout the state of California, the organization of the State Department of Education and the State Board of Education.

Just this month an unpublicized action was taken by State Senator Hugh M. Burns, chairman of the Senate Rules Committee. He referred to the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Education "for your consideration and study, should you see fit," a bill which Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy introduced in the 1959 legislative session.

The bill was Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 4. It revised the method of selecting members of the State Board of Education, making them elective, rather than appointive. It also would make the state superintendent of public instruction appointive, rather than elective.

An attempt was made a few years ago to make the state superintendent appointive. This was soundly defeated at the polls by an electorate strenuously objecting to the trend toward elimination of elective offices.

But McCarthy's plan requires more, not fewer, elective offices. He proposes to set up six districts of which four, those including the largest population areas, would have two board members, and the other two districts, the smaller population counties, would have just one. They would have four year terms.

Under present law the voters get a chance to vote for a superintendent of schools only once every four years in a statewide election. This means it is extremely difficult and expensive for any candidate to oppose the incumbent, who, by the nature of his job, has a built-in base of operations in every school office in the state. Not in 80 years or so has the electorate ever voted in anyone but an incumbent.

Under McCarthy's plan, about 90 per cent of the voters would ballot on one or the other of their board members every two years and the candidates would not have to campaign over the whole state, merely in their own districts.

Such a plan certainly would bring the state schools' policies back much closer to the people who pay the bills. It may not be perfect. In fact we'd prefer if every voter in the state voting on one state school official at every general election, perhaps a plan with two board members from each district. But McCarthy's plan certainly is a step in the right direction.

We hope that Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, chairman of the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Education, does "see fit" to study and consider the proposal.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Like To Hear Fluoride Debate

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The old cliche about the squeaking wheel getting the most oil seems apt in describing the supervisors' reaction to the many demands made by the fluoridation promoters regarding the fluoridation forum.

Many of us who would like to hear both sides of the issue are disappointed that there is now not to be a forum.

I-J Did Disservice In Printing Letter

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I noted with some surprise, not unmixed with righteous outrage, the letter that recently appeared in this space over the signature of Harold W. Hobbs of Hill Haven. Although I am aware that controversial letters are considered beneficial to newspaper circulation, I submit that the publication of this collection of vaporings actually constitutes a disservice to your readers.

I will not, at this time, attempt to bore your readers with a point-by-point refutation of the implications and charges raised in this diatribe. It can easily be shown that facts have been distorted or manufactured out of whole cloth. The only apparent motive was to employ the old theory that if you throw enough mud, some of it will stick.

I particularly resent the attempt to single out the one commissioner whose brother serves as a volunteer fireman and smear him with the implication that he is furthering a "fraternal dynasty." I have had my disagreements with Commissioner Fred Mantgani but the charge he and his brother, George, are attempting to create a dynasty in the Tiburon Fire District contains no more fact than the rest of the letter.

I am somewhat surprised that the Independent-Journal would see fit to print such mewlings.

Some Questions On School Bonds

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Before I can consider voting on another big bond issue for high schools, I should like explanations for seeming extravagances.

Why was $44,000 (according to the Independent) spent for a lighting system for Kentfield playing field? It was erected to replace an existing lighting system which was removed.

Are teachers being paid up to twice the salaries paid in other sections of the country?

Answers to these may act as a guide to my voting. I find few voters and abstainers who know anything of the details involved in some elections.

What Motels Equal One Dairy?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Twenty years ago when my daughters were infants, it was the custom to ignore their frantic hunger screams, watching the minute hand of the clock until, according to the book, it was time for them to be hungry. Sounds remote and barbarous, doesn't it? At that time it was the accepted, literate way. No one of my college-trained contemporaries dared to flout the book.

About the same time, reputable economists used to cite irrefutable proof that the population of the United States would be on the decline by 1960.

I revive these two embalmed sacred cows for a reason.

For the past two years I have been following the arguments for and against the Pt. Reyes National Park. Proponents for the park present many persuasive claims to allay the fears of residents of the peninsula who dread to see their way of life disturbed.

Although it all sounded good and read well, I have been held back from joining forces with these dedicated and sincere people by a persistent little warning bell in the back of my mind. I kept recalling the persuasiveness of the 1930 books on baby care. . . .

The recent park hearing provided me with the explanation of that little bell.

The state was made that although one-sixth of our dairy industry would have to be sacrificed for the park, tax revenue from motels and filling-stations would make up for this loss. This nullifies the argument that creation of the park would enable us to preserve the character of our beautiful country.

Allow me a prediction: In keeping with the "democratic" belief that the majority is right even when it's wrong, the park will be created. Dairy ranchers will be forced out of a way of life which now supports two — and in some cases, three generations of the same family. Gradually the quiet-living people will retreat, and within a few years the verdant beauty of Sir Francis Drake highway will be reduced to the dreary homogeneity of neon light and gas pumps. A last little outpost of quiet will be gone.

Well, if our way of life is doomed, I think I'll throw in my lot (no pun intended) with the subdivider. Quite possible he'll turn out to be a man of taste and sensibility who may glimpse an honest, straightforward commercial advantage in preserving the quality of this incomparable place.

At least when he says "subdivision" it won't be a fancy euphemism for "expropriation"!

THREE MINUTES A DAY

CRIME SCRAPBOOK PATTERN

While searching the home of a young man accused of possessing and selling narcotics, police found a crime scrapbook, filled with clippings about the adventures of youth gangs.

For a long period of time, he had collected stories glorifying crime and marked them with gold stars. The items dated back to 1946 when the suspect was only 9 years old.

The misguided youth awarded 2 gold stars to a story headlined: "Thugs Run Wild in Gang Feud."

Little did he realize that each clipping was helping to prepare him for a life of crime.

The words and deeds of others, especially those which show imagination and enterprise, play a considerable part in shaping the lives of children for better or for worse.

Help direct the God-given imagination and talents of youth into creative channels and you will attract them to good and away from evil.

"A young man according to his way, even when he is old he will not depart from it." (Proverbs 22:6)

Inspire youth, O Holy Spirit, to do good and avoid evil.

Big Things Affect Humanity, But Little Things Affect Each Human

The scientists may invent atom bombs and moon rockets, and the statesmen crapshoot for the world at summit meetings. Rebellions may arise and earthquakes come and go. Your average man is more likely to remember the day they came out with a new kind of beer bottle cap.

The big glories and big disasters find a page in human history. But it is the small glory, the little disaster, that writes the history of the individual human heart.

Our memory—which is our life—is a summary of unforgettable personal moments which had no impact on the world at large but which changed us forever. Add these moments up and what do you have? Yourself.

One man's mental album, for example, might contain such landmark moments as:

Stubbing your toe as a barefoot child and reaching the philosophic conclusion, in the midst of excruciating pain, that you could not be physically immortal, or you would not hurt so.

Staring at yourself in the mirror as a small boy until your mind reeled at the mystery, "Who am I? What am I?"

The thrill of pride when you finally learned to whistle through your front teeth. Later, after you got your upper plate, you had the problem of learning how not to whistle.

The thrill of pride when you saved up enough money to buy your first pair of long pants and felt at last you were a man.

The thrill, 40 years later, when you put on your first pair of Bermuda shorts, of feeling almost like a boy again.

The pleasant discovery, the day your Boy Scout outfit arrived, that the girls really do go for a guy in uniform.

The later discovery that while women enjoy being put on a pedestal before marriage, after marriage they'd rather sit down, take their shoes off, and rest their feet.

THE DAY YOU FIRST noticed your mother was getting gray hair, and the day the barber confided your own hair was getting a bit thin on the top.

Going to the funeral of a loved one and knowing death at last had broken the magic of a closed family circle.

Turning the key in the front door of the first home you and your friendly neighborhood banker ever owned together.

REALIZING FOR THE first time that instead of going up stairs two at a time, you now paused and looked around for an escalator.

And what are the landmark moments in your own mental album that make you what you are?

Marin County's jail has been found "not fit for human habitation" through inspections by Dr. W. M. Dickie, state health officer, Milton P. Duffy, state food inspector, and others. Action to remedy things is promised by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Electrically charged fences were reported to be discouraging cattle from straying off the Righetti Brothers ranch near Tomales. They were also being used to keep the cows from breaking in with the chickens.

FARMS COLLECTIVIZED

East Germans Crowd West's Refugee Camps

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

The barracks-like domitories of the Marienfelde refugee camp in the American sector of West Berlin bulged this last week with the infirm, the aged, the young and the very young refugees from the latest surge of Communist brutality.

There have been many examples of such in the past — the Red Chinese commues, jamming millions into state-run cooperatives, for one; Stalin's action condemning millions of restive Ukrainians to starvation, for another.

AND ALONGSIDE these must come the campaign of the last few weeks which in one savage sweep completed the collectivization of every farm in East Germany.

From April 15 to April 19, more than 5,000 East German farmers fled their former lands and reached the haven of Marienfelde refugee center.

Statistics fail to tell the story.

The church and the ruggedly individual peasant with his intense love of the land have provided two of the greatest stumbling blocks to the communization of Eastern Europe.

Now, in East Germany, at least, the farmer no longer need be considered a factor.

Another tells of hours under siege in his barred cottage while communist teams on 24-hour shifts outside blare through loudspeakers demands that he sign away his lands to the collective.

Suicides were commonplace.

EXCEPT FOR ONE important factor, the timing would be without reason. The planting season is at hand, and the men who should be tilling the land now are the ones who are fleeing.

In another season it will reflect in the food these lands failed to produce.

But for East German strongman Walter Ulbricht there was one overriding consideration. It was the plum he could hand Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on the eve of the four-power summit meeting.

WITH THIS, Khrushchev could point to an East Germany whose economy at last was totally divorced from the West. Independent labor unions had been replaced by state unions. Private farming had vanished and now the last of the small businessmen soon would vanish, too.

Khrushchev has said the Soviet Union never would permit the East German Communist state to be abolished.

This was final proof.

Bob Smyth, Other China Hands Were Never Consulted At Home

The death last Sunday of Robert Lacy Smyth of San Rafael gave forceful reminder that Marin County in particular, and the Pacific Coast generally, provide pleasant homes for more American overseas experts than the rest of the world put together.

Few indeed of these people are in Washington, D. C., or in any way helping in the formation of implementation of our foreign policies during a clearly crucial period.

ON THE WHOLE, that suits the veterans very well. They have had it. Only with deep reluctance would most of them return to a foreign field which had its pleasures and often its luxuries, but which on balance was a taxing experience leaving one drained. And they have tired of offering unwanted advice.

That suits Washington too. The last thing our government desires is any help from the people who were there; odd but true.

So far as I know Bob Smyth, who qualified as one of our really top experts on China, never did any lamenting on this point. Indeed he might have differed with me in his customary forceful way.

HIS OWN LONG career was overloaded with hard work, and he suffered the punishment of terrible illness at the end. No doubt Smyth, for one, gave all he could and would perhaps have been unable to answer further call. Yet certainly there were at least some months after his retirement in 1955 when advice from him might still have been possible and useful.

In other cases, many trained veterans especially of the Far East scene are pretty much withering on the vine, and a shocking waste. That is my own view, evidently not that of Washington, for I know of few overtures of constructive sort to any of these people.

But there is nothing at all surprising in this. It has never been American policy to look for much advice even from Americans right on the spot in the foreign field.

THIS MAY SEEM pretty funny coming from me. As editor of Shanghai's only American daily paper, I put out carloads of advice through the 1930s and into 1941, resuming this in late 1945 to keep talking in print till June 15, 1949, three weeks after the Communists overwhelmed us.

Moreover, I was a director of the board of the Shanghai American Chamber of Commerce through that whole postwar period. We sent many telegrams and letters of counsel both to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and to the government through the American consulate general. All hit the wastebasket.

NOBODY AS a rule asked for such advice from any of us. Whether they asked or not, never did anybody ever seem to heed it. The same, it has to be added, seemed true of our various able consuls-general such as Bob Smyth, and our ambassador in Nanking.

Mother back in Washington always seemed to know best. Anybody in the field who got too obstreperous in thinking he knew better was promptly called Red.

Many of the best in our foreign service got the axe as "pro-Communist" for reporting, accurately, that the Communists were gaining.

So we grew accustomed to being thought biased, involved in our own interests, not up to the minute or downright unpatriotic in the view of the home-fronters. When we returned we all had our brains pretty thoroughly picked by the FBI and even more super-secret interrogators who really had security down to a fine art; not even their bosses seemed to know what we'd said.

A very few found jobs in some way tied in with the field of foreign policy but seldom in outfits of any consequence such as the State Department.

ONE OF THE top onetime China businessmen can give you a fine lot of avacados if you drop by his home on La Habra Heights. The man from whom I bought fluid necessities of life in Shanghai now lives down the hill from me in Mill Valley and spends his time shooting birds in season.

Missionaries are all over, trying to be useful on the home front. A perfect plague of returned newsmen still hunt for news, seldom bearing on what we ought to know most about.

But if we're in Marin we're lucky, we know it, and we're not kicking.

San Rafael Cafe To Change Hands Effective Monday

New owners will take over the Manana restaurant at 1025 C street, San Rafael, Monday, with the new name, Ramona's.

Mrs. Viola A. Loobey, former owner, will turn over the restaurant to Mrs. Ramona Stallings of San Francisco, and Herman Snider of Los Angeles. Snider plans to move to Marin.

The new Ramona's will continue to specialize in Mexican food. Mrs. Stallings will use her 20-year experience in the restaurant business to supervise cooking of such specialties as huevos rancheros and enchiladas rancheros.

Mrs. Stallings has been a hostess at the Sinaloa and operator of the Blue Book in San Francisco.

Planners To Eye Maps Of Three Tracts

The Marin County Planning Commission will consider three tentative maps for subdivisions at its meeting Monday at 10 a.m. at the county office building, 1711 Grand avenue, San Rafael.

Also at Tiburon is a proposed 15-lot subdivision called Millwood Terrace unit two, northeast of the present Millwood Terrace unit one.

All the proposed subdivisions would be for single-family residences.

Builders of the Tara Hill tract are requesting permission to construct three streets which would not conform to county road, curb and sidewalk standards.

Street grades at Tara Hill and Millwood would not exceed 17 per cent; grades at Katlas would not exceed five per cent.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, April 28, the 118th day of the year, with 247 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1758, James Monroe, the fifth President of the United States, was born in Westmoreland County, Va.

In 1788 Maryland became the seventh state in the Union.

In 1789, mutiny broke out on the British ship Bounty and as a result Capt. William Bligh and 18 sailors were set adrift in a launch. They rowed more than 3,600 miles to Timor.

In 1878, Lionel Barrymore, American actor, was born.

In 1945, Italian patriots executed Benito Mussolini.

In 1952, a treaty signed by the United States and 47 other nations with Japan went into effect.

There Are Too Many Myths About Retarded Children Floating Around

Is there a retarded child in your neighborhood? A boy or girl whose mind is developing slowly? Then I'm writing to you today.

It is time to explode some myths about mentally retarded children.

Myth 1. "It's a disgrace to have a retarded child in your home." Don't you believe it! Many retarded boys and girls are victims of birth injury or disease. You could have a retarded child in your family, too. It is certainly no disgrace.

Myth 2. "All retarded children should be confined in institutions." That is wrong too. About 30 retarded children are born in every 1,000 births. At least 25 of them can be educated at school. Special classes should be provided for them. But they can learn. Probably only one in the 30 is so retarded that he needs nursing care in a hospital.

Myth 3. "Retarded children have criminal tendencies." That is cruelly wrong. If they are abused and mistreated the more aggressive retarded children may become delinquent. So will mistreated children of normal or superior ability. But if they're given love, acceptance and an appropriate education they'll be good citizens.

Myth 4. "Retarded children can't learn to support themselves." Wrong again! I checked on the first 20 children who had attended a special class for retarded pupils in a large school system. Fifteen years later every boy had a job. All the girls were married, or had jobs. They were getting along well. Only our most seriously retarded children can't learn to support themselves. Retarded boys and girls don't become captains of industry. But they are faithful workers. They hold down hundreds of regular jobs.

STOPPED OFF ON WAY TO CAPISTRANO

YUBA CITY (UPI)—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blaser complained yesterday that the rumpus room in their home is for the birds.

Saturday night, about 200 swallows came tumbling down the chimney into the fireplace—and they've been diving down every night since.

Mrs. Blaser said the speedy birds make the nightly visit even when there's a small fire burning in the fireplace. She said they fly away every morning.

The Blasers think they have a way of discouraging the visitors. They plan to close the damper tonight.

County Building Permit Total Hits $180,320

The department also issued permits for an estimated $238,255 in construction at Novato. The permits mostly were for new dwellings, swimming pools and repairs and additions.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

RUGGED RAILROAD—Diesels pull 64-car SDAE-T&T train through Carriso Gorge, on the road that skeptics said couldn't be built.

FRIENDLY GREETERS—Through the Mexican portion of the SDAE-T&T, children run and shout after the train as it passes through villages.

'Couldn't Be Built' Route Flourishing

Formally known as the San Diego and Arizona Eastern-Tijuana and Tecate, it's the road which skeptics said could never be built.

It took 12 years of hard, dangerous labor, but 41 years later the SDAE-T&T is still flourishing on a tortuous route between California and Mexico. (It never did get as far as the "Arizona Eastern" planned in its original name.)

GOLD SPIKE

A gold spike was pounded into place by builder John D. Spreckles on Dec. 1, 1919, marking completion of the road's 147 miles of desert and canyon country track.

The railway starts at San Diego, runs south to Tijuana, Mexico, swings east to Tecate and re-enters the United States through a tunnel at Lindero.

Cars thunder along one tremendous wooden trestle that rises 200 feet above its lowest foundation. The train leaves its apparent course in mid-air to plunge through 17 tunnels, two of them a half mile long.

RIDE CABOOSE

A freight road in California known as the SDAE, the line adds passengers on its route south of the border and becomes the T&T. They ride the caboose, sitting around a potbelly stove enroute.

All through the Mexican portion of its run, children chase and shout after the train as it rumbles through villages while men and women pause to wave at the engineer.

The railroad, part of the parent Southern Pacific system, operates two trains a day, carrying a hodgepodge of freight—pipe for Houston, olive barrels to Tijuana, canned goods for El Paso, barley for the Tecate brewery.

In 1958 the railroad grossed three million dollars.

Novato Board Starts Paring School Budget

The budget committee of the Novato Unified School District yesterday began "paring down" the first draft of the 1960-61 district budget with expectations the final budget will be ready for the trustees' approval by the middle of May.

Serving on the committee are chairman Eugene De Brecht, district business manager; Robert McKeay, Novato High School principal; Robert Patterson, Hill School principal; Charles Laveroni, Olive School principal; Ralph Giovanniello, district curriculum coordinator; and John Weston, high school instructor. Supt. William J. J. Smith is an ex-officio member.

At their regular meeting Tuesday night, trustees of the district were told by two members of the joint salary study committee, Leo Mindling and James Cuzner, that prospects for raising teacher pay scales were "very dim" unless additional funds become available.

Of an expected $117,000 in additional income for the 1960-61 fiscal year, all but $2,000 will go toward additional teachers and normal salary raises under the present pay scale, they said.

Smith said additional income was possible through several sources, including an increase in assessed valuation or through a possible underestimation of cash balance.

Included among additional manpower needs for next year were teachers, more hours of speech therapy, counseling services and teacher aides, Smith said.

"Some of the additional manpower could be accomplished through internal reorganization," he added.

The trustees formally authorized sale of $83,000 of school bonds to bring the district to its capacity of bonded indebtedness in order to qualify for state aid. The bonds were approved by the voters in an election in 1956.

Smith said a survey on housing now under way by the University of California is expected to be completed next week.

Smith said he intended using some of the UC survey figures in a talk tonight before the general membership of the Novato Chamber of Commerce at the high school cafeteria. Smith is scheduled to speak at the dinner meeting on population projection of the new city in relation to its schools.

The trustees, at a May 17 meeting, will hear a review of the district language arts program by members of the staff.

In other action, the board:

1. Set for May 3 a special meeting to consider purchase of property adjoining the high school site. The property, if purchased from Pomoway Corp., would be the site of a future elementary school.
2. Heard a progress report on the summer school program and was told that classes were being set up in response to a recent questionnaire returned by parents and students.
3. Officially approved tenure for 22 teachers and one district-level employee.
4. Was told by Trustee George Jennings, reporting from a recent meeting of the Marin County Committee in School District Organization, that the boundaries between San Jose and Novato districts adjoining Lynwood School would not be changed at this time.
5. Announced that the district policy manuel would probably be ready for adoption in its final form at the next regular board meeting, May 10.
6. Approved hiring a two-man team from the California Personnel Board to interview the district's non-teaching employees, including secretaries, bus drivers and janitors, to arrive at job classifications as an aid in setting new salary schedules.
7. Approved formation of a committee to study ways of naming new schools.

Use Of Hospital In March Highest In Its History

Marin General Hospital had the highest occupancy in its history in March, Marin County Hospital District trustees learned Tuesday night.

The previous high was in March, 1958. Last month the average daily census was 99.9. There were 156 babies born.

In March, 138 patients were admitted from South Marin, 164 from Ross Valley, 184 from San Rafael, 20 from Central Marin, 10 from Coastal Marin, 52 from north Marin and 24 from out of county.

Herman Hale was appointed to head the personnel committee again, and Charles Rowe was appointed to that committee.

S. Ames Pence, hospital administrator, and Mrs. Marion Ibach, board secretary, were absent, attending the Assn. of Western Hospitals conference in Los Angeles.

The board will hold an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. May 9.

Drake High Magazine Distribution Slated

The second edition of "Insight," Sir Francis Drake High School literary magazine, went to press last week and will be ready for distribution at the end of May, adviser Albert Lavin said.

The book will be on sale in the student store for 50 cents, according to editors Molly Murphy and Sherry Philippet.

After his graduation in 1957 from Tamalpais High School, Silva was a music scholarship winner when he was studying voice with Bella Resek of Mill H. Tucker, both of Mill Valley.

A baritone, he is now listed in the current "TV Guide," as a ballad singer.

Seven Marin artists will be represented in the 28th annual California Spring Garden and Homes Show in Oakland Saturday through May 8.

The show will be under the auspices of the Society of Western Artists. Marin artists represented are:

Novato Kiwanis Club Offers Scholarships

Novato's Kiwanis Club will again offer two college scholarships to graduates of Novato High School, it was decided at the club's meeting this week.

Scholarship winners, as in the past, will be suggested by school officials and chosen by a Kiwanis committee. They will receive $250 apiece toward tuition costs of a university or college of their choice.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT SABRINA?

Series Of School Measures, Other Bills Signed By Brown

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown yesterday signed into law an emergency measure to enable local school districts to finance fire safety alterations.

The new law permits school districts to raise their maximum tax rates for the next two fiscal years by not more than 2 per cent to pay for alterations certified by the state fire marshal and the state Department of Education.

The Assemblymen who authored the bill, Don Mulford (R-Oakland) and William Byron Rumford (D-Berkeley), said the measure was needed to repair two Berkeley schools termed unsafe by the fire marshal.

The governor also placed his signature on bills which:

"Permit foreign exchange students to attend Caliofrnia state colleges without the payment of admission and tuition fees (Assemblymen Clark L. Bradley (R-San Jose) and Bruce F. Allen (R-Los Gatos).

Exempt electrically driven motorcycles, tricycles and carts from payment of the $10 extra registration fee on electrically driven motor vehicles (Assemblyman Lee M. Backstrand (R-Riverside).

Given sanction in state law for the payment of fines for overtime parking by mail (Assemblyman Chet Wolfrum (R-Los Angeles).

Authorize additional state school building aid to school districts where site costs exceed the original apportionment and where the normal two-year period for an increase has expired (Sen. John A. Murdy Jr. (R-Santa Ana).

Tryouts For Shows

Tryouts for actors, singers and dancers for two musicals—Cole Porter's "Anything Goes" and Leroy Anderson's "Goldilocks"—will be held Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Gate Playhouse in Sausalito.

Road Realignment Plans Approved

Prints and preliminary realignment of 1.4 miles of the San Geronimo-Nicasio road near the projected Nicasio reservoir of Marin Municipal Water District were presented to the Marin County Board of Supervisors Tuesday by Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham, and promptly approved.

The work is to be done by contract under county supervision at cost estimated at $317,800, of which $100,000 will be provided by the county and the rest by the water district. The county share will come out of federal aid secondary road funds, Brigham said.

FIREMEN CAN'T FIND FIRE, IT'S IN FIREHOUSE

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The fires started like hundreds of others. The siren mechanism tripped and the piercing alarm brought out volunteers in the Kendale subdivision.

There was some delay in locating the blaze. Minutes passed. Nobody knew where the fire was.

Finally, flames became visible. But the 3rd District Volunteer Department firehouse and its only fire truck —an ancient Model A Ford— already were beyond help.

Bolinas Harbor Board To Hold Budget Meet

Bolinas Harbor District commissioners will take up the preliminary budget at their meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Bolinas Community Center.

A report will also be made by John A. Blume and Associates, San Francisco engineers, on a feasibility survey of the Bolinas Lagoon.

Blueberries Lose Out

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Authorities at Camp Drum, a National Guard training area, have made a hard choice: Loss of blueberries to get rid of mosquitoes.

The "mosquitoes or blueberries" decision was prompted by a plan to spray the camp area with an insecticide which makes the acres of wild blueberries unfit for human consumption.

Marin Warmly Greets De Gaulle

By CHAPIN A. DAY

Two Marin County Brownies extended the friendship of Marin County to the president of France yesterday afternoon.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle accepted a bouquet of blue iris, white cineraria and red geraniums from the girls just before he stepped aboard the Coast Guard cutter Taney at the Army Corps of Engineers Dock in Sausalito.

Dara Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woods of Sausalito, made the presentation, assisted by Susan Haas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haas Jr. of Sausalito.

Both girls are members of Brownie Troop 158. They, their troop leader, Mrs. Richard Cruickshank, and scores of other children and adults had waited for more than an hour along the route de Gaulle would take to the dock.

Only the two girls got a closeup look at the French president, as his caravan of big black sedans whizzed down the Waldo Grade along Bridgeway to the Marinship entrance by the Engineers' dock, and out onto the dock itself.

For de Gaulle, the visit to Marin was part of a whirlwind schedule which started at noon yesterday at San Francisco Airport and ended at the same place early this afternoon, after a morning spent in a leisurely motor trip down the San Francisco Peninsula.

The Marin portion of de Gaulle's Bay Area visit yesterday officially began when a sheriff's car carrying Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and police chiefs of several cities swung into line ahead of the caravan as it sped through the toll gates of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Traffic across the bridge was stopped as the caravan sped across, circled the Vista Point area and went on down the Waldo Grade toward the waiting cutter.

After de Gaulle had been piped aboard the Taney, she swung out into Richardson Bay, followed by two Coast Guard

Union Men Find Marin Living Costs Too High

Nearly one-third of the labor union members employed in Marin County live outside the county; well over half of those living elsewhere spend very little or none of their money here, and nearly half of them have no intention of ever moving here.

They live, and spend their money, elsewhere because they believe costs are too high in Marin.

These facts were disclosed in a survey just completed by the Marin County Labor Council, results of which were announced today by Hugh Cassidy, the council's secretary-treasurer.

"For some years," said a Labor Council statement accompanying the tabulation of results, "organized labor in Marin County has been increasingly concerned that an ever-larger proportion of its membership resides outside the county and commutes into Marin County every day to work.

"As this is a problem which concerns not only the worker and his union, but other segments of the Marin County economy such as the merchant, the builder, the professions, to name a few, the Marin County Labor Council undertook to make a study of the subject."

What the council found tends to bear out an often-heard observation that "the executives live in Marin and commute to San Francisco; the workers live elsewhere and commute to Marin."

Members of seven unions were polled in making the survey. The three with the least out-of-county residents were Retail Clerks 1119, Laborers 291 and Bartenders and Culinary Workers 126, each with 20 per cent non-resident membership. Highest non-resident membership was 46 per cent in Plasterers and Cement Masons Local 355, followed by 41 per cent in Hospital and Institutional Workers 250. Carpenters Union Local 35 had 29.3 per cent non-resident members, and Machinists Lodge 238 had 29 per cent.

The average time that all these had worked in Marin while living elsewhere was five years, eight months.

Fifty-three per cent of them "would like to move or will move to Marin." Forty-one per cent said they definitely would

Turkish Students Riot, Fight Police

Military Law Put In Effect

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — Student-led riots against the government broke out today in the major cities of Turkey and the government imposed martial law.

The riots began in Istanbul and spread swiftly to Ankara, the capital; to Izmir, the Aegean seaport city which is NATO area headquarters, and to Erzurum, in eastern Turkey, site of Ataturk University.

THREE KILLED

Three students were reported killed in Istanbul and scores wounded when police fired into their midst after tear gas, warning rifle volleys and charges by mounted policemen failed to break up the demonstrations.

The crowds retaliated by stoning police and several were reported injured, three seriously.

The rioting quickly spread to Ankara, and there were demands that Premier Adnan Menderes resign. He canceled a trip to the CENTO conference in Tehran because of the crisis.

FIGHTING SPREADS

The fighting in Istanbul started at Istanbul University and spread to Beyazit Square, where mounted police moved in on the students only to be met by cunning and more violence.

Many youths surged forward and poked lighted cigarettes into the horses' flanks, causing many animals to plunge and rear. Some horses bolted, throwing their police riders to the ground.

One of the mounted officers who fell after being hit by a stone was trampled by the mob and injured seriously.

WITHHOLD FIRE

The police were armed with pistols and tommyguns but eyewitnesses said they held their fire until the students began stoning and trampling them.

The demonstration started as a protest against new government laws giving unprecedented powers to parliamentary comittees. These laws give pro-government committees powers to investigate and arrest members of the opposition.

Many of the committees' powers were thought by the students to usurp the judiciary and the military.

BUS FIRE DIDN'T UNNERVE THEM — Edna Maguire School eighth graders emerged smiling after the engine of their school bus caught fire in the middle of the Golden Gate Bridge today. House Vote Passes Demo Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today passed a billion-dollar Democratic housing bill after defeating a Republican attempt to scuttle it with a civil rights amendment. The vote was 214 to 163.

The measure, which was sent to the Senate, is almost certain to be vetoed if it reaches the President because it would pump one billion dollars in mortgage money out of the Treasury to stimulate home building.

On the crucial test, northern and Southern democrats stood firm to defeat on a 235 to 139 roll call vote an 11th hour attempt by Republicans to attach a civil rights amendment. The amendment previously had been rejected earlier by a non-record 126 to 83 teller vote.

The rejected amendment would have barred racial discrimination among buyers of the estimated 70,000 new houses the bill would finance. Its adoption would have alienated Southern Democratic supporters, enabling Republican foes to defeat the bill on final passage.

The housing measure was assailed by conservatives as "fiscally irresponsible." Backers said the billion-dollar shot-in-the-arm for the housing industry was necessary to protect the economy against the possibility of an economic recession.

The vote was the third consecutive defeat for Republican foes of the measure.

Lawyers For Chessman To Visit Brown

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown agreed to see two of Caryl Chessman's attorneys today.

A. L. Wirin of the American Civil Liberties Union and Rosalie Asher, Sacramento attorney, were given an appointment to plead for the prisoner who is due to die in the gas chamber Monday.

Wirin told reporters he intends to ask Brown to seek clemency for Chessman through the state Supreme Court.

Brown said at his news conference this week that he believes to ask the court to reconsider its 4-3 decision against Chessman "would be an unwarranted executive attempt to exercise influence on the judiciary."

Brown said the meeting would be private and probably would be about 2 p.m., although no definite time had been fixed.

Beverly's Mother Must Stand Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mrs. Florence Aadland was ordered today to stand trial on five counts of contributing to the delinquency of her 17-year-old daughter, Beverly.

The 53-year-old platinum-haired divorcee must appear May 12 in superior court for arraignment on the charge. The misdemeanor counts each are punishable by up to a year in county jail. She is free on $1,050 bail.

FORECAST FOR NORTH STATE: FAIR, WARMER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fair and warmer is the outlook throughout tomorrow, at least, in Northern and Central California.

The skies should clear tonight, forecaster W. J. Denny said today, but there may be widely scattered snow fluries in the mountains tomorrow with some cloudiness on the north coast.

The trend, Denny said, is for lightly higher daytime temperature.

Novato Man Badly Hurt In Car Crash

A Radio Corp. of America executive was seriously injured today when his car went off a rural Marin road and crashed into a ravine.

Frank Geisel, 58, of 54 Grove lane, Novato, manager of the radio marine division of RCA at Inverness, was injured as he drove to work along Pt. Reyes Station-Petaluma road.

Geisel lay in the wreckage for more than an hour before an unidentified passing motorist summoned help.

California Highway Patrolman Richard Topham said the accident happened about 7:30 a.m., a mile south of Nicasio. Topham said the front seat of Geisel's two-door sedan had to be ripped away before the man could be moved to an ambulance.

Geisel's car left the road at a curve, crashed through a fence and stopped at the bottom of a 15-foot deep ravine, 150 feet from the road.

Mme. De Gaulle Visits Muir Woods Monument

Mme. Charles de Gaulle visited Muir Woods National Monument at 11 a.m. today in a party arranged by the State Department.

Lawson H. Brainerd, supervising ranger, said Mme. de Gaulle walked up as far as Cathedral Grove and was particularly interested in damage to trees by fire which had taken place many years ago.

School Bus Fire Ends Students' Field Trip

A field trip ended abruptly for 57 eighth grade pupils of Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley today when the school bus in which they were riding caught fire in the middle of the Golden Gate Bridge.

When clouds of smoke started to curl up around the rear of the bus, driver Harold Kordik of 11 Meadow drive, Mill Valley, stopped the bus and "let the youngsters out as fast as they could go."

Kordik then raced back with a fire extinguisher to the end of the bus, opened the door to find flames reaching up from the engine, and doused the fire.

From that point on, the children's field trip, with their teacher Mrs. Barnette Robinson and six mothers, was a walk across the bridge to Vista Point. The bus was given a push by the Golden Gate Bridge crew truck.

A witness to the fire was Mme. Charles de Gaulle, wife of the president of France, who was heading north across the bridge to visit Muir Woods National Monument when the bus began to smoke.

The only injury, if it could be called that, was a "hot seat" for Thomas Carter of 6 Alvarado avenue, who had been sitting at the rear of the bus.

The two classes, according to Mrs. Robinson, were on their way to San Francisco, having left school at 9:30 a.m. to visit the history room of Wells Fargo Bank, the stock market and the Federal Reserve Bank.

Kordik said he was having trouble with the big yellow bus. At the bridge toll plaza, he decided to return to Mill Valley. The fire broke out about 10:25 a.m.

Supt. G. Robert McConnell sent another bus to the Vista Point area to take the students back.

The mothers on the trip were Mrs. Irvin Sutley Jr., Mrs. E. C. Reynolds, Mrs. J. E. Rutledge, Mrs. A. R. Carter, Mrs. Howard Aunapu and Mrs. Philip Heynan of Mill Valley.

The Sausalito Fire Department sent a truck to the scene but the fire had been put out when it arrived.

For Better Education

Foes Of Unification Organize For Fight

By DONALD G. DAVIS

"In view of the extreme unlikelihood of any possibility of tax savings, there is only one proper basis on which unification proposals should be considered: On the basis of whether they would improve, or hurt, the educational program."

These are the words of James Dorais of Greenbrae, formerly a member of the Lagunitas School District board and the county school district organization committee.

And he echoes the well-intentioned and well thoughtout views of many school-minded persons.

He calls the "monolithic nature of the (educational) system" the "one thing responsible" for the weaknesses of public schools.

Recently a nonprofit organization was formed to fight unification. It calls itself the California Small School Districts Assn., and is headed by Carlyle T. Benson of Angwin.

The organization claims that the law requiring master plans for unification by 1963 will destroy dozens of small school districts, and thus destroy a parent's control over the education of his children.

CSSDA claims the law makes it mandatory for a county "to study your school district and make proposals which will abolish it." The organization further asserts that another school district's voters can vote yours out of existence.

If no district among a number proposed for unification has a majority of the voters in the total area, then a simple majority of the vote for the area as a whole is all that is necessary to unify. However, if any district has more than half the total vote, unification must carry both in that district and in the rest of the area as a whole. It need not, however, carry in every one of the smaller districts. Thus, the smaller districts individ-

Votes In 2 States Give Nixon, Kennedy Boosts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's political stock climbed today on the strength of some Republican voting dividends in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

But a Democratic attack in Congress threatened to cancel out some of his rise in prestige as a result of being named as President Eisenhower's possible alternate at the approaching summit conference.

Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) moved up several notches on the Democratic presidential nomination board. Kennedy demonstrated by a write-in count of more than 175,000 votes that he is the favorite of rank and file party members who took the trouble to vote in Tuesday's Pennsylvania primary. Kennedy's total was nearly three-fourths of the write-ins for all Democratic candidates.

This showing could have a deep effect on the state's 81-vote convention delegation, headed by Gov. David L. Lawrence. Lawrence has been one of the holdouts in Kennedy's attempt to get his bandwagon rolling.

Unopposed on the GOP presidential preference ballot, Nixon rolled up a tremendous 944,000 vote count, which could surpass the 951,932 given President Eisenhower in 1956 when the count is completed.

Nixon went about as far as he could go toward making it certain that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York will not be the beneficiary of a draft movement at the convention. Rockefeller, who says he isn't an entry, got less than 11,000 write-in votes in second place, with returns still incomplete.

Where both were write-in beneficiaries in the Massachusetts balloting, Nixon was a 12 to 1 choice over Rockefeller.

Kennedy collected 95,914 write-ins, but the apathy registered when only about 6½ per cent of his home state's voters turned out was not lost on the politicians. In both states Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the party's choice, trailed far behind Kennedy.

For Nixon the news was not all as pleasant as that from Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

Fifty-five House Democrats and two of their Senate colleagues assailed as transparently political Eisenhower's designation of him as a possible stand-in if the President has to leave to take care of "domestic requirements" before the summit conference ends.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he might have to come home to direct personally studies on whether he should veto or approve important legislation passed by the Democratic Congress.

He said he had told the other heads of state he might have to ask Nixon to sit in for him for a few days, "but that doesn't mean I expect him to be there."

The House Democrats said in a statement that Eisenhower should explain "why during this election year he has suddenly decided to relinquish his job as President to the candidate he has endorsed as his successor."

"By this obvious and transparent partisan move, the Republican administration has subordinated the hopes of Americans and free men everywhere for peace in the political ambitions of Vice President Nixon," the House members said.

Solons Feel Clark Tied To Payola

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three House members said today they have little or no doubt that Dick Clark is involved in payola.

Clark, a network TV disc jockey, says he has not taken undercover payments or favors for promoting records.

A witness testified yesterday that Clark had received $31,575 for advising a record firm on what tunes would sell well. He also said Clark was allowed to buy a one-fourth interest in a Philadelphia record firm for $125—an interest he said Clark sold last year for about $15,000.

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Fla.), a member of the House subcommittee which is looking into broadcasting practices, said today "it appears Clark took a very profitable form of payola."

Clark, a favorite of many teen-agers is due to appear tomorrow before the House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee. But his name has come up often during two days of reopened hearings on undercover influences that may control the kind of music heard on the nation's airwaves.

T-Men Raid Bookie Joints In 50 Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — With stopwatch precision, U. S. Treasury agents invaded backroom bookie joints and numbers rooms in nearly 50 cities across the country yesterday.

The T-Men, after weeks and months of careful investigation, sprang their traps at more than 80 separate locations—backrooms of candy stores, taverns, private suburban homes, hotel rooms. In a few cases their quarry temporarily escaped the net.

The basis for the raids was this: Under federal law any gambler must purchase a $50 tax stamp from the government, even if gambling is illegal in his state. If he doesn't have the stamp, he faces a maximum five-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine.

Though they found some evidence of connections between widely separated gambling operations, officials said, there was no immediate proof that any were tied together in a nationwide crime syndicate.

Liberties Unit Holds Membership Drive

The first membership drive of the Marin chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union of Northern California was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Werthimer, Kentfield.

TEHRAN TALKS OPEN

U.S. Support Pledged To Middle East Allies

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter told members of the Central Treaty Organization today the United States will continue to give strong support to their alliance against Communism.

The United States sponsored the organization when it was was formed several years ago, but did not become a full member. It has separate alliances with several CENTO members, and Herter said America's indirect CENTO ties will continue in the interests of world peace.

He said President Eisenhower is going to next month's summit meeting in Paris as part of his "unswerving quest for peace."

The shah of Iran welcomed the ministers and declared that CENTO's three Moslem members—Iran, Pakistan and Turkey—stand solidly behind their Western allies.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain gave the CENTO members an outline of three Western objectives for the summit meeting.

"Firstly, a genuine and concrete beginning along the road to comprehensive disarmament under effective international control.

"Secondly, an agreement to suspend nuclear tests, also under international control.

"Thirdly, evidence by deed as well as word that the great powers are not going to interfere in the internal affairs of other countries by threats or pressures of any sort."

The three-day discussions with allies strung across the gap between West European NATO and the Far Eastern SEATO alliance were regarded as an important step for the United States and Britain before confronting Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Paris.

Although not a formal member of CENTO, the United States is aligned both militarily and economically with the alliance made up of Iran, Turkey, Pakistan and Britain. CENTO is an offshoot of the Baghdad Pact. The name was changed after Iraq withdrew.

The 24-member U. S. delegation is the largest here for the eighth session of the alliance's ministerial council. After the public opening, the talks through Saturday will be behind closed doors.

Bid Beats Estimate On Greenbrae Wye

The state Division of Highways today opened bids on the estimated million-dollar completion of the Greenbrae traffic interchange on Highway 101.

Announced in Sacramento as the low bidder was Peter Kiewit Sons Co. of San Francisco at $964,351. The construction will involve about seven tenths of a mile of highway interchange in the area where Corte Madera and Larkspur meet near the Greenbrae intersection.

Included in the project is removal of the old four-lane highway bridge over Corte Madera Creek, construction of new bridges over the creek which will serve as northbound off-ramp connections to Sir Francis Drake boulevard, and construction of other ramp and frontage road connections.

Also included is resurfacing of a short section of the freeway and completion of the reconstruction of Sir Francis Drake boulevard through the interchange area. Seven bids were received. Amounts of other bids were not announced.

At the same time the California Highway Commission approved a $64,000 expenditure for a two-lane bridge and approaches at Miller Creek on Lucas Valley road.

The project is one of eight just approved on federal aid secondary county roads throughout the state.

Brigham said this is part of a realignment project of the road near the county farm and hospital. In reworking the road to the north, it crosses county property. He said plans for the bridge were drawn up by his department, and were approved last week by the state. He said the state would call for bids on the project.

Brigham added that federal funds also will be used to complete the realignment project. Federal funds are available, he said, because Lucas Valley road, which connects Highway 101 with San Geronimo-Nicasio road, is considered a farm-to-market road.

SPECIALISTS SEE DANGER IN SIMPLIFICATION

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some education specialists are afraid proposed simplification of teacher credentials will threaten their security.

School nurses, industrial education teachers and speech and hearing specialists testified before the Senate Committee on Education headed by Sen. Donald Grunsky (R-Watsonville).

The legislators are getting opinions from teachers and educators on a proposal to cut the types of teacher credentials from 39 to five.

Thomas B. Merson, chairman of the California Junior College Assn. Committee on Credential Revision, said reducing the number of credenial types might lead to over-simplification in teacher training.

Meeting Postponed

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission meeting scheduled last night was postponed to tonight at 7:30 because of lack of a quorum. It is to be held at the town hall.

Hearing Slated On Plan To Close Hamilton Flats

The San Francisco district of the Army Corps of Engineers today scheduled a meeting to hear both sides in the controversy over closing of a section of San Pablo Bay because it is near a small arms range at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The meeting was set for 1:30 p.m. May 12 in the wing conference room of the 78th Fighter Wing Headquarters, Building 433, at Hamilton.

In making the announcement, Lt. Col. V. K. Sanders, acting district engineer, said: "Local groups of sportsmen have expressed strong opposition to the proposal. To explore the possibility of effecting an equitable arrangement for joint use of the area, it is proposed to hold an informal meeting with representatives of the principal groups whose interest might be affected by this action."

Approximately 500 postcards and other written protests were received by the district. Among those protesting were the state Department of Fish and Game, state Division of Small Craft Harbors, state Land Commission, Marin Rod and Gun Club and Wildlife, Inc.

Earlier this month a compromise was attempted at a meeting between members of the rod and gun club and the Air Force, but no agreement was reached.

Russell Waldron, commander of the Western Air Transport Force at Travis Air Force Base; Rear Adm. Ira Eskridge, head of Western Area Coast Guard and commander of the 12th Coast Guard district.

Monroe was graduated from the Naval Academy and rose from ensign to his present rank in 1956. He has been assigned to ships from a seaplane tender to an attack carrier.

Monroe was commander of the Middle East Force in 1956 and took over command of the missile range in 1957.

He enlisted in the Army Air Corps as a private in 1930, was later appointed a flying cadet. Today he commands the Western Air Transport Force at Travis.

Seminary Reception Honors Graduates

A president's reception was to be held this afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary to honor the 80 students who are to be graduated at the Strawberry Point campus tomorrow.

President Harold K. Graves was to receive the 1960 graduates and their families at his home on the campus.

Marin Mayors Hear Talk On Bay Assn. Plan

Formation of a nine-county, 83-city association of Bay Area governments, the air defense of the North American Continent and charcoal broiled steaks were the highlights of last night's meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Novato, the county's youngest city, was host for the monthly meeting at which all of the county's 10 cities except Corte Madera and Belvedere were represented.

BERKELEY SESSION

Speaking on the formation of a proposed federation of the counties and cities in the Bay Area was San Rafael Mayor John F. McInnis. He urged attendance of all the cities' representatives at a meeting in the Hotel Claremont in Berkeley next Thursday for further discussion of the federation.

The proposed government association, according to McInnis, would be a "clearing house" for solution of problems common to all Bay Area government bodies. Cost of the organization would be borne by all members on a percentage basis. The body would have no power other than being "a forum for initiation and investigation of new projects" affecting all the local governments, McInnis said.

DEFENSE TALK

Lt. Col. L. D. Horner of the Western Air Defense Force at Hamilton gave a talk, illustrated with slides, on North American air defense, showing the role of Hamilton Air Force Base in the national pattern.

Mayor Arthur W. Kanzee of Ross announced a meeting of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board selection committee had been set for May 9 at 10 a.m. in the chambers of the Marin County Board of Supervisors. Kanzee has represented the Marin cities on the board since November, 1955.

Sheriff To Talk At Bolinas Dinner Meet

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos will speak on "Vandalism in West Marin" at a potluck dinner meeting of the Bolinas Beach Improvement Club at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Mesa Clubhouse.

Frank A. Fuller, improvement club president, today reminded members that a "paint party" is scheduled May 7 at 1 p.m. and May 8 at 10 a.m. to paint the clubhouse.

Treasurer's Budget Passed By Board

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon delved into the lengthy Department of Public Works budget, then set it aside to give approval to the tax collector-treasurer budget.

It was a relatively quiet afternoon, with Supervisor William D. Fusselman sticking to a promise made in the morning that he would not vote on any increment of the proposed budget. His vow was taken after a squabble with Supervisor Vera Schultz.

The board will meet again at 9 a.m. tomorrow and continue budget deliberations Monday. The board may finish most of its preliminary skirmish with the budget sometime next week.

The document will then be revised into the final budget, and public hearings on it will be set. Final adoption will not come until late in the summer, after the assessment rolls have been equalized.

The proposed tax collector-treasurer budget of $109,928 was approved. This is an increase over the current fiscal year estimated expenditure of $102,002, and compares with $93,424 spent during the 1958-59 fiscal year.

M. F. (Frank) Donohue, tax collector-treasurer, asked in addition that at least one of his leading assistants be given salary range increase, but the supervisors sidestepped the request until they learn whether there are similar requests in other department budgets.

Most of the smaller segments of the Department of Public Works budget were approved, but consideration of the large road budget was postponed, probably until tomorrow.

Approved was a $115,821 budget for engineering services, an increase of approximately $1,000 above the current year's expenditures. Included is $15,000 for the Richardson Bay survey. Deleted was $267 for a camera and projector which had been budgeted but not recommended by County Administrator Donald A. Jensen. Jensen said the camera probably would have been used to make records of traffic. He said a projector could be borrowed from another department, and supervisors' chairman Walter R. Castro said a camera could be rented.

Marvin W. Brigham, director of the department, made no defense of the item.

Brigham said many requests come from various other departments during the year for engineering services, maintenance and other services performed by his department. He said he asked that they be placed in the budget so that they can be decided by the board, not by him.

Set up for the first time, and approved, was a county garage budget that pertains to all vehicles except those of the county fire department and some at the county hospital and farm.

This formerly was a revolving fund not requiring a budget except for capital outlay for new equipment. Jensen said the change is being adopted by all counties with county garages, and will allow comparisons among counties.

A proposed $282,014 budget was reduced to $280,214, reflecting the deletion of an automobile for the agricultural commissioner's office. But the supervisors indicated the item may be put back in later. Among new equipment will be a chipper, a machine that grinds up brush cleared from roadsides.

Also approved was a building maintenance division budget of $165,185, reduced from a proposed $181,865. Deleted was some money believed necessary for leasing activities, a $900 item for the removal of a plate glass window at the county garage and approximately $6,000 in changes and repairs at juvenile hall.

A building inspection division budget of $64,119, and a flood control division budget of $2,840 were approved.

Still to be considered in the works budget are those segments concerning parks and recreation, garbage disposal and roads.

The parks budget probably will not be considered until after the board has made an on-the-spot inspection of park projects with the county recreation commission. This trip tentatively has been set for the afternoon of May 9.

Man Denies Baby Was In His Care

Johnnie O. Howe, 29, of 922 B street, San Rafael, wanted to make it known today that he did not agree to care for a neighbor's infant baby boy, who has since been taken from his parents and placed in a receiving home.

Howe explained that the infant's mother, Mrs. Diana N. Fields, asked him to look after her eight-month-old son Monday morning, but he did not agree to do so.

Police later learned that the mother was gone all day, leaving the ill and bruised child on a makeshift bed consisting of an armchair pushed up against the wall. The infant was taken to a hospital for care, and later placed in a receiving home by the Marin County Welfare Department.

JUST GIVE 'EM A BANDWAGON TO JUMP ON

"One good jump practically shook my teeth loose when I came down," Councilman Karl Rundberg said yesterday.

Council president John S. Gibson Jr. said the bouncing is "a shattering experience and not for a person my age."

Councilman James C. Corman: "I tried one and had a hard time even standing up."

San Rafael Planners Slate Special Meeting

Should a new subdivision of 20 homes be permitted to go up in the Dominican area of San Rafael?

This question will be taken up at a special public meeting of the San Rafael Planning Commission, set for 4:30 p.m. tomorrow at the planning office in the city hall annex. The planning office is located on Fifth avenue near B street, across the street from the Elks Club.

Merz Brothers wants to put in the 20 homes along Glen Park avenue between Myrtle avenue and Hacienda court. The area is zoned for single family dwellings.

The matter was on the agenda for the regular meeting Tuesday night but was withdrawn and placed on the agenda for tomorrow's special meeting.

Four other small subdivisions are also on the agenda for the special meeting.

John Mountz wants a two-lot subdivision on Lillian lane.

Mabel Murphy seeks three lots on West Crescent drive.

John Land wants to put in two homes on Sirard lane.

SHORELINE PLAYGROUND, 100 MILES LONG, SEEN

Park Chief Pictures Recreation Area Running Length Of Marin

The chief of the state Division of Beaches and Parks today pictured a "100-mile shoreline playland" which would reach the length of Marin County from the Golden Gate to the Sonoma coast.

Charles D. DeTurk foresaw such a development in a speech prepared for presentation to the American Shore and Beach Preservation today in Santa Monica.

He suggested that the state and federal government cooperate in the establishment of a 56,000 acre Pt. Reyes park and urged the government not to sell any of the military establishments flanking the Golden Gate to private operators for residential development.

In a series of proposal for "saving California's shrinking shoreline," DeTurk also said he:

1. Hopes to lease the 17½-mile-long beach at Camp Pendleton Marine Base near Oceanside for a public park.

2. Intends to fight Division of Highway plans to relocate Highway 101 along the beach at Pacific Palisades.

DeTurk said the California's seashore is "shrinking in beauty, in public access, in actual size. We hope we can reverse this trend in the near future."

Praising the scenic, recreational, historic and biological excellence of the Pt. Reyes area, DeTurk said he is "especially hopeful" it will become a national seashore area or reserve.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, he noted, has called for joint federal-state financing of the Pt. Reyes area on a 50-50 basis "with the area to be managed as a part of the state park system."

"We shall move ahead with this project as best we can within the financial limitations regretfully placed upon us," DeTurk assured his audience. "I say regretfully because time is not with us in the saving of these lands. We must buy within the decade ahead or lose them forever."

If both the Pt. Reyes project and the Golden Gate park project proceed and the holdings "can be combined with present holdings in that particular area, there would be no other park in the United States which could rival the area for beauty and true magnificence.

"From the Golden Gate, all the way around the hook to the Sonoma Coast, about 100 miles of shoreline will be a playland."

"We are hopeful, in this regard, that the federal government will pursue its intentions of assisting the coastal states in acquiring shoreline properties," DeTurk declared.

On the Golden Gate, he noted progress in state efforts to secure surplus federal lands for park purposes. But he said the federal government recently decided "that part of the Golden Gate property is too valuable for park land, and should be sold to the highest bidder."

"To me," he said, "it is inconceivable that in a state where the population is expanding at the tremendous 500,000 persons per year that a few feet of property, whose beauty and historic value is unmatched in the romantic history of California, should be considered too valuable for public use for a park."

Leasing the Camp Pendleton beach, he said, would provide a "popular and most enchanting park."

"It is an obvious and well-known fact that the Marines and Navy do not use very much of the coast line," he said. However, he said he couldn't assess the possibilities of a lease, since the idea is only "in the discussion stage."

His argument with the highway division over U.S. 101 is based on its plans to relocate the road around the palisades slide area. DeTurk says it should be on the bluff instead of closer to the beach.

The highway division says the beach route would be cheaper but DeTurk argued that "nothing is more valuable than our shoreline."

Hearing Slated On Synagogue Plans For Santa Venetia

The Marin County Planning Commission Monday will hold a public hearing on an application for a use permit by Congregation Rodef Sholom to build a synagogue at Santa Venetia.

The application also is for a social hall, office and Sunday school.

The synagogue would be located opposite the Santa Venetia Elementary School. Rabbi Morton Hoffman of San Rafael said architects for the building are just beginning to draw plans for construction on the three-acre site.

Youth Recreation Program Finishes

The youth physical fitness program, sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation and Park Department, has been completed for the year. The 26-week Saturday morning program was attended by an average of 200 grammar school age children each Saturday.

The program, designed to introduce children to a variety of sports, games and social activities, will be held again beginning in September.

The girls swimming and diving class scheduled for Saturday will not be held since the swimming pool will be used for a high school student body activity.

Dixie District Charts Program For Gifted

A broad program designed to "get out of teaching for the average" in the Dixie School District was laid down by the district trustees last night.

This program, recommended by Supt. Dennie B. Willis, represents what the trustees want to do with a total of $82,558 to be realized if the voters concur June 7 on raising the tax rate from $1.83 to $2.45 per $100 assessed valuation.

It presumes a continuation of the present level of valuation, which works out at $5,300 per child in the district.

Three categories contain the main proposed outlays as charted by the trustees: Teachers' salaries would rise by $28,500 primarily to provide for five more teachers of specialized function rather than to dilute the present setup of about 30 pupils per teacher, principals and supervision expenditures would rise by $9,540 primarily to provide a new curriculum supervisor; and the library would be strengthened by $14,053 spent for books and equipment.

Willis said today that the curriculum director and the extra teachers would provide new service in two fields, giving special advanced work for the more gifted pupils, and helping to increase achievement among those with ability but presently inadequate performance.

The trustees will meet with five groups of citizens at 8 p.m. next Monday at the Bernard Hoffman School to explain the program in detail.

Salaries of both Willis and his assistant were raised by the trustees, 10 resignations were received, tenure was granted to six, contract continuations were given to 51, and contracts were offered to six.

Willis' pay went up $1,000 to $12,500 a year and Joseph Goff, assistant superintendent, was raised $500 to $10,500.

Resignations due to departure from Marin or to family needs were accepted from Mrs. Ruth Giovanniello, school nurse, and the following teachers: Mrs. Shirley Waddell and Mrs. Dorothy Eastman, both with seventh and eighth grades at Vallecito School; Mrs. Virginia Mundt, second and third grade and Mrs. Frances Hughes, first grade, at Lucas Valley School; Mrs. Christine Fennie, second grade at Santa Margarita School; Mrs. Claire Auslen, fourth grade, Mrs. Constance Kelley, second grade, and Mrs. Barbara Comer, kindergarten, at Mary E. Silveira School; Mrs. Miriam Tardy, first grade at Bernard Hoffman School.

Tenure was granted to Donald Thieler, principal, Mrs. Gladys Black, fifth and sixth grades, and Mrs. Helen Dutt, kindergarten teacher, at Silveira School; Mrs. Marjorie Beyer, fourth grade at Santa Margarita School; Mrs. Alma Covey, fourth grade at the Hoffman School; and Mrs. Meredith Hartzell, eighth grade at the Vallecito School.

Contracts were offered to the following: Mrs. Suzanne Ernst, Peter Nelson and Elroy Munson, all to Vallecito School; Mrs. Celeste Fulton, and Harold Milam, to Santa Margarita School, and Elizabeth Schnizler, Silveira School.

Novato Area Growth To Be Discussed

Novato's growth problems will be reviewed by representatives of the area's five major districts at a Novato Chamber of Commerce membership dinner meeting tonight at the Novato High School cafeteria.

Chamber president Alfred W. Bowman will introduce the five speakers, who will report on expectations of growth for the next 20 years and a review of plans to meet the population increase.

The speakers will be Wayne Womack, the new city's first mayor; William J. J. Smith, Novato Unified School District superintendent; R. C. Briggs, Novato fire district commissioner; Al Tresch, manager of Novato Sanitary District, and Jerome B. Gilbert, manager and chief engineer of North Marin Water District.

Tickets for the 7 p.m. dinner have been mailed to all chamber members. The meeting is open to the public.

Nicaragua has had nine constitutions since 1838. The present constitution, in force since 1950, set up a system similar to the United States with legislative, executive and judicial branches. The legislature, unlike most in Central America, has an upper and lower house.

PRISONER UNDER THE INFLUENCE; WAS STUFF BOTTLED IN BONDS?

Guards found he was drunk, with a distinct smell of alcohol on his breath. This morning, prison officials still had not found the source of the convict's illegal glow.

Wall was taken to a detention cell, where he later slashed his wrists with a razor blade. He was reported in good condition today in the prison infirmary, although his wounds required 25 stitches.

Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff said the slashing probably resulted from "depression" after Wall was found "inebriated." He had been scheduled to go before the Adult Authority Monday as a first move to possible freedom. The appointment was canceled.

Wall entered the prison in 1955, having been sentenced in Orange County for writing fictitious checks. He was paroled in 1957 and re-entered the prison in May of last year as a parole violator after again writing worthless checks.

The population of Asia is increasing by 30 million people a year, according to a National Geographic Society survey.

Brown Asks Study Of Space Use In State Buildings

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown, indicating the state may be wasting space, has called for a study of the use of space in all state buildings.

"It is evident that a more effective job can be done in space utilization in our state buildings," he said.

The governor asked John E. Carr, state finance director, to make a complete study and give him a progress report by July 1.

"I am much more interested in devoting our state financial resources to programs to benefit the people than I am in spending money on imposing edifices," Brown said.

He asked Carr to include both present and future buildings.

Saving-Loan Assn. Has New Owner

Lawrence Weissberg has purchased the Sausalito Savings and Loan Assn. at 675 Bridgeway from the former stockholders.

Weissberg, who lives in San Francisco, is president of the Lodi Savings and Loan Assn. The offer to buy was made about one month ago and the deal was completed Tuesday.

Walter J. Swenson, executive vice president and manager of the association, said Weissberg has informed him that he intends to keep the present staff as well as some of the former directors.

CRUCIAL CHURCH TEST

Racial Issue May Split Methodists

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A racially partitioned church structure, which enabled Northern and Southern Methodists to unite 20 years ago, today loomed as a possible wedge that could drive them apart again.

This was the crucial issue faced by the nation's largest Protestant denomination, as the quadriennial Methodist General Conference went into its first session on the matter.

On the eve of the test, bishops of the Church said last night that the outcome will have a greater effect than any other conference decision on the present and future strength of Methodism "in America and beyond."

Up for consideration was a complex, explosive report on racial policy, drawn up by a 70-member commission in a four-year, $200,000 study that involved public hearings in 24 cities across the country.

It recommends continuance of a separate administrative jurisdiction for Negroes, arguing that this gives them the strongest voice in top echelons of the church. But the system is keenly opposed by some Northerners as a "symbol of segregation."

On the other hand, the report also proposed linking jurisdictional affairs, both white and Negro, more closely with the over-all church government. This feature is strongly protested by some Southerners as an invasion of regional autonomy.

Marked Marin Scenic Route Is Proposed

1. A "Dollars for Drake" fund drive to raise $15,000 to $20,000 for a bronze statue of the explorer, commemorating his visit to Marin nearly 400 years ago;

2. A $12,000 per year publicity and advertising campaign suggested by Walter J. Brown, San Francisco publicist who lives in Ross, and,

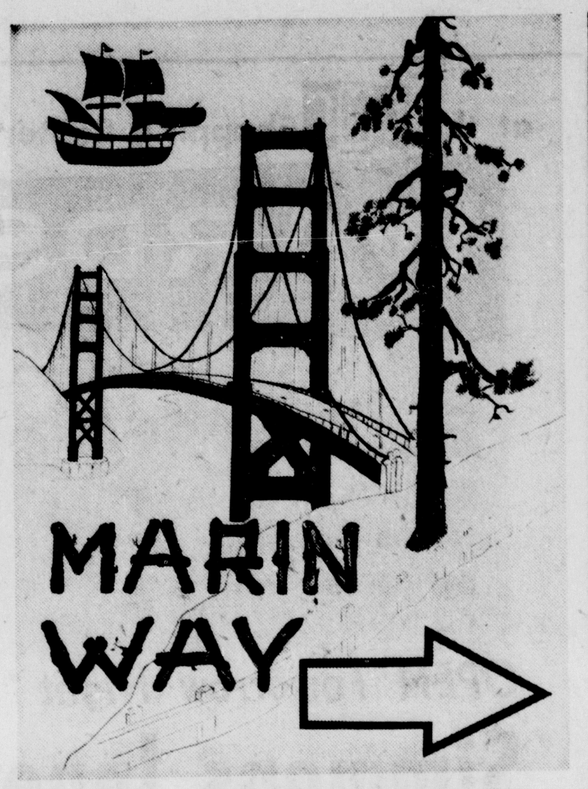
3. A plea by Col. Ross F. Black, 6th Army intelligence officer who resides in Terra Linda, for establishing a "Marin way" scenic drive touring points of interest to visitors in the county, with signs designating the route and each of the points of interest.

Colonel Black is serving on the arrangements committee for the Reserve Officers Assn. state convention scheduled to start tomorrow at Bermuda Palms. He pointed out that Marin County has an abundance of scenic and historic points of interest but that they need to be designated with appropriate markers, and that a marked auto route needs to be established for visitors to find the things they want to see here.

Brown addressed the group at length to explain his proposal for conducting a year-around publicity and advertising campaign aimed at attracting more visitors to Marin.

Mrs. Esther Dearth, chairman of the Visitors Bureau, and Pat Dailey, representing Marin County Labor Council, both read letters each had received from Rep. Clement W. Miller, voicing his support for the Drake statue proposal, but expressing doubts that federal financial aid would be forthcoming.

Bureau members will meet again May 25 to decide definitely on a time table for the "Dollars for Drake" fund drive and to reach a decision on the proposals



MARIN SCENIC DRIVE—Members of the Marin Visitors Bureau were urged last night to develop a scenic drive over the county to take visiting tourists to points of interest. Col. Ross F. Black, 6th Army intelligence officer who lives in Terra Linda, suggested the project and brought with him this sketch of a proposed sign for the route. He said points of scenic and historic interest should also be designated with descriptive signs.

KTIM Marks 13th Year, To Move Tower

Marin's radio station KTIM observed its 13th birthday today. And manager Hugh Turner flaunted superstition as he announced that the station's transmitter will be moved on Friday, May 13th.

A telegram from the Federal Communications Commission in Washington confirmed approval of the move of the tower from College of Marin property in Kentfield to the Smith Ranch.

Turner said the move had been requested in an effort to follow the center of population in Marin. He noted that the new locatior. will improve the entire coverage pattern

'Sounding Board' Panel Swamped By Questions

A flood of questions on the proposed fluoridation of Marin Municipal Water District water forced Kitty Oppenheimer, moderator of radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" panel discussion, to close the questions" at the start of the program today.

But after preliminary statements pro and con; the four panelists managed to deal with 15 questions during their remaining half-hour. These ranged from the nature of sodium fluoride to its effect on rats and people.

Marin County's water is naturally fluoridated "but not enough to do the job" of protecting youngsters' teeth," said Mrs. Merril Hanson of the Children's Health Dental Committee in leading off for the two proponents.

She said "the right amount" of fluoridation can decrease tooth decay by two-thirds, a finding she declared to be supported by specialists. Water is a natural medium for fluoride, Mrs. Hanson said, and fluoridation is done most easily through this means.

Explaining that he appeared as an individual doctor rather than as county medical officer, Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy Jr. said "the fluoride to be used is a product which is impure" and "has been known to cause demineralization of the bones in the older age group, with resultant brittleness."

Dr. Dufficy said sodium fluorides are listed as poison, that there is evidence they interfere with enzyme balance and body metbolism, and that embroys have been destroyed by fluorides in experimental animals.

He expressed opposition to being "stampeded into a mass medication program."

Dr. Helen E. MacDonald, former head of the science department of William Woods College, a junior college in Fulton, Mo., declared that "fluoridation violates the fundamental human right to determine what should be done to one's body."

Promoters of fluoridation have imposed "a fluoride curtain" between citizens and the truth," she said, charging "attempts to mislead the public which are not accidental."

Dr. MacDonald declared, "With unfailing certainty, fluoridated water will produce a crop of permanently mottled teeth in every new generation," but said substantiation of benefit claims is lacking.

Forty million people are now drinking fluoridated water with "no evidence of health impairment," said Dr. Michael Franzblau of Terra Linda, and such authorities as the dental and medical societies of Marin County have endorsed its dental benefits.

The local proposal, he said, is simply to increase an already existing percentage of fluoride in Marin water from one-tenth part per million to "the level recommended by the U.S. Public Health Servcice of one part per million."

On the point of personal liberty, Dr. Franzblau said that the U. S. Supreme Court has repeatedly ruled that fluoridation of water supply does not comprise an infringement.

To a questioner who had asked whether sodium fluorides were a "nutrient," Dr. Dufficy responded that they represent "a contaminent, not a neutrient," and Mrs. Hanson said there is no difference between natural and artificial fluoridation.

On cost of fluoridation, Dr. Franzblau quoted Marin Municipal Water District figures estimating 18 cents per individual per year.

Dr. MacDonald suggested the effort is "to get control of the water supply for possible other medication in future."

A tape recorded rebroadcast will be made at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Chamber Gets New Manager In Mill Valley

Granville L. Beedle has been appointed secretary-manager of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce to succeed John E. McSweeney. The appointment will become effective Sunday.

Beedle was named to the position by Don Chapman, president of the chamber, at yesterday's meeting.

McSweeney, Mill Valley postmaster, asked to be relieved of his duties in May and said he will remain as a director. He was secretary to the board for seven years.

Beedle will put in regular office hours on the job, McSweeney said, something of an expansion in the chamber's activities. The chamber plans to try to obtain an office in a part of the Greyhound bus station building, he said.

Beedle, who lives at 25 Renz road, has been active in chamber work in Mill Valley and has had experience in chambers in Sacramento and Los Angeles before coming to Marin.

He is semi-retired, he said. He came to Mill Valley the first time in 1922 and stayed two years. He returned in 1940 and has lived here since that time.

He worked on two weekly newspapers in Mill Valley. During World War II he worked in government offices in San Francisco. While living in Sacramento he was office manager for an automobile company, then wholesale representative, and finally an automobile salesman for several years.

Meeting Canceled

San Rafael Recreation and Park Commission did not meet last night because of a quorum lack. Three out of five commission members could not be present.

Drunk Drivers Get Fines, Probation

Three drunken drivers were fined $150 each and put on six months probation by Judge Leonard A. Thomas in Marin Municipal Court on Tuesday.

James P. Bussey, 54, San Francisco postal worker, was caught on Highway 101 near the Waldo tunnel Monday.

Richard Weir Gledhill, 53, salesman living at 63 Meadow road, Mill Valley, was arrested on Bridgeway in Sausalito on April 17.

Harold Ray Scott, 38, of Thornton, San Joaquin County, was caught in San Rafael at Fourth and B streets last Oct. 23. Scott formerly lived in Sausalito.

Alumni Of Academy Plan Organization

Alumni of San Rafael Military Academy will gather on Sunday at 11 a.m. at the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera to form an alumni association.

A "brunch" with the wives and families of the alumni will precede the organizational meeting. Selection of officers and adoption of bylaws will be the principal business of the meeting. Alumni dating to the class of 1906 are expected. Reservations may still be made by calling the academy.

First pulpwood for a newspaper mill in Catawba, S.C., was bought from nearby Neely's Creek Presbyterian Church. Members of the church harvested the pulpwood in order to enlarge their cemetery.

Delinquency Termed Society's Scapegoat

One of the reasons we have delinquency is that society needs a scapegoat—a group of persons that by comparison helps us maintain a sense of purity.

This was the view expressed last night in a talk before the Marin County Committee on the Prevention of Crime and Delinquency by Dr. Ely M. Bowen of the state Department of Education, Sacramento.

Dr. Bowen, who coordinated a recent department research project in the sphere of early detection of emotionally disturbed children, cautioned his listeners that the views expressed were only his own. He said he hoped that if they were considered controversial, at least they would be stimulating.

According to William Berzman, psychologist for the Kentfield and San Anselmo school districts, who was chairman of the meeting, more than 30 members of the committee were present.

Berzman said Dr. Bowen told a story of a sanity test in a Scandinavian city in which a person is led into a room where water is pouring from a tap into a bucket. The person is given a ladle and instructed to empty the bucket with it. A sane person, Dr. Bowen said, would turn off the faucet first.

He likened this to society's treatment of the delinquency problem. He said, "We are bailing out the bucket without turning off the faucet."

Among reasons for this, he said, is our "unconscious attitude toward the problem." He said people need something with which to compare themselves favorably.

Along this same line of reasoning, he said, it is his feeling that newspaper stories appealing to the greatest number are those that point out failure and defeat.

Dr. Bowen said that children of low academic achievement are the "ones we are always talking of helping, but we never get around to it." This again, he said, gives people satisfaction in that they have something to compare themselves with favorably.

He talked of preventing delinquency at three levels. While it is difficult to define delinquency because it differs only from the accepted standard of behavior, there are steps that can be taken to detect and curb it, he said.

In the first stage, something must be done to shut off the tap, perhaps in slum clearance and bettering the life of the lower socio-economic group. He likened this to the prevention of polio through immunization.

At a second level, psychiatrists could be used to help teachers who have problem children in their classes.

At a third level, organizations such as welfare and family service agencies could be used to help iron out problems.

DISC JOCKEY — Japan now has a royal record-spinner. Princess Suga, 21, who last month became Mrs. Takako Shimazu, has landed a job as a disc jockey. The youngest daughter of Emperor Hirohito, she has a 10-minute program entitled "Princess Time" on the Tokyo outlet of the Nippon Broadcasting Co. (AP Wirephoto)

'Bermuda Day' Slated At Drake High School

"Bermuda Day," an annual event at Sir Francis Drake School, is scheduled this year for May 25.

To raise money for the Senior Ball, the seniors are charging 25 cents to each student who wears Bermuda shorts. All classes are eligible to participate.

Some Still Undecided On Question Of Unification

Actually, the districts are not voted out of existence. There are simply unified. And if the state Legislature wanted to, it could do the same thing, by simply passing a law and never taking the issue to the people.

In order to preserve more local, and therefore more democratic control, the CSSDA says, "Everyone's effort is urgently needed for the basic job improving education in the community." This will take money, time and concern, the CSSDA warns, and adds, "The welfare of our children demands that we keep these responsibilities in our own hands."

The organization calls for cooperative planning "which includes the community, "not master planning with "ignores the community."

It promises to make the concern of its members known to the state Legislature and ask for legislation "to restore the local control abolished by" the law requiring a master plan.

Also the organization says it will provide for its development in various counties, and cooperate with other organizations and agencies "to the extent that they also are interested in helping your local community to help itself."

Dorais says, "The CSSDA against the state Department of Education is awfully short on weight, but who knows—David made it against Goliath."

Not everyone questioned in an Independent-Journal survey is ready to say "yes" or "no" on unification. Here are some comments:

Erwin Farley, Reed district trustee: "If suitable areas are unified, improved educational programs could be provided at no increase in taxes. Increased articulation between educational levels would probably result, too . . . We should not rush into unification and then wind up with too large an ultimate unified district to be practical or necessary."

Anthony Matulich, Tomales High School superintendent and principal: "Unification in general provides the possibilities of advantages to the youngsters . . . (but) without a study of a specific area or district" there could be no decision.

J. R. Cunningham, president of the Larkspur School District board: "As brought out by the county committee on unification last year, this subject is very complex in a widely diversified area such as Marin. I have come to no definite decision."

Many representatives of small school districts favor unification, and have called for studies. One is now under way again for West Marin. Others are against unification, and Mrs. Lois Parks, clerk of the Tomales Elementary School Board, speaks for them, saying, "I feel it is much better for the rural areas to have their own governing boards who understand local problems."

CHAT WITH ROYALTY — Caryl Chessman, scheduled to die in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber Monday, shakes hands with Princess Marie of Greece after she visited with him at the prison yesterday. She is the 78-year-old widow of Prince George of Greece, and the aunt of Philip, prince consort to Queen Elizabeth of England.

Celebrities See Selves Make History

NEW YORK (AP)—"There is more of who's who here tonight than has ever been put together in one place."

The comment came from veteran newsman H. V. Kaltenborn as he surveyed a glittering array of the nation's great, gathered at the Waldorf-Astoria last night for a unique dinner program. They saw the history they themselves made re-created on closed circuit television.

From Dust Bowl to mushroom atomic cloud, from Ethiopia to Korea, the events of the past 25 years were dramatized on a 20-by-15-foot television screen, with accompanying narrative, sound effects and music.

Cabinet members, labor leaders, industrialists, scientists, New Deal officials, Republicans, Democrats were all among the 50 honored guests.

Each received a "Living History of America" award from the Research Institute of America, the sponsoring organization. The institute, a private, industry-supported business advisory organization, is celebrating its own 25th anniversary.

Some 1,500 other guests applauded the celebrities as the television screen and narration showed how each had made history. The photographs were selected from among hundreds of pictures in the files of Life Magazine and the Associated Press.

HER HABIT IS A LITTLE HARD ON BABY BROTHER

SEATTLE (UPI) — Two and one-half year-old Vicky Sullivan has had a habit of throwing things out the window of her parent's second story apartment. Yesterday she pushed her 18-month-old brother out.

The little boy, Richard Hudson, was saved from possible death or serious injury by two passersby, Richard Taylor and David Fitzgerald, Seattle public schools administrative employees.

The men were walking along the street by the apartment building when they heard Richard crying. Looking across the street they saw him about to fall from the second-story window ledge. They rushed across just in time to catch him in mid-air.

Mrs. Ervin Sullivan, 20, the mother, said she wasn't aware what actually had happened until two nervous men appeared at her door with Richard in one of the men's arms.

Vicky had informed her mother, who was in another room at the time, that she had "pushed Ricky out the window."

Klansman Burn Crosses, Demonstrate In Georgia

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Ku Klux Klansmen burned crosses and staged demonstrations in Georgia last night, and a Mississippi Negro leader said he had received "innumerable threats" by mail and telephone.

A group of 15 klansmen burned a 12-foot cross on a vacant lot near the Negro section of Waynesboro, Ga. About 50 klansmen marched in a residential area of Macon, Ga., to protest rental of an apartment building to Negroes.

At Biloxi, Miss., where an effort last Sunday by 100 Negroes to use the segregated public beach touched off two days of scattered fighting, the Negro doctor who led the attempt said his life has been threatened.

Dr. Gilbert Mason said the threats "reinforced" his intent to continue efforts to integrate the beach area.

Rumors that Negroes may attempt again to swim at the beach this coming weekend led the state legislature yesterday to pass a stiff anti-riot bill.

Bank Contest Won By Kentfield Girl

A Kentfield resident, 17-year-old Susan Hodges, won one share of stock worth $25 in the Crocker-Anglo National Bank yesterday after her essay on the importance of government bonds was chosen as the best of those entered by students in her class in the bank's contest.

'Save Chessman' Pleas Pouring In To Brown

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Nearly 200 letters and telegrams concerning Caryl Chessman were received today by Gov. Edmund G. Brown—although the California governor says he is powerless to act again on behalf of the condemned convict-author.

Chessman, 38, is scheduled to die Monday morning in the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison. It is his ninth date with death since he was convicted as the Los Angeles "red light bandit" in 1948.

The governor granted Chessman his eighth reprieve on Feb. 19, just hours before the convicted robber-kidnaper was scheduled to go to his death.

Since then, however, the state Legislature has defeated a move by Brown to have capital punishment abolished in California. Brown says the state Constitution makes it impossible for him to take further action in the Chessman case.

But the letters and telegrams continue to pour into the governor's Sacramento office, where they are handled by Clemency Secretary Cecil Poole.

The overwhelming majority of letters favored clemency for the convict-author who wrote four books in 12 years behind bars.

However, the number of letters has not reached the volume achieved in February. Upward of 1,000 letters and telegrams a day were received then during the final week before Chessman's scheduled execution date in February.

During the past two days, Poole's office counted 438 communications favoring clemency and only 17 against clemency. Of the total, 154 were from foreign nations.

A wire from Uruguay said simply that "the Chamber of Deputies of the East Republic repeat a hope that the death penalty will not be applied."

From New Zealand came a telegram stating that the nation's Labor Party is opposed to capital punishment and would consider the death of Chessman "inhuman."

A Luxembourg woman assured Brown that if he let Chessman live "you will be happy"—but that if Chessman died "you will be sorry one day."

A warning of the adverse effect of Chessman's execution on world relations also was sounded by the Brazil Medical Assn. which said "his death would be a new torpedoing of international relations already so injured . . ."

Hundreds of printed forms came from Mexico. On those the person was to cross out four of five alternatives from the gas chamber to complete liberty for Chessman.

Royal Visitor Impressed By Chessman

Caryl Chessman, under sentence to die Monday, had a visit yesterday with a member of a royal house of Europe.

She is Princess Marie, 78, widow of Prince George of Greece and aunt of Philip, prince consort to Queen Elizabeth of England.

"He is natural, clever, calm—even in Death Row—and he is courageous," Princess Marie told reporters. "I always like courageous people."

Chessman, 38, has been on San Quentin Prison's condemned row almost 12 years, under death sentence for kidnapping with bodily harm and forcing women into unnatural sex acts.

"I told Mr. Chessman for a man to be on Death Row for 12 years, that was enough," Princess Marie said. "If he is executed May 2, there will be an outcry in the whole world—in Europe, in South America—everywhere.

"He was very calm," said the princess, a practicing psychoanalyst and a writer. "I asked him about his dreams. He said he had very little time to dream. He sleeps only five hours, and he sleeps very well.

"He is not the same man who was condemned in 1948. He has changed very much to the good. He is polite, intelligent, and he is not arrogant."

One pair of house mice has about 60 young per year.

Brown Signs Education Master Plan Into Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has signed into law the master plan for higher education, which was drawn up to handle mushrooming enrollments in the next 10 years.

The governor said the master plan was "the most significant step California has ever taken in planning for the education of our youth."

HAFB Helicopters On Alert To Aid Search

Three Hamilton Air Force Base helicopters were standing by today, ready to join an air and sea search for an Air Force radar operator who parachuted from his F101 Voodoo jet into the Pacific Ocean last night.

The plane, on a training mission out of Kingsley Air Force Base at Klamath, Del Norte County, was 50 miles from the coast at an altitude of 35,000 feet when it apparently lost its canopy, a Fourth Air Force spokesman said. The radar observer, whose name was not divulged, left the plane with the canopy.

No reason was given for the loss of the canopy, nor was it determined whether the passenger in the two-seater jet parachuted deliberately or was automatically ejected, the spokesman said.

The pilot, Capt. Coleman J. Baker of the 322nd Fighter Inteceptor Sqdn., returned the plane to his Kingsley base. He was under treatment for shock at the base hospital and was unable to give an account of the incident.

Searching the area for the missing man are two SA16 rescue planes from Portland, Ore.; two SA16's from Long Beach, two F101 jets and two F104 jets from Kingsley AFB and vessels from the 12th Naval district.

Latest reports from the searchers indicated visibility of nine miles, but with waves at least eight feet high.

UNIONS

not move to Marin, they told their union officers. Six per per cent gave no indication.

Questionnaires were mailed to all the non-resident members of the seven unions. Seventeen per cent filled out and returned the questionnaires.

These spend an average of $32.35 per month commuting to work in Marin. But 41 per cent of them would rather keep on paying this commute cost than move here. Forty-four per cent of them own or are buying homes elsewhere, but only 19 per cent gave "permanent home elsewhere" as the reason for not moving to where they work.

They won't move to Marin, they said, because:

Rents, home prices and taxes are too high (50 per cent); food and other costs of living are too high (7½ per cent); schools are not near enough or are inadequate (3 per cent).

Six per cent live in mobile homes and reported inadequate facilities for such homes in Marin. Only one and one-half per cent were minority race members reporting they were refused homes here by real estate agents.

An identical percentage gave high interest cost of new home financing as a reason for staying put, difficulty of transportation to and from work within Marin, no low-cost housing for semi-retired workers, and "better weather elsewhere."

"These figures," commented Cassidy for the Labor Council, "seem to bear out a feeling that has been growing for some years, that it is increasingly difficult for the union member to obtain suitable housing in Marin County. . . . What low-cost housing is available in Marin County is often in what the planners refer to as 'blighted areas.' . . . Many said they could obtain better housing for the same or lower costs in adjoining counties, and often it was Sonoma County that was mentioned."

Twelve per cent of them reported they do no shopping in Marin. A whopping 53 per cent reported they do "practically none." Twelve per cent thought they might do half their shopping here. Only 10 per cent reported they do "practically all" in the county where they work.

Commented the Labor Council:

"Taking a very conservative figure of 2,000 union members living outside Marin County with average takehome pay of $90 per week, it will be seen that close to $200,000 weekly is paid them. If, as the questionnaires indicate, very little of this is spent in Marin County, it will be seen that over $100,000 weekly in wages is going outside the county.

"In view of the efforts being made to persuade suitable industry to locate in Marin and bring additional payrolls here, it is a paradox that five million dollars a year in wages seems to be going outside the county."

Often-heard complaints of builders against Marin's restrictive ordinances got partial concurrence from the Labor Council as contributing to the high cost of homes here.

"The findings seem to pose a question as to whether master planning in Marin County, both on the county and the city level, is making proper provision for moderately priced homes and rental units," said the council's statement.

"Builders tell us that they cannot produce homes and apartments in Marin County for moderate income families because of excessively high land utilization and other planning requirements.

"Organized labor is basically in accord with the objectives of planning. Our members favor reasonable controls to preserve the natural beauty of 'Marvelous Marin' and prevent future slums; but they feel, also, that provision can be made for moderate-cost housing within the precepts of sound community planning."

Larkspur Man Faces Hit-Run, Drunk Counts

Hershal La Dare Smith Jr., 36, of 27 Midway road, Larkspur, was booked at the county jail on charges of drunken and hit-run driving after a spurt of backward driving yesterday in Mill Valley.

Police Officer William Walsh said Smith backed up Lower Alcatraz place yesterday morning, ran over a child's wagon, and stalled his car at the intersection of Bayview avenue. The car blocked Bay View avenue completely, Walsh said.

Walsh found Smith in a Greyhound bus preparing to leave for San Francisco. In his car, the officer found two wine bottles, one with wine in it, and four beer cans.

craft which carried press representatives.

A dozen or so small cruisers bounced along near the Taney as it headed for open water. A woman and a boy in an eight-foot boat with an outboard motor attempted to keep up. The black-hulled sloop Shanty II beat almost directly into the wind to come close alongside.

As the Taney reached the rolling water outside of the Bay, however, the small craft deserted the parade and the three white vessels sped across to San Francisco with Capt. Frank V. Helmer of Strawberry, the Taney's commanding officer, in charge.

The de Gaulle visit was an impressive one. With the exception of the 40 pickets at the airport, who were protesting his Algerian policy, the friendship he found in Marin was evident everywhere he went. The people of the Bay Area lined the streets to cheer him. They crowded into the Palace of the Legion of Honor to receive him. Nearly 4,000 turned out for a dinner to honor him last night. (See story on page 12.)

What they saw was a tall, severe looking man who apparently was aloof from much of what was going on around him. But those who watched closely saw changes in him. One of the major of these was when he put on his glasses.

Apparently the general does not like to be seen with his glasses on. Without them he has a peculiar squint. The president's eyesight was seriously impaired by cataracts which required surgery.

This was evident in the official reception for him in the rotunda of San Francisco's City Hall. Once, he reached into his pocket and put on his glasses. The faraway look on his face vanished immediately as he was able to see the four stories of people rising up around him, the blue-and-white clad children ranged up the stairway behind him, and men women and children in multi-colored costumes who flanked him on either side.

He was deeply touched, apparently, by the reception there. When it was over he mounted the stairs to congratulate the nun who led the singers and to shake hands with some of the boys and girls.

In all of his speeches, he spoke without prepared text (to the dismay of the press, many of whom couldn't understand French). At each of them, he exhibited a friendliness which belied many stories told about his austerness.

Charges Against Airmen Reduced

Two Hamilton Air Force Base airmen, accused of threatening employees of a San Francisco restaurant with a meat cleaver last month, face charges of battery instead of felonious assault.

A/1c Lawrence L. Dow and A/2c Eugene W. Bell are scheduled to appear in San Francisco Municipal Court at 10 a.m. next Wednesday on the misdemeanor battery charge. The original charge of felony assault was reduced yesterday to battery.

The airmen, members of the 78th Fighter Group, were arrested on March 31 after an altercation at Universal Restaurant on Grant avenue in San Francisco. The proprietor told police the airmen threatened his employees with a meat cleaver.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — France and the United States stand together in wanting all people to determine their own destiny, Gen. Charles de Gaulle declared last night.

This goal of the common ideals of the two nations amounts to political realism in the modern world, said the visiting president of France in his address to a glittering banquet audience of 4,000 in civic auditorium.

The dinner capped a day started with a parade and welcome called the greatest San Francisco ever has given a foreign chief of state.

De Gaulle, tall and austere leader of France in crisis, showed frank emotion. He stood two hours in the parade's slow progress through crowds that surged closely around his open car in the Montgomery street financial district.

Police Chief Tom Cahill estimated the sidewalk throngs along the route at 250,000. He said it was the greatest crowd he had seen in San Francisco in his 30-year career.

The emotional peak of the day came at a reception by San Francisco's French colony at the Palace of the Legion of Honor.

At the civic dinner he rose to speak after Mayor George Christopher had likened him to America's Abraham Lincoln—"tall not only in stature, but tall in intellect, tall in performance and tall in dedication to his country's ideals."

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, in a tribute to de Gaulle, said:

"The strong and durable democracies are distinguishable because at the moment of supreme trial they produce great men to lead them.

"Twice France has needed and found you."

Tamalpais Valley Fire Board Elects

The commissioners began discussions of the 1960-61 budget. They also received information from Fire Chief Herbert (Bud) Owen that the new radio network is operating in the trucks from the base station at the firehouse.

Bums To Hurl Series Hero Sherry Vs. Giants Tonight

LOS ANGELES — It'll be either Jack Sanford or Billy O'Dell hurling for the San Francisco Giants against Los Angeles Dodger World Series hero Larry Sherry tonight as the two pennant contenders open a three-game stand in spacious Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Sanford, who broke even with the world champions last season, is fresh after a five-hit, 18-2, win over the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field last Saturday. He's 1-0 for the season. O'Dell's 1960 record is 0-2.

Sherry so far has one win against two defeats.

The Giants are in second place, one game behind Pittsburgh, which tangles with Philadelphia tonight, and one game ahead of the Dodgers.

San Francisco comes to town with three wins and two losses on its current road trip after splitting with St. Louis and gaining the best of Chicago by one game.

The Dodgers yesterday turned back the Cubs, 9-4, at Chicago.

Regular Giant third baseman Jim Davenport, who suffered a severe contusion of the right shoulder when hit by a pitched ball at St. Louis Tuesday, will be replaced by utility infielder Joe Amalfitano. Joe banged out a double and single after substituting for the injured Davenport in Tuesday's game.

And Willie McCovey, although batting only .200, suddenly appears to have erupted from his spring-long slump and now has three doubles, four home runs and 13 rbi's to his credit.

First string catcher Hobie Landrith, injured during spring training, is given an outside chance of appearing in his first regular game of the season during the southland visit. But it's doubtful southpaw Johnny Antonelli will see service. His pitching arm still is tight from muscle spasms suffered at the start of the season.

Los Angeles made it two straight over the Cubs yesterday as Roger Craig pitched a four-hitter. He eased up in the ninth and the Cubs pushed over three runs. Craig now has six straight wins. He won his last five games in 1959. He fanned six and walked three yesterday.

Craig was bypassed by Manager Walt Alston during the first two weeks, although he was one of the clutch performers in the Dodgers' final drive to the pennant last season.

The Dodgers got 10 hits off Dick Drott and Don Elston. Wally Moon had three of them, including a triple, and Gil Hodges drove in three runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Pitchers, Not Hitters, Win Flags And Giants Will See Best Of 'Em

(John Connolly is on vacation. His sports associate, Ed Randol, is conducting The Bullpen during his absence)

CONNOLLY

"Them as has, gits!" So goes the old saying. In baseball, them as has gits the best pitchers thrown at 'em.

This fact, more than any other, explains why such clubs as the San Francisco Giants, Los Angeles Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves do not make a runaway of the National League pennant race.

Whenever possible, teams like the St. Louis Cards and Philadelphia Phillies will throw their ace flingers at the top trio and then muddle along with what is left when playing the "middle" clubs. As a result the cellar dwellers often turn out to be spoilers for the pennant aspirations of a couple of the top contenders.

By the same token, the power clubs tend to kill each other off, and the result is a chase that usually goes right down to the wire. This is good for baseball, for the fans, and for the pocketbooks of the owners, so everybody gains and nobody loses, and what's so wrong about that?

THIS HAS been the pattern in the National League for many, many years. Over in that other league, the New York Yankees so dominated the scene for so many years that it was almost a shock last year when the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians battled right down to the wire.

This all points up the general truism that "pitchers, not hitters, win pennants." Sure enough the sluggers get the cheers and the big salaries and the defensive stars who get the fielding raves. But day in and day out, the team with the best pitching staff is the one that is going to be there or thereabouts when October rolls around.

LAST YEAR the Giants had it until Jack Sanford was hit on the hand and sidelined for a month. The rest of the staff tried to take up the slack, but they just didn't have it and wore themselves so thin that our stalwarts faded to third place.

Milwaukee also took a run at the flag and ended with a tie for first with the Dodgers. With a glaring weakness at second base and the failure of Wes Covington to come through in the outfield, the burden of winning fell upon Warren Spahn and Lew-lew Burdette. Pressure told the story, and the Braves lost two straight in the playoff.

Those Dodgers played it like a race horse that is given a perfect ride., They laid off the pace and let everyone take their shots at the Giants and Braves and then swept it all with a great come-through performance of guys like Don Drysdale, Roger Craig and Larry Sherry.

HISTORY is repeating itself already this season. The best shots are being taken at the aforementioned trio, and while this is going on the Pittsburgh Pirates have reared their ugly heads into first place. Through the side door, as it were.

But things could be different this year for the Giants. Barring injury, they have the pitchers to match the rest of the league man for man and still have men left over for the late innings. Things would be a lot more comfortable if Johnny Antonelli were back on the firing line. It is hard to lose a 19-game winner and not be badly hurt, but the Giants have done very well so far, and may do better when all elements of the team are functioning well at one time.

Facing the Dodgers in the L. A. Coliseum tonight will be a tough assignment, as the "Bums" are red hot and the Giants are a little shook up. Should the Giants manage to pull out two of the three games, Sunday's rest should give them an all out shot at the Braves when Candlestick reopens next week.

LOOK WHO'S ON OUR TEAM

Don Blasingame, second baseman for the San Francisco Giants, discusses a few terms with his future manager, Sara Ann Cooper, after they announced their engagement this week. Strong Arm Of The Law Has Reformed Pirates; 6 In Row!

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Go no further than Vern Law's 1.00 earned run average and Bob Skinner's .390 batting average if you're looking for reasons why the Pittsburgh Pirates look like the "Comeback Kids" of 1960.

One of the biggest disappointments of 1959, the Pirates lead the National League by one game today and their six-game winning streak equals the best they put together all last season. In fact, it is only one game short of the longest streak any N.L. team achieved last season.

And there's no doubt that Law, a 30-year old 200-pound right-hander, and Skinner, a gangling 190-pound outfielder, have been the key reasons for the turnabout.

Law turned in his third straight complete-game victory of the season and Skinner drove in two runs with a 2-for-2 performance last night when the Pirates shaded the Philadelphia Phillies, 3-2, to go one full game ahead of the idle San Francisco Giants.

In 27 innings this season, Law has yielded only 21 hits and three walks while striking out 11 batters. He posted an 18-9 record last season and looks this year like he could be a 20-game winner. Skinner, meanwhile, has collected 16 hits in 41 tries and knocked in 15 runs to establish himself as one of the league's most dangerous hitters.

The Milwaukee Braves swept a two-game series from their favorite cousins when they whipped the Cincinnati Reds, 8-5, and the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Chicago Cubs, 9-4, in the other N.L. games. In the American League, the Kansas City Athletics dealt the Detroit Tigers a second straight loss, 3-1, the Washington Senators defeated the New York Yankees, 5-4, and the Baltimore Orioles scored an 8-3 win over the Boston Red Sox.

Hank Aaron drove in two runs with a homer and three singles and also contributed a spectacular rally-killing catch in the outfield to pace the Braves' triumph. Carlton Willey received credit for the win, but not before Lew Burdette made his third relief appearance of the season. Burdette allowed only one hit over the last three innings. Joe Adcock and Lee Maye shared in the Braves' attack with two hits each and Vada Pinson had three for the Reds.

Tiburon League To Open May 7

Tiburon Peninsula Little League's opening game will be Saturday, May 7 at 10 a.m. on Judge Field in Tiburon, League President William J. Carroll said.

Last year's winning team, the Falcons, managed by James Murphy, will play the Seals, managed by Elmer Rieger. Informal opening day ceremonies are planned.

One hundred and seventy-five boys have signed up and two new minor league teams have been added to the roster.

Elliott-Burleson Duel In Modesto?

MODESTO (AP)—Herb Elliott of Australia, holder of the world mile record at 3:54.5, is scheduled to compete in the California Relays here May 28.

Meet director Tom Moore said today he hopes to have Dyrol Burleson of the University of Oregon in the mile event against Elliott. Burleson posted a 3:58.6 last Saturday against Stanford.

Elliott, scheduled to arrive in San Francisco May 11, is also slated for the Los Angeles Coliseum Relays May 20 and the Compton Invitational June 3.

Tennis Court Site To Be Ross Topic

Ross Town Council will meet tonight to discuss a possible site for two tennis courts.

Suggested as a site is the Ross Common park, east of the elementary school. The courts would be constructed with funds raised by a citizen committee headed by Sanford Paganucci.

He told the council at a previous meeting that the group could raise the approximately $10,000 needed for construction. The only cost to the city would be for maintenance of the two courts.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the town hall.

FOUR YEAR PROBATION

Indiana Shocked By NCAA Penalty

ATLANTA (AP)—Members of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Council headed home today after slapping Indiana University with one of the stiffest penalties on record—four years probation for six recruiting violations.

"It's a terrible blow," said University President Herman B. Wells at Bloomington, Ind.

The punishment means Indiana is ineligible for NCAA championship competition, cannot make post-season appearances such as bowl games and cannot appear on televised sports program of the NCAA.

The Council, NCAA policy-making body, charged that an $800 bonus and monthly payments of $50 to $75 were offered a Virginia football player by an Indiana alumnus working with an assistant coach.

Another athlete was recruited by a telephone caller using a fictitious name who offered up to $100 as a bonus and free transportation, it was charged.

NCAA rules permit a maximum of $15 a month for incidental expenses plus tuition, room, board and books to be offered a prospective athlete.

Free vacations, clothing and cash were offered in other cases, all involving football players, the council said, and an assistant coach was charged with using an alias in at least two recruiting efforts. He was later dismissed, the Council said.

The Indiana case was the only one acted on by the Council. The members voted against looking into complaints of dirty play in the Cotton Bowl game between Texas University and Syracuse.

There was no move to lift any previous probations.

Elise Dillon To Instruct Swimming At Golf Club

Marin Golf Club has announced appointment of Elise Dillon of San Rafael as swim director for the 1960 season.

She will assume full-time duties May 10, instructing in all phases of swimming, from beginners through advanced.

Mrs. Dillon has been teaching swimming in Marin County for the past two summers. Prior to that she was swim director for three years at the Bahama Shores Beach Club in St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Marin Golf Club's new instructor was a feature performer in Billy Rose's Aquacade and understudied the star, Eleanor Holm, former Olympic Games champion.

She said her program at Marin will include competitive meets, water ballet and synchronized swimming. Last Sunday her water ballet team of Kathy Shelley, Sally Boss and Sally McCallum performed for the membership.

Mrs. Apostoli Defeated In State Tourney

Mrs. Alleen Weissmuller of Hollywood was scheduled to meet San Francisco school teacher Sheila Moss in the other semi-final match. The 36-hole championship round will be played tomorrow.

Mrs. Williams rallied yesterday to score a 1-up victory over Mrs. Irvin Knight of Glendora in the quarter-finals. It was a see-saw match until the 16th hole on the soggy California Country Club course when Mrs. Williams went ahead to stay with a par.

Mrs. Patch trounced Mrs. Fred Apostoli of Fairfax, 5-4, and Miss Moss sank a 15-foot putt on the final hole to turn back Joan Weeks of Modesto, 1-up.

Mrs. Weissmuller, the only southern California golfer to make the semi-finals, scored a 1-up victory over Mrs. Henry Miller of Los Angeles—one of the tournament favorites.

Track Meet Cancelled

Cal's Crow Joins Raiders

Quarterback Wayne Crow, forsaking his college letter for cold lucre, joined the Oakland Raiders professional football team today although he had been eligible to play one more season at California.

The 22-year-old kid brother of the New York Giants' Lindon Crow indicated after he signed yesterday that playing college football was getting just too expensive.

"My decision to play professional football was not an easy one to make," Crow said. "Only because of growing family responsibilities do I find it necessary to take advantage of a professional opportunity."

Crow, married and the father of a seven-months-old boy, was the number eight draft selection of the Chicago Cardinals in 1959. He also had been California Coach Marv Levy's choice to operate as a halfback this coming season. But both the Oakland football team and Levy stressed that there had been nothing underhanded in the way Crow, who stands six feet and weighs 198, had joined the Raiders.

"The management of the Oakland team has acted in a most ethical manner in this situation," Levy declared in one of several prepared statements which followed the announcement. "They have made every effort to counsel Wayne to finish his education. Furthermore, we appreciate the wonderful manner in which the Oakland Raiders have co-operated with the university in this matter."

A club spokesman said that Crow could not have been approached unless his original class were graduating this spring. He entered California in 1956 as a member of the Class of '60, but stayed out one year because of low grades. He is a speech major and Oakland General Manager Y. Charles (Chet) Soda said that he hopes Crow will finish up his education at California.

"I have it in our contract with Crow that part payment of his monies to be realized will go directly toward furtherance of his education at the university," Soda declared.

Last season, which saw the Bears lose nine of 11 games, Crow completed 26 out of 67 passes for 379 yards gained scored three times and passed for two touchdowns in a 20-17 upset of Stanford.

Ex-Baylor Stars Sign With Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two ex-teammates at Baylor University have signed contracts with the Los Angeles Rams for the 1960 pro football season.

They are tackle Paul Dickson and quarterback Buddy Humphrey. Dickson signed for 1960; Humphrey for 1960 and 1961. The Rams have two other Baylor alumni, end Del Shofner and tackle Charlie Bradshaw.

Kayoed Fighter Greatly Improved

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Leroy Sayles, the Berkeley middleweight who was knocked into a coma Monday, was reported greatly improved today by Dr. Don Lastretto, State Athletic Commission physician.

"Sayles was fully conscious and able to talk clearly to me," the doctor said. "He probably will be released from St. Luke's Hospital in a week."

Lakers Hope To Strike It Rich In Cal

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Minneapolis Lakers, who couldn't draw flies to their games in recent years, hope to strike it rich again in California.

The board of governors of the National Basketball Association yesterday approved by a unanimous vote the transfer of the Lakers' franchise to Los Angeles "if a satisfactory schedule can be drawn" for the 1960-61 season.

The owners will meet again in New York May 9 and May 16 to wrestle with a new coast-to-coast schedule. Following those two meetings, the league is expected to officially approve the Los Angeles franchise.

Both Robert Short, president of the Lakers, and NBA prexy Maurice Podoloff are confident that a suitable schedule will be worked out and approved at next month's meetings.

HOME COURT

Short flew to Los Angeles earlier this week and sewed up the new Memorial Sports Arena as the next home base for his team. He also was given some dates for games in the Los Angeles State College gymnasium.

The Lakers' president then caught an overnight flight to New York and made a personal plea to the owners yesterday, presenting them with more than 70 dates from which 36 Los Angeles home games can be selected for next season.

One of the biggest problems facing other NBA teams in this western movement is the transportation cost. However, Short has offered to pay part of these expenses, which he estimates will cost approximately $78,000 a season.

HEE, HAW! CRAZY BASKETBALL

Crazy action, like above, will take place "in the flesh" tomorrow night when donkey basketball programs will be presented at Sir Francis Drake and Redwood high schools. Players actually ride donkeys up and down the court and their efforts to stay on the animals sometimes lead to riotous flops. At Drake High at 7 o'clock Drake High students will oppose Redwood High students and at 8 o'clock it will be the San Anselmo Lions Club vs. San Anselmo Rotary. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. At Redwood, starting at 7:30, the game will be between the school's faculty and lettermen. General admission is 50 cents.

Strong Support For Venturi In Las Vegas Golf

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—While Arnold Palmer remains the gamblers' 5-1 choice to win the $42,400 Tournament of Champions, heavy play has backed Ken Venturi down to a 6-1 co-second choice with Gene Littler.

The event will be held May 5-8 at the Desert Inn Country Club.

Prep Baseballers On KTIM Tomorow

The Marin County Athletic League game will start at 4 p.m. with Sports Director Ted Mitchell handling the play-by-play.

Two other MCAL games are on tap tomorrow. Novato battles Drake in San Anselmo, 4 o'clock, and Tam meets San Rafael at Albert Field at 6 p.m.

New South Korea Regime Formed

Mass Suicide Pact By Rhee Aide's Family Stuns Nation

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)—Acting President Huh Chung formed a new caretaker government today to wipe out the fraud and corruption of the Rhee regime in a nation shocked by the mass suicide of Vice President-elect Lee Ki-Poong and his family.

Huh, known as a man of deep honesty, called on the new cabinet "to wipe out illegalities, irregularities, corruption and confusion deeply accumulated" by the administration of Syngman Rhee which ended in near disgrace after a wave of violence.

KANG SUK
He fired fatal shots

Huh spoke of the "evil practices and irregularities" of the past and called in six independents to help him forge a government that would bring democracy to South Korea, guard against Communism and end a system of police terror.

Appointment of the new cabinet has one major and immediate effect: It restores the flow of U.S. economic aid, halted temporarily because Korea had no reconstruction minister. U.S. military aid had not been interrupted.

Lee, who assumed "final responsibility" for the recent bloodshed and rioting in South Korea, died with his entire family at dawn in a mass suicide pact. The executioner was 2nd Lt. Kang Suk's, Lee's elder son whom Rhee adopted.

The family gathered in a secretary's apartment at the presidential mansion to die together. At 5:55 a.m. Kang opened fire. He killed his father, his mother, Maria, and his younger brother, Kang Wook, with one bullet each from his .45 caliber army automatic, then turned the pistol on himself. He fired one bullet into his abdomen and one into his brain.

Today's events meant the end of the Korea of Syngman Rhee, but his final ignominy was put off. The National Assembly which was to have met and accepted his resignation—probably unanimously—postponed the meeting until tomorrow because of the Lee tragedy.

Rhee left the presidential palace today for what may have been the last time and rode through wildly cheering crowds to his own house to begin life as a private citizen. Within an hour he and a group of soldiers were out pruning the shrubbery.

Huh today filled the posts of ministers of finance, education, reconstruction, commerce and industry, health and social affairs and transportation. He left unfilled the posts of agriculture, communications and minister of defense.

Huh promised "to reform all systems, circumstances and conditions of the state in close coordination with the legislature and the judiciary so that current explosive public sentiment will turn to the patriotic volition for construction."

Huh warned of Communist danger and asked the people to show "the great spirit of leniency" because the past "evil practices and irregularities are partly due to a faulty political system and its mismanagement."

"The cabinet reaffirms that our people are firmly determined to accept nothing less than a genuinely free and sound democratic system," he said.

The death of the Lees was expected to provide a tragic last act to South Korea's "student revolution" which forced Rhee to resign and terminated Lee's political career. The revolt grew from charges that Lee's election to the vice presidency last March 15 was rigged.

Peace was returning to the country under the acting presidency of Huh. Only scattered incidents of anti-government activity were reported today, none resulting in bloodshed.

The family sat together on a small couch to face the end. On Lee's lap lay copies of Tuesday's newspaper, reporting demands for Rhee's resignation and denouncing Lee himself.

It was Lee's disputed victory over John M. Chang, leader of the opposition Democratic Party, in the March 15 vice presidential election that set off the storm that has swept Korea for the past six weeks.

When police opened fire on demonstrators protesting the elections, they set off a wave of violence that brought death to at least 162 Koreans and wounded nearly 1,000.

The cabinet resigned, and numerous other officials including the South Korean ambassador to Washington followed suit.

3 Indicted In Teamster Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department announced today that three persons have been indicted on charges of obstructing a Senate rackets committee investigation of the Teamsters Union. One of those indicted was Sally T. Hucks, a former chief telephone operator at the plush Woodner Apartment Hotel where Teamster president James R. Hoffa maintains a suite.

The others were Joseph M. Williamson, an Urbana, Ill., attorney, and Moss Herman, a New York member of the Teamsters Union.

The three were charged with destroying records of telephone calls to and from Hoffa's suite which had been subpenaed by the Senate committee.

Solon Blocks Hearings On Diabetic Drug

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) blocked Senate investigators from continuing their controversial hearings today on the possible dangers of a new diabetric drug.

Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told a crowded hearing room that Dirksen formally objected to the Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly Subcommittee meeting while the Senate was in session. Kefauver recessed the hearings until Tuesday.

FOREIGN AID BILL

He said Dirksen, a subcommittee member, apparently made the move because President Eisenhower's foreign aid bill was coming up for debate on the Senate floor.

Under Senate rules, committees cannot meet while the Senate is in session without unanimous consent.

The Senate GOP leader previously had denounced the investigation as being "completely unfair and unobjective" to the drug companies.

SAYS IT'S SAFE

The drug involved in this week's hearings is "Diabinese" or chlorpromide which is made exclusively in the United States by the New York firm of Charles Pfizer and Co.

Pfizer spokesmen say it is entirely safe for diabetics if used properly.

MONITORS ACCUSED

Lawyer Contends Hoffa 'Framed'

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa's lawyer today accused court-appointed monitors of trying to frame Hoffa to get him tossed out of the Teamsters' Union presidency and take over control of the union themselves.

"This is a big prize," attorney Jacob Kossman told U. S. Dist. Judge Joseph R. Jackson. "This union has assets of over 600 million dollars and 1,600,000 members. A fabulous fortune awaits anyone who can take over."

Kossman opened argument on a motion to block trial of a civil case aimed at Hoffa's ouster from the Teamsters' helm. The case is based on charges that Hoffa misused union funds for private business ventures.

One of the charges is based on the deposit of $400,000 of Detroit Teamsters' funds in an Orlando, Fla., bank with the subsequent loan of an equal sum to finance a Florida real estate development. Hoffa had an option on the land.

Kossman said the Teamsters Union is prepared to show that the monitors told the Florida bank it did not have to release the Teamsters funds when Hoffa later tried to get the money withdrawn. Hoffa has disposed of his option.

New Quake Strikes Ruined Iran City, Kills Five More

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A new heavy earthquake today struck the ruined city of Lar, adding five more deaths to the 360 persons known to have perished in Sunday's quakes, the Iranian Red Cross said.

Three of the victims were caught while searching the ruins of the southern city for bodies of missing relatives and for personal effects.

The Red Cross said two others were walking in the street when the earthquake sent shaky mudbrick walls crashing down on them.

San Rafael Club To Hear News Analyst On May 3

"Africa Speaks," is the subject Dr. Tom Lantos, globe traveler and interpreter of world developments, has chosen for his address at the meeting of San Rafael Improvement Club on Tuesday, May 3.

Dr. Lantos has the unique combination of outstanding professional training and fascinating personal background, making him a stimulating analyst of world affairs. Born in Budapest, he was in the forefront of anti-Communist political activity in Hungary in the early post-war period. After leaving his native country he went to France and then came to this country. Rainbow Ladies, AOPi's Say 'Wing Your Way To Summer'

There's a swoosh to the bright new fashions that is distinctly jet-propelled.

And now's the time to buy them to be ready to "Wing Your Way to Summer."

Proving it on Tuesday as they co-piloted the popular Fashion Focus luncheon at Rickey's were the Rainbow Ladies of Ross Hospital and the Marin Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority who promenaded in a bevy of beautiful clothes gathered by Barbara McClure to fly high for months to come.

Flying high month for the Rainbow Ladies will be May when the new wing at Ross Hospital will be officially opened. On May 15, the Rainbow Ladies have planned a "hospital tour" to show the public the wonderful facilities in the new wing including surgery, laboratories and hospital rooms with interesting and informative demonstrations planned as a special highlight.

Tuesday's promenade was not only fashionable and fun but fruitful, pointing up the importance of the Endowed Bed Fund started a year ago by the Rainbow Ladies at Ross Hospital and adopted by the Alpha O's as one of their special endeavors. On behalf of the sorority, Mrs. Harold DePue, presented Dr. John Siemens of the Ross Hospital board of trustees with a check (the result of a recent Alpha O fund-raising bridge party) which will boost the Endowed Bed Fund.

JET-PROPELLED

"Mad Mornings," perfect for sleek striped Bermudas by Jack Winter, the olive, gold and beige green cotton shirt and Mrs. William Healy Jr. of the Rainbow Ladies to show it.

"Pool Partners," Mrs. Clyde Curley, an Alpha O, and Rose Marie Reid's "Chevron," hard to beat in white sparked with red and green, and a saucy beach bag repeating the swimsuit scheme.

"Debonair Denims," on deck blue and white stripped denim clam diggers by Fleishmann, and a cord tied hip-hugging pullover, easy on the eye and the upkeep, to be coordinated with matching shorts and skirt; Mrs. Robert Evans of the Rainbow Ladies to show it becomingly.

IN GOLD SILK

"Dinner Favorites," Mrs. George Herrero of the Alpha O's and Mr. Gee's pure spun gold silk classic; simple styling, matching tie belt and wide sleeves adding new notes for any dinner.

"Dance Delight," pretty gray and white cotton batiste feminine and flattering with a three tiered skirt and eyelet embroidery designed by Arkay; Mrs. W. C. Anderson of the Alpha O's the accent touch.

"Gentlemen's Choice," Mrs. David Cederquist in Dorothy O'Hara's pencil slim silk sheath splashed with blue and green roses on white.

Next Thursday, Fashion Focus writes "Memos to a Modern Mother" to honor the St. Raphael's Mothers Guild with spring-into-summer fashions by a San Rafael shop. Reservations for Fashion Focus are open to the public and may be made by Calling Rickey's.

Strawberry P-TA Pays Tribute To Mrs. Rose H. Verrall Of Tiburon

The Strawberry Point Parent-Teacher Assn. paid tribute Monday night to Mrs. Rose H. Verrall, the Tiburon peninsula's beloved "goat lady" by awarding her a life membership in the California Congress of Parent Teacher Associations.

Making the presentation was Dr. David Steinhardt, who with his wife has served as co-vice president of the group this year. Mrs. William Clark who has shared the office of president with her husband, presented Mrs. Verrall with the membership pin.

Dr. Steinhardt credited Mrs. Verrall with making it possible for the children to visit and observe wildlife on the property in Richardson Bay which she deeded to the Marin Conservation League in 1957. He recalled the period when a developer threatened to fill in the tidelands and construct homes. Sparked by Mrs. Verrall's generous donation of the land, money was forthcoming from many sources, such as the City of Belvedere, the Highway Department and the County. The sum of $15,000 was raised through individual donations. As a result most of the tidelands were purchased and are now designated as a wildlife sanctuary.

Dr. Steinhardt described how the Victorian mansion of Dr. Benjamin Lyford, early settler on Strawberry Point, was moved to the Verrall property where it has been restored and redecorated and is now headquarters for the Marin Conservation League and the Marin Audubon Society.

"As a result of her gift," he said, "the property remains physically undisturbed. We will always be in Mrs. Verrall's debt. I hope I will be able to do half as much to leave my mark on the sands of time."

At the business meeting officers for the next year were elected. Dr. Clark was reelected president. Serving with him will be Mrs. Steinhardt, reelected vice president; Miss Elizabeth Edson, second vice president; Mrs. Alfred Goldberg, secretary, and Ralph Cole, treasurer.

Rankin-Doll Wedding Held In Mill Valley

Determined to be married in her home town, Marilyn Ann Doll and her fiance, Lt. Col. John A. Rankin, arrived in Mill Valley from Germany on Saturday, April 16, were married at the Mill Valley Methodist Church on Tuesday and flew back to Germany last Thursday.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doll of Mill Valley, is a fifth grade teacher in the U. S. Army Dependents' School in Kirchgons near Frankfort. Before that she taught fifth grade from 1957 to 1959 at Reed School in Marin County.

She is a graduate of Tamalpais High School, attended the College of Marin, and was graduated from San Francisco State College. Her husband was graduated from Wilmington College in Ohio before entering service with the U. S. Army. His home was in Midland, Ohio.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar decorated with white flowers in an 8 o'clock candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. Edgar Nelson. About 35 relatives and intimate friends were present.

When she was given in marriage in the double ring rites by her father, Marilyn was wearing a street length white lace sheath having a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. A coronet of pearls held her shoulder length veil, and she carried an arrangement of two white orchids.

Her only sister, Susan Doll, a junior at San Jose State College, was her maid of honor. She wore a pink brocade sheath with keyhole neckline and short sleeves, and her headdress was a pink taffeta bandeau with circula veil. She carried a ballerina bouquet of pink carnations and roses.

Best man was Capt. Lowell Aitken, son of the Arden Aitkens of Mill Valley, who happened to be at home from Fulda, Germany, which is not far from where the newly married pair will live in Kirchgons. He served with the bridegroom as a paratrooper in Korea.

Mrs. Doll attended her daughter's wedding in a honey beige dress, brown hat and white accessories and wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The two tiered wedding cake was decorated on top with miniature bride and bridegroom. In charge of the guestbook was Mrs. Thomas Miller of San Rafael, the former Gloria Brown.

For her going away outfit the new Mrs. Rankin chose a medium blue tailored wool suit and completed her costume with white hat and gloves and black patent purse and shoes.

Attending the wedding from Alameda were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brown, who were married in a double wedding with the bride's parents.

Marin-Ettes Install At Dinner Meeting

A pot luck dinner at the home of Mrs. George Ketron of Sleepy Hollow preceded the installation Monday night of officers of the Marin-ettes, the Marin Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. Entertainment afterward was provided by quartets from the chapter and the SPEBSQSA (men's barbershop society).

Outgoing president Mrs. Hugo Odetto installed the new officers, who are Mesdames Earl E. Robertson of Mill Valley, president; George Ketron of Sleepy Hollow, vice president; Karl Wolff of San Anselmo, secretary, and Frank Sutliffe of Belveron Gardens, treasurer.

Taking office at the same time were committee chairmen appointed by Mrs. Robertson. They are Mesdames Stephen Carrick of Fairfax, hospitality; Charles Crowell of Strawberry, ways and means; John D. Harding, of Mill Valley, program; J. R. Ingram of San Rafael, council representative and parliamentarian; Evelyn Kirchner of Fairfax, publicity; Hugo Odetto of Sleepy Hollow, refreshments; Walter Price of San Rafael, music; Carl Wolff and Frank Sutliffe, membership; Mrs. Ketron, historian; and Miss Mary Brown of Mill Valley, telephone.

The Marin-Ettes meet every Monday evening at the Adeline Kent School in Kentfield to practice chorus singing in barbershop style under the direction of Stephen Carrick of the local SPEB chapter.

A group will attend the regional quarterly meeting in San Jose next weekend and meet the executive secretary of the organization, Miss Nancy Bergman. Following the meeting the annual regional singing contest will be held.

Bride-Elect Honor Guest At Lunch

A bridal shower and luncheon were given at Sabella's on Saturday for Miss Patsy Juda by Mrs. Bernard Baum of San Rafael.

Miss Juda, whose home is in Los Angeles, is a student at the Berkeley campus of the University of California. She and Arnold Palmer of San Rafael will be wed in August. Though the bridegroom-to-be is now in New York on business, the young couple will reside in Marin.

The luncheon table was decorated with a miniature bridal couple standing inside a large, white open-silhouette heart surrounded by white snapdragons. Miss Juda had a corsage of orchids.

Guests included the bridegroom-to-be's mother Mrs. Charles Pincus, Miss Marilyn Baum, Mrs. Harry Friedman and Mrs. Helene Waterman of San Rafael, also Mesdames James Kraus, Al Gilbert, Bernard Noodleman, Edith Barnett, Bertha Baum, Dora Juda and Edward Leitner of San Francisco.

To Visit Here

Mr. and Mrs. Y. D. Stewart of St. Louis will arrive Saturday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cherry of Larkspur. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will depart on Sunday for Sacramento, where Mr. Stewart has accepted a position with the Children's Home Society of California.

Plan To Elect State School Board Gets A New Chance

It seems proper that during Public Schools Week we should discuss a matter which is basic to the whole school program throughout the state of California, the organization of the State Department of Education and the State Board of Education.

Just this month an unpublicized action was taken by State Senator Hugh M. Burns, chairman of the Senate Rules Committee. He referred to the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Education "for your consideration and study, should you see fit," a bill which Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy introduced in the 1959 legislative session.

The bill was Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 4. It revised the method of selecting members of the State Board of Education, making them elective, rather than appointive. It also would make the state superintendent of public instruction appointive, rather than elective.

An attempt was made a few years ago to make the state superintendent appointive. This was soundly defeated at the polls by an electorate strenuously objecting to the trend toward elimination of elective offices.

But McCarthy's plan requires more, not fewer, elective offices. He proposes to set up six districts of which four, those including the largest population areas, would have two board members, and the other two districts, the smaller population counties, would have just one. They would have four year terms.

Under present law the voters get a chance to vote for a superintendent of schools only once every four years in a statewide election. This means it is extremely difficult and expensive for any candidate to oppose the incumbent, who, by the nature of his job, has a built-in base of operations in every school office in the state. Not in 80 years or so has the electorate ever voted in anyone but an incumbent.

Under McCarthy's plan, about 90 per cent of the voters would ballot on one or the other of their board members every two years and the candidates would not have to campaign over the whole state, merely in their own districts.

Such a plan certainly would bring the state schools' policies back much closer to the people who pay the bills. It may not be perfect. In fact we'd prefer if every voter in the state voting on one state school official at every general election, perhaps a plan with two board members from each district. But McCarthy's plan certainly is a step in the right direction.

We hope that Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, chairman of the Senate Fact Finding Committee on Education, does "see fit" to study and consider the proposal.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Like To Hear Fluoride Debate

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The old cliche about the squeaking wheel getting the most oil seems apt in describing the supervisors' reaction to the many demands made by the fluoridation promoters regarding the fluoridation forum.

Many of us who would like to hear both sides of the issue are disappointed that there is now not to be a forum.

I-J Did Disservice In Printing Letter

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I noted with some surprise, not unmixed with righteous outrage, the letter that recently appeared in this space over the signature of Harold W. Hobbs of Hill Haven. Although I am aware that controversial letters are considered beneficial to newspaper circulation, I submit that the publication of this collection of vaporings actually constitutes a disservice to your readers.

I will not, at this time, attempt to bore your readers with a point-by-point refutation of the implications and charges raised in this diatribe. It can easily be shown that facts have been distorted or manufactured out of whole cloth. The only apparent motive was to employ the old theory that if you throw enough mud, some of it will stick.

I particularly resent the attempt to single out the one commissioner whose brother serves as a volunteer fireman and smear him with the implication that he is furthering a "fraternal dynasty." I have had my disagreements with Commissioner Fred Mantgani but the charge he and his brother, George, are attempting to create a dynasty in the Tiburon Fire District contains no more fact than the rest of the letter.

I am somewhat surprised that the Independent-Journal would see fit to print such mewlings.

Some Questions On School Bonds

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Before I can consider voting on another big bond issue for high schools, I should like explanations for seeming extravagances.

Why was $44,000 (according to the Independent) spent for a lighting system for Kentfield playing field? It was erected to replace an existing lighting system which was removed.

Are teachers being paid up to twice the salaries paid in other sections of the country?

Answers to these may act as a guide to my voting. I find few voters and abstainers who know anything of the details involved in some elections.

What Motels Equal One Dairy?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Twenty years ago when my daughters were infants, it was the custom to ignore their frantic hunger screams, watching the minute hand of the clock until, according to the book, it was time for them to be hungry. Sounds remote and barbarous, doesn't it? At that time it was the accepted, literate way. No one of my college-trained contemporaries dared to flout the book.

About the same time, reputable economists used to cite irrefutable proof that the population of the United States would be on the decline by 1960.

I revive these two embalmed sacred cows for a reason.

For the past two years I have been following the arguments for and against the Pt. Reyes National Park. Proponents for the park present many persuasive claims to allay the fears of residents of the peninsula who dread to see their way of life disturbed.

Although it all sounded good and read well, I have been held back from joining forces with these dedicated and sincere people by a persistent little warning bell in the back of my mind. I kept recalling the persuasiveness of the 1930 books on baby care. . . .

The recent park hearing provided me with the explanation of that little bell.

The state was made that although one-sixth of our dairy industry would have to be sacrificed for the park, tax revenue from motels and filling-stations would make up for this loss. This nullifies the argument that creation of the park would enable us to preserve the character of our beautiful country.

Allow me a prediction: In keeping with the "democratic" belief that the majority is right even when it's wrong, the park will be created. Dairy ranchers will be forced out of a way of life which now supports two — and in some cases, three generations of the same family. Gradually the quiet-living people will retreat, and within a few years the verdant beauty of Sir Francis Drake highway will be reduced to the dreary homogeneity of neon light and gas pumps. A last little outpost of quiet will be gone.

Well, if our way of life is doomed, I think I'll throw in my lot (no pun intended) with the subdivider. Quite possible he'll turn out to be a man of taste and sensibility who may glimpse an honest, straightforward commercial advantage in preserving the quality of this incomparable place.

At least when he says "subdivision" it won't be a fancy euphemism for "expropriation"!

THREE MINUTES A DAY

CRIME SCRAPBOOK PATTERN

While searching the home of a young man accused of possessing and selling narcotics, police found a crime scrapbook, filled with clippings about the adventures of youth gangs.

For a long period of time, he had collected stories glorifying crime and marked them with gold stars. The items dated back to 1946 when the suspect was only 9 years old.

The misguided youth awarded 2 gold stars to a story headlined: "Thugs Run Wild in Gang Feud."

Little did he realize that each clipping was helping to prepare him for a life of crime.

The words and deeds of others, especially those which show imagination and enterprise, play a considerable part in shaping the lives of children for better or for worse.

Help direct the God-given imagination and talents of youth into creative channels and you will attract them to good and away from evil.

"A young man according to his way, even when he is old he will not depart from it." (Proverbs 22:6)

Inspire youth, O Holy Spirit, to do good and avoid evil.

The scientists may invent atom bombs and moon rockets, and the statesmen crapshoot for the world at summit meetings. Rebellions may arise and earthquakes come and go. Your average man is more likely to remember the day they came out with a new kind of beer bottle cap.

The big glories and big disasters find a page in human history. But it is the small glory, the little disaster, that writes the history of the individual human heart.

Our memory—which is our life—is a summary of unforgettable personal moments which had no impact on the world at large but which changed us forever. Add these moments up and what do you have? Yourself.

One man's mental album, for example, might contain such landmark moments as:

Stubbing your toe as a barefoot child and reaching the philosophic conclusion, in the midst of excruciating pain, that you could not be physically immortal, or you would not hurt so.

Staring at yourself in the mirror as a small boy until your mind reeled at the mystery, "Who am I? What am I?"

The thrill of pride when you finally learned to whistle through your front teeth. Later, after you got your upper plate, you had the problem of learning how not to whistle.

The thrill of pride when you saved up enough money to buy your first pair of long pants and felt at last you were a man.

The thrill, 40 years later, when you put on your first pair of Bermuda shorts, of feeling almost like a boy again.

The pleasant discovery, the day your Boy Scout outfit arrived, that the girls really do go for a guy in uniform.

The later discovery that while women enjoy being put on a pedestal before marriage, after marriage they'd rather sit down, take their shoes off, and rest their feet.

THE DAY YOU FIRST noticed your mother was getting gray hair, and the day the barber confided your own hair was getting a bit thin on the top.

Going to the funeral of a loved one and knowing death at last had broken the magic of a closed family circle.

Turning the key in the front door of the first home you and your friendly neighborhood banker ever owned together.

REALIZING FOR THE first time that instead of going up stairs two at a time, you now paused and looked around for an escalator.

And what are the landmark moments in your own mental album that make you what you are?

20 YEARS AGO

Marin County's jail has been found "not fit for human habitation" through inspections by Dr. W. M. Dickie, state health officer, Milton P. Duffy, state food inspector, and others. Action to remedy things is promised by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Electrically charged fences were reported to be discouraging cattle from straying off the Righetti Brothers ranch near Tomales. They were also being used to keep the cows from breaking in with the chickens.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

Bob Smyth, Other China Hands Were Never Consulted At Home

The death last Sunday of Robert Lacy Smyth of San Rafael gave forceful reminder that Marin County in particular, and the Pacific Coast generally, provide pleasant homes for more American overseas experts than the rest of the world put together.

Few indeed of these people are in Washington, D. C., or in any way helping in the formation of implementation of our foreign policies during a clearly crucial period.

ON THE WHOLE, that suits the veterans very well. They have had it. Only with deep reluctance would most of them return to a foreign field which had its pleasures and often its luxuries, but which on balance was a taxing experience leaving one drained. And they have tired of offering unwanted advice.

That suits Washington too. The last thing our government desires is any help from the people who were there; odd but true.

So far as I know Bob Smyth, who qualified as one of our really top experts on China, never did any lamenting on this point. Indeed he might have differed with me in his customary forceful way.

HIS OWN LONG career was overloaded with hard work, and he suffered the punishment of terrible illness at the end. No doubt Smyth, for one, gave all he could and would perhaps have been unable to answer further call. Yet certainly there were at least some months after his retirement in 1955 when advice from him might still have been possible and useful.

In other cases, many trained veterans especially of the Far East scene are pretty much withering on the vine, and a shocking waste. That is my own view, evidently not that of Washington, for I know of few overtures of constructive sort to any of these people.

But there is nothing at all surprising in this. It has never been American policy to look for much advice even from Americans right on the spot in the foreign field.

THIS MAY SEEM pretty funny coming from me. As editor of Shanghai's only American daily paper, I put out carloads of advice through the 1930s and into 1941, resuming this in late 1945 to keep talking in print till June 15, 1949, three weeks after the Communists overwhelmed us.

Moreover, I was a director of the board of the Shanghai American Chamber of Commerce through that whole postwar period. We sent many telegrams and letters of counsel both to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and to the government through the American consulate general. All hit the wastebasket.

NOBODY AS a rule asked for such advice from any of us. Whether they asked or not, never did anybody ever seem to heed it. The same, it has to be added, seemed true of our various able consuls-general such as Bob Smyth, and our ambassador in Nanking.

Mother back in Washington always seemed to know best. Anybody in the field who got too obstreperous in thinking he knew better was promptly called Red.

Many of the best in our foreign service got the axe as "pro-Communist" for reporting, accurately, that the Communists were gaining.

So we grew accustomed to being thought biased, involved in our own interests, not up to the minute or downright unpatriotic in the view of the home-fronters. When we returned we all had our brains pretty thoroughly picked by the FBI and even more super-secret interrogators who really had security down to a fine art; not even their bosses seemed to know what we'd said.

A very few found jobs in some way tied in with the field of foreign policy but seldom in outfits of any consequence such as the State Department.

ONE OF THE top onetime China businessmen can give you a fine lot of avacados if you drop by his home on La Habra Heights. The man from whom I bought fluid necessities of life in Shanghai now lives down the hill from me in Mill Valley and spends his time shooting birds in season.

Missionaries are all over, trying to be useful on the home front. A perfect plague of returned newsmen still hunt for news, seldom bearing on what we ought to know most about.

But if we're in Marin we're lucky, we know it, and we're not kicking.

FARMS COLLECTIVIZED

East Germans Crowd West's Refugee Camps

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

The barracks-like dormitories of the Marienfelde refugee camp in the American sector of West Berlin bulged this last week with the infirm, the aged, the young and the very young refugees from the latest surge of Communist brutality.

There have been many examples of such in the past — the Red Chinese commues, jamming millions into state-run cooperatives, for one; Stalin's action condemning millions of restive Ukrainians to starvation, for another.

AND ALONGSIDE these must come the campaign of the last few weeks which in one savage sweep completed the collectivization of every farm in East Germany.

From April 15 to April 19, more than 5,000 East German farmers fled their former lands and reached the haven of Marienfelde refugee center.

Statistics fail to tell the story.

The church and the ruggedly individual peasant with his intense love of the land have provided two of the greatest stumbling blocks to the communization of Eastern Europe.

Now, in East Germany, at least, the farmer no longer need be considered a factor.

Another tells of hours under siege in his barred cottage while communist teams on 24-hour shifts outside blare through loudspeakers demands that he sign away his lands to the collective.

Suicides were commonplace.

EXCEPT FOR ONE important factor, the timing would be without reason. The planting season is at hand, and the men who should be tilling the land now are the ones who are fleeing.

In another season it will reflect in the food these lands failed to produce.

But for East German strongman Walter Ulbricht there was one overriding consideration. It was the plum he could hand Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on the eve of the four-power summit meeting.

WITH THIS, Khrushchev could point to an East Germany whose economy at last was totally divorced from the West. Independent labor unions had been replaced by state unions. Private farming had vanished and now the last of the small businessmen soon would vanish, too.

Khrushchev has said the Soviet Union never would permit the East German Communist state to be abolished.

San Rafael Cafe To Change Hands Effective Monday

New owners will take over the Manana restaurant at 1025 C street, San Rafael, Monday, with the new name, Ramona's.

Mrs. Viola A. Loobey, former owner, will turn over the restaurant to Mrs. Ramona Stallings of San Francisco, and Herman Snider of Los Angeles. Snider plans to move to Marin.

The new Ramona's will continue to specialize in Mexican food. Mrs. Stallings will use her 20-year experience in the restaurant business to supervise cooking of such specialties as huevos rancheros and enchiladas rancheros.

Mrs. Stallings has been a hostess at the Sinaloa and operator of the Blue Book in San Francisco.

Planners To Eye Maps Of Three Tracts

The Marin County Planning Commission will consider three tentative maps for subdivisions at its meeting Monday at 10 a.m. at the county office building, 1711 Grand avenue, San Rafael.

All the proposed subdivisions would be for single-family residences.

Builders of the Tara Hill tract are requesting permission to construct three streets which would not conform to county road, curb and sidewalk standards.

Street grades at Tara Hill and Millwood would not exceed 17 per cent; grades at Katlas would not exceed five per cent.

The Almonte Sanitary District board has authorized extension of the sewer to serve additional property on Harvard avenue.

He said the sanitary district cannot lawfully give service to people outside the district. In certain cases, he said, annexation proceedings may be pending but not completed.

Today is Thursday, April 28, the 118th day of the year, with 247 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1758, James Monroe, the fifth President of the United States, was born in Westmoreland County, Va.

In 1788 Maryland became the seventh state in the Union.

In 1789, mutiny broke out on the British ship Bounty and as a result Capt. William Bligh and 18 sailors were set adrift in a launch. They rowed more than 3,600 miles to Timor.

In 1878, Lionel Barrymore, American actor, was born.

In 1945, Italian patriots executed Benito Mussolini.

In 1952, a treaty signed by the United States and 47 other nations with Japan went into effect.

A thought for today: President James Monroe said: "National honor is national property of the highest value."

There Are Too Many Myths About Retarded Children Floating Around

Is there a retarded child in your neighborhood? A boy or girl whose mind is developing slowly? Then I'm writing to you today.

It is time to explode some myths about mentally retarded children.

Myth 1. "It's a disgrace to have a retarded child in your home." Don't you believe it! Many retarded boys and girls are victims of birth injury or disease. You could have a retarded child in your family, too. It is certainly no disgrace.

Myth 2. "All retarded children should be confined in institutions." That is wrong too. About 30 retarded children are born in every 1,000 births. At least 25 of them can be educated at school. Special classes should be provided for them. But they can learn. Probably only one in the 30 is so retarded that he needs nursing care in a hospital.

Myth 3. "Retarded children have criminal tendencies." That is cruelly wrong. If they are abused and mistreated the more aggressive retarded children may become delinquent. So will mistreated children of normal or superior ability. But if they're given love, acceptance and an appropriate education they'll be good citizens.

Myth 4. "Retarded children can't learn to support themselves." Wrong again! I checked on the first 20 children who had attended a special class for retarded pupils in a large school system. Fifteen years later every boy had a job. All the girls were married, or had jobs. They were getting along well. Only our most seriously retarded children can't learn to support themselves. Retarded boys and girls don't become captains of industry. But they are faithful workers. They hold down hundreds of regular jobs.

STOPPED OFF ON WAY TO CAPISTRANO

YUBA CITY (UPI)—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blaser complained yesterday that the rumpus room in their home is for the birds.

Saturday night, about 200 swallows came tumbling down the chimney into the fireplace—and they've been diving down every night since.

Mrs. Blaser said the speedy birds make the nightly visit even when there's a small fire burning in the fireplace. She said they fly away every morning.

The Blasers think they have a way of discouraging the visitors. They plan to close the damper tonight.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

RUGGED RAILROAD—Diesels pull 64-car SDAE-T&T train through Carriso Gorge, on the road that skeptics said couldn't be built.

FRIENDLY GREETERS—Through the Mexican portion of the SDAE-T&T, children run and shout after the train as it passes through villages.

'Couldn't Be Built' Route Flourishing

Formally known as the San Diego and Arizona Eastern-Tijuana and Tecate, it's the road which skeptics said could never be built.

It took 12 years of hard, dangerous labor, but 41 years later the SDAE-T&T is still flourishing on a tortuous route between California and Mexico. (It never did get as far as the "Arizona Eastern" planned in its original name.)

GOLD SPIKE

A gold spike was pounded into place by builder John D. Spreckles on Dec. 1, 1919, marking completion of the road's 147 miles of desert and canyon country track.

The railway starts at San Diego, runs south to Tijuana, Mexico, swings east to Tecate and re-enters the United States through a tunnel at Lindero.

Cars thunder along one tremendous wooden trestle that rises 200 feet above its lowest foundation. The train leaves its apparent course in mid-air to plunge through 17 tunnels, two of them a half mile long.

RIDE CABOOSE

A freight road in California known as the SDAE, the line adds passengers on its route south of the border and becomes the T&T. They ride the caboose, sitting around a potbelly stove enroute.

All through the Mexican portion of its run, children chase and shout after the train as it rumbles through villages while men and women pause to wave at the engineer.

The railroad, part of the parent Southern Pacific system, operates two trains a day, carrying a hodgepodge of freight—pipe for Houston, olive barrels to Tijuana, canned goods for El Paso, barley for the Tecate brewery.

In 1958 the railroad grossed three million dollars.

Novato Board Starts Paring School Budget

The budget committee of the Novato Unified School District yesterday began "paring down" the first draft of the 1960-61 district budget with expectations the final budget will be ready for the trustees' approval by the middle of May.

Serving on the committee are chairman Eugene De Brecht, district business manager; Robert McKeay, Novato High School principal; Robert Patterson, Hill School principal; Charles Laveroni, Olive School principal; Ralph Giovanniello, district curriculum coordinator; and John Weston, high school instructor. Supt. William J. J. Smith is an ex-officio member.

At their regular meeting Tuesday night, trustees of the district were told by two members of the joint salary study committee, Leo Mindling and James Cuzner, that prospects for raising teacher pay scales were "very dim" unless additional funds become available.

Of an expected $117,000 in additional income for the 1960-61 fiscal year, all but $2,000 will go toward additional teachers and normal salary raises under the present pay scale, they said.

Smith said additional income was possible through several sources, including an increase in assessed valuation or through a possible underestimation of cash balance.

Included among additional manpower needs for next year were teachers, more hours of speech therapy, counseling services and teacher aides, Smith said.

"Some of the additional manpower could be accomplished through internal reorganization," he added.

The trustees formally authorized sale of $83,000 of school bonds to bring the district to its capacity of bonded indebtedness in order to qualify for state aid. The bonds were approved by the voters in an election in 1956.

Smith said a survey on housing now under way by the University of California is expected to be completed next week.

Smith said he intended using some of the UC survey figures in a talk tonight before the general membership of the Novato Chamber of Commerce at the high school cafeteria. Smith is scheduled to speak at the dinner meeting on population projection of the new city in relation to its schools.

The trustees, at a May 17 meeting, will hear a review of the district language arts program by members of the staff.

In other action, the board:

1. Set for May 3 a special meeting to consider purchase of property adjoining the high school site. The property, if purchased from Pomoway Corp., would be the site of a future elementary school.
2. Heard a progress report on the summer school program and was told that classes were being set up in response to a recent questionnaire returned by parents and students.
3. Officially approved tenure for 22 teachers and one district-level employee.
4. Was told by Trustee George Jennings, reporting from a recent meeting of the Marin County Committee in School District Organization, that the boundaries between San Jose and Novato districts adjoining Lynwood School would not be changed at this time.
5. Announced that the district policy manuel would probably be ready for adoption in its final form at the next regular board meeting, May 10.
6. Approved hiring a two-man team from the California Personnel Board to interview the district's non-teaching employees, including secretaries, bus drivers and janitors, to arrive at job classifications as an aid in setting new salary schedules.
7. Approved formation of a committee to study ways of naming new schools.

Use Of Hospital In March Highest In Its History

Marin General Hospital had the highest occupancy in its history in March, Marin County Hospital District trustees learned Tuesday night.

The previous high was in March, 1958. Last month the average daily census was 99.9. There were 156 babies born.

In March, 138 patients were admitted from South Marin, 164 from Ross Valley, 184 from San Rafael, 20 from Central Marin, 10 from Coastal Marin, 52 from north Marin and 24 from out of county.

Herman Hale was appointed to head the personnel committee again, and Charles Rowe was appointed to that committee.

S. Ames Pence, hospital administrator, and Mrs. Marion Ibach, board secretary, were absent, attending the Assn. of Western Hospitals conference in Los Angeles.

The board will hold an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. May 9.

Series Of School Measures, Other Bills Signed By Brown

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown yesterday signed into law an emergency measure to enable local school districts to finance fire safety alterations.

The new law permits school districts to raise their maximum tax rates for the next two fiscal years by not more than 2 per cent to pay for alterations certified by the state fire marshal and the state Department of Education.

The Assemblymen who authored the bill, Don Mulford (R-Oakland) and William Byron Rumford (D-Berkeley), said the measure was needed to repair two Berkeley schools termed unsafe by the fire marshal.

The governor also placed his signature on bills which:

"Permit foreign exchange students to attend Caliofrnia state colleges without the payment of admission and tuition fees (Assemblymen Clark L. Bradley (R-San Jose) and Bruce F. Allen (R-Los Gatos).

Exempt electrically driven motorcycles, tricycles and carts from payment of the $10 extra registration fee on electrically driven motor vehicles (Assemblyman Lee M. Backstrand (R-Riverside).

Given sanction in state law for the payment of fines for overtime parking by mail (Assemblyman Chet Wolfrum (R-Los Angeles).

Authorize additional state school building aid to school districts where site costs exceed the original apportionment and where the normal two-year period for an increase has expired (Sen. John A. Murdy Jr. (R-Santa Ana).

Tryouts For Shows

Tryouts for actors, singers and dancers for two musicals—Cole Porter's "Anything Goes" and Leroy Anderson's "Goldilocks"—will be held Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Gate Playhouse in Sausalito.

Road Realignment Plans Approved

Prints and preliminary realignment of 1.4 miles of the San Geronimo-Nicasio road near the projected Nicasio reservoir of Marin Municipal Water District were presented to the Marin County Board of Supervisors Tuesday by Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham, and promptly approved.

The work is to be done by contract under county supervision at cost estimated at $317,800, of which $100,000 will be provided by the county and the rest by the water district. The county share will come out of federal aid secondary road funds, Brigham said.

FIREMEN CAN'T FIND FIRE, IT'S IN FIREHOUSE

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The fires started like hundreds of others. The siren mechanism tripped and the piercing alarm brought out volunteers in the Kendale subdivision.

There was some delay in locating the blaze. Minutes passed. Nobody knew where the fire was.

Finally, flames became visible. But the 3rd District Volunteer Department firehouse and its only fire truck —an ancient Model A Ford— already were beyond help.

Bolinas Harbor Board To Hold Budget Meet

Bolinas Harbor District commissioners will take up the preliminary budget at their meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Bolinas Community Center.

A report will also be made by John A. Blume and Associates, San Francisco engineers, on a feasibility survey of the Bolinas Lagoon.

Blueberries Lose Out

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Authorities at Camp Drum, a National Guard training area, have made a hard choice: Loss of blueberries to get rid of mosquitoes.

The "mosquitoes or blueberries" decision was prompted by a plan to spray the camp area with an insecticide which makes the acres of wild blueberries unfit for human consumption.
